Canadian Dollar Falls; Exchange Slips

Ottawa Shipping $1,000,000 Gold To Stiffen Funds

Discount Rate Rises as High as 1¾ Per Cent on Canadian Exchange in New York; Department of Finance at Ottawa Silent and Banks Hesitate to Make Any Statement; Wheat Situation Held Partly to Blame

New York, Sept. 18 (By Canadian Press). — The Canadian dollar had sunk to the lowest level of the day and the lowest level in several years as banks closed to-day. At 3 o'clock the discount rate was quoted at 11-16, one-half a cent lower than this morning's opening notation.

New York, Sept. 18 (By Canadian Press). — The Canadian dollar to-day fell sharply on local exchanges and the discount rate at noon stood at 1½ per cent discount. Shortly after noon the discount rate rose to ¾ per cent.

Local banks with Canadian connections were somewhat loath to commit themselves in ascribing a reason for the fall in the price of Canadian funds, though in some circles it was laid to low prices which Canadian farmers are getting for wheat.

GOLD SHIPMENT

New York bankers took cognizance of reports from Ottawa yesterday evening that a Canadian bank shortly would ship a consignment of $1,000,000 in gold to a New York connection, but said they were unadvised locally of such a shipment.

SEASONAL INFLUENCES

Canadian Press

New York, Sept. 18.—Canadian dollar was slightly weaker as banks opened to-day. The rate of discount was quoted at 1 3-16 of 1 per cent, as against 1 3-32 at closing time yesterday.

Officials of the Bank of Montreal in New York said they could ascribe no reason to the drop in the value of Canadian funds on local exchanges. In other quarters the condition of the dollar was described as due to seasonal influences.

Reports from Ottawa that $1,000,000 in gold would be shipped by a Canadian bank to New York failed to have the anticipated firming influence.

The drop in the value of the Canadian dollar in United States currency has been almost continuous for a week. The only gains recorded during the movement were on Saturday, when the discount rate was quoted at ⅞ of 1 per cent, as against 15-16 the previous day; and on Monday, when the rate was quoted at ¾ of 1 per cent.

On Tuesday the rate was back at ⅞ and the following day it rose to 1 per cent, putting the value of the dollar at the lowest ebb since February, 1930.

MONEY CRISIS MAY BE SERIOUS TO VICTORIANS

Partial Embargo on Export of British Funds May Become Total

Managers of foreign exchange departments in banks here to-day expressed concern over the swing in quotations on British and Canadian funds following newspaper dispatches and cable reports received from London, that the City (London financial centre) is now facing a partial embargo on the export of British funds from Britain, and the possibility of total embargo if the country goes off the gold standard.

A sudden soaring to as high as 1¾ per cent in the discount on Canadian funds for exchange in United States money was the immediate result here of the international exchange crisis.

Many persons in British Columbia, whose income is solely or partly derived from English pensions or other English sources, will be affected if there is an embargo on the export of British funds, the bankers explained.

They said this would place such persons in the same position as a number of persons here at present who have incomes from Australia, but have not been able to get any money from there in months because of the embargo there.

The drop in the Canadian dollar to-day was said to be partly in sympathy with the London situation and partly English and foreign holders of Canadian securities were cashing in on them and transferring the money home.

The exchange developments to-day were accompanied by the bottoms falling out of the United States and Canadian stock markets, with the averages breaking more than six points a share to record new low prices. Commodity prices were also carried down all along the line.

Quebec House To Meet Nov. 3

Quebec, Sept. 18.—Quebec Legislative Assembly, members of which were elected on August 24 last, will meet November 3, it was announced to-day.

The session, a special one, was called, it was understood, to consider the unemployment situation in this province and other pressing matters.

The regular annual session of the Quebec Legislative Assembly will meet on November 3, it was announced today by Premier L. A. Taschereau, following a cabinet meeting.

The Premier made it clear the session was not a "special" one, but was the regular gathering of the members with the affairs of the province.

Cyclists Also Must Obey All Traffic Rules

Police Will Take Action Against Riders Without Lights, Chief Heatley Warns; Must Observe Arterial Highway Stop Signs.

Police Chief Thomas Heatley this morning issued a last warning to cyclists regarding enforcement of traffic rules.

"We have had too many complaints about bicycle-riders travelling at nights without lights and it has got to stop. Drastic measures have been instituted against motorists who fail to obey the regulations and bicyclists will come in for similar treatment if this practice does not stop," the chief said.

At present traffic officers were merely giving warnings to offenders as is nature, but they would be taken to court in future, the chief said.

Not only do many bicyclists fail to have lights, but their machines are also without reflectors at the rear, and they fail to observe arterial highway rules, he continued.

This is not only unsafe for the bicyclists themselves, but creates an added menace for automobile drivers," the chief said. "The practice of many cyclists in carrying electric torches, and they flash when they see a policeman, also must stop. Lights should be attached to the machine itself and be burning all the time."

Royal Commission Likely To Investigate Railways

Ottawa Dispatch Indicates Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty Will Be Included on Board; Amalgamation of Two Systems Not Likely; Situation Serious, Says Minister of Railways; Early Announcement Expected

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Appointment of a royal commission, possibly with Sir Henry Thornton, chairman of the Canadian National Railways, and E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railways, as members, to investigate the railway situation in Canada appears probable. At the moment, it is learned, the matter is under consideration, and an early announcement would not be surprising.

Amalgamation of the two systems does not appear likely from present indications. The attitude towards railway conditions, it is understood, is rather towards elimination of duplication, co-operative effort between the systems in the solution of railway problems and other steps along the lines of economy as affecting the railways.

SERIOUS, SAYS MANION

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 18. — The railway situation in Canada is very serious, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, said to-day when asked to comment on rumors of more active co-operation between the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Further than this the minister declined to go. He said the Canadian National will fall considerably short of earning its interest due the public and the earnings of the Canadian Pacific are also a cause of concern.

PACIFIC TRADE COUNCIL TOLD SILVER STATUS

U.S. Senator Key Pittman Outlines Views to Stabilize White Metal

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 18—The eighth annual Pacific Foreign Trade Council Convention was today to attack the silver question and hear an address by Senator Key Pittman, Nevada, on that subject.

Pittman has steadily maintained the rebuilding of silver as a monetary unit would mean the development of immense trade between nations of the Pacific, and will discuss ways and means of handling this situation.

The low levels to which the white metal has shrunk, he pointed out, in comparison with the gold standard, has hampered those countries using a silver standard in their trade relations with gold standard countries, the problem not affecting the Pacific alone, but the entire world as well.

Senator W. H. King of Utah and representatives of Japan and Mexico, as well as Pacific Coast foreign trade interests, painted a picture of discouraging business conditions in silver countries and the disastrous effect of the fall of silver on American export trade to the Orient and to Mexico.

Senator Pittman said the Chinese "have practically ceased to buy our fruits, flour, lumber, meats, automobiles and other manufactured products." He went on to say that China is buying from the United States and other gold standard countries only necessities. The same, he said, is largely true in all countries using silver money.

The Nevadan pleaded for an international silver conference and asked the convention to support the project.

"Restoration of silver," the senator continued, "appears to be possible only through an international conference of governments. The demand for this apparently is stronger in the British Empire than in the United States. Such a conference could speedily solve the problem of raising and stabilizing silver. Without this stabilization our Pacific Coast trade with the Orient will rapidly die out."

GOVERNMENT DECIDES ON RELIEF AID

Municipalities Must Pay All Material and 25 Per Cent Labor Costs

Delegation Will Seek Better Terms For Needy B.C. Cities

The British Columbia Government has reached a decision on the proportion of cost it will contribute to municipalities for work undertaken for the relief of unemployment, Premier Tolmie said yesterday. Ratification of the Dominion Government is now awaited before the municipalities can be definitely informed and agreements completed.

In the meantime Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, has appealed to municipalities to help speed up relief work programmes by placing their plans before the British Colum-

Inquiry Into Naval Unrest Starts Monday

London, Sept. 18. — Naval port commanders at the principal fleet bases in Great Britain will begin hearings Monday into the pay cut grievances among the enlisted personnel which caused postponement of the North Sea manoeuvres.

The fleet has left Invergordon, and the vessels will put into Portsmouth, Devonport and Chatham. Commanding officers will testify and it is likely that some of the men themselves will be asked to present their side.

GRAF STARTS SECOND TRIP TO BRAZIL

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 18—The Graf Zeppelin, Leviathan of the Transatlantic Airways, left early to-day for Pernambuco on her second non-stop cruise to South America within three weeks.

She was sighted over Lyons, France, about four hours later, heading for Sainte Marie de Lamer. She was carrying ten passengers, 265 pounds of mail and 2,000 pounds of provisions.

Capt. Ernest Lehman was in command, pinch-hitting for Dr. Hugo Eckener, who was attending a conference at Innsbruck.

JOHN ARBUTHNOT, PROMINENT COAL OPERATOR, DEAD

John Arbuthnot, former Mayor of Winnipeg, who had been a resident of Victoria for a number of years, died yesterday in hospital on the Mainland.

He was 70 years of age.

Since coming to Victoria he had been prominent in business circles being head of one of the coal mining companies up the Island and a large holder of timber.

For a number of years he occupied the large Arbuthnot home on Rockland Avenue, just west of Government House. Lately, he and his wife took over the home of Major Audain, 550 Foul Bay Road.

The funeral will be held in Victoria.

CALGARY TO POLL ON CITY MANAGER

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 18.—Citizens of Calgary will journey to the polls on October 21 to decide on the city manager form of government. For some time the city fathers have been discussing the appointment of a city manager and last night it was finally decided to hold a special plebiscite on the question.

BLERIOT OFFERS HIGH SPEED CUP

WORLD'S FINANCIAL CRISIS IS DISCUSSED AT GENEVA

Geneva, Sept. 18.—The financial committee of the League of Nations reported to the assembly to-day that the world's financial crisis is unprecedented and may well become gradually or suddenly more and more widespread."

This warning of a group of eminent financial experts was made the basis for an appeal for a larger appropriation to meet additional financial emergencies which may arise in the League this year and in 1932.

Sir Arthur Salter, British delegate who for ten years has been director of the League's economic organizations, also emphasized the urgency of the financial crisis. The financial problem was the most important in international life, he said.

UNEQUAL TREATIES

Tariff systems and particularly unequal treaties, he charged are chiefly responsible for the present fiscal troubles of the world.

The doctrine of free trade is not discredited by the fact that the world has grown steadily worse economically, he declared. "The medicine was good, but the sick world did not take it." "The exceptional gravity of the situation now warrants making available sufficient credits for work during the rest of 1931," the finance committee report said, "and a very considerable sum should be placed at the disposal of the council in 1932 for unforseen contingencies in the financial field."

The committee now is engaged in studying programmes for the financial rehabilitation of Austria and Hungary; but its report stated that it would be able "to advise other countries only if more credits are made available."

Forbes Will Continue As Leader and Will Be Aided By Coates of Reform Party

New Co-operative Government, Composed of Ten Cabinet Ministers, Taking Immediate Action to Stabilize Southern Dominion's Finance; Two Parties, With Support of Independents, Will Give National Government an Overwhelming Majority in Parliament; Labor Demands an Election

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 18.—New Zealand has decided to follow the lead of Great Britain and form a national government, Premier G. W. Forbes announced in Parliament to-day.

The Cabinet will be reorganized with ten members drawn equally from the government and reform parties. Mr. Forbes will continue as Premier and J. G. Coates, Reform Party leader, will lead the House of Representatives.

The co-operative government will take immediate action to stabilize the Dominion's finance.

The Laborites, who have nineteen seats in a House of eighty members, are strongly objecting to postponement of the general election that had been scheduled for next month and are lining up into an independent opposition.

BIG MAJORITY IN HOUSE

The United Party, headed by Prime Minister G. W. Forbes, has twenty-nine members in the House. The Reform Party, led by former Prime Minister J. G. Coates, has twenty-eight members. The two parties, with the support of four Independents, are effecting a temporary coalition which will give the National Government an overwhelming majority in the House.

May Fly To Seattle By Way of Nome

Moyle and Allen Plan to Continue Flight From Siberian Island

Radio Message Says They Will Leave Saturday and Arrive September 22

St. Paul Island, Bering Sea, Sept. 18. — Radio messages received here from the Russian steamer Buriat said Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, transpacific fliers, planned to hop for Nome, Alaska, to-day, from Miano Pilgino, small village southwest of Cape Navarin, where they were set ashore after being found Wednesday by a Russian ship.

The message said the fliers would go from Nome to Seattle, possibly in two hops, but did not say where the intermediate stop would be. It was believed this would place them in Seattle about September 22, the date Moyle set for his arrival in a message to Miss Frances Bresson, his fiancee, at Riverside, Calif.

The advices said the monoplane was taken to Miano Pilgino, Siberia, by the Buriat, at the same time the fliers were set ashore there.

STORY OF MISHAP

Tokio, Sept. 18.—First details of what happened to Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California flyers who were found on a Siberian island this week nine days after they had taken off from Japan on a projected non-stop transpacific flight, were published today by the newspaper Asahi.

EXPECT RECORD ENROLMENT AT LOCAL COLLEGE

Big Classes Already Registered For Opening of Institution on Monday

Late registrations for courses at Victoria College, which will open on Monday morning, are expected to swell the total enrolment to over 265, the largest in the history of the institution, it was announced by Prof. Walter H. Gage, registrar, this morning. Already 255 students have registered, seventy in the freshman year and 185 in the sophomore class.

The number to date is as high as the total in 1930.

Several forms have been sent to students who have expressed their desire to attend the school. These are expected to be filled out and returned during the first day or two of the winter term.

Although fees have been increased at the University of British Columbia by approximately $25, they will remain the same at Victoria College, it was stated.

BIG FREIGHTER FLOATS AFTER NIGHT AGROUND

Divers Making Survey To-day; Loaded With Russian Salmon For England

After being aground all night on mud and rock bottom off Maple Point, between Denman Island and Vancouver Island, about 145 miles north of Victoria, the Blue Funnel freighter Machaon came off this morning at 11.30 o'clock and proceeded to Union Bay, where she anchored about a quarter of a mile offshore. She grounded shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday evening while feeling her way towards Union Bay in a dense fog. She passed Victoria yesterday morning at 9 o'clock.

The steamer Salvage King left Victoria at 9.30 o'clock yesterday evening for the scene of the grounding. In charge of Capt. J. M. Hewison the Salvage King arrived alongside the stranded ship at daylight this morning. Under the direction of W. G. Jordan, salvage operations were commenced. Lines were put aboard and at high tide the Machaon was pulled free by the Salvage King.

The big freighter early this afternoon was anchored off the wharf with the Salvage King alongside. The extent of her damage is unknown. Divers are now making a survey.

The Machaon had just completed a trip across the North Pacific from the Orient on her way to Europe. She had to put into Union Bay for coal before resuming her long voyage via the Panama Canal. She carries a full cargo of Russian salmon from Kamchatka. She was scheduled to leave Union Bay and put to sea again to-morrow evening.

This is the second Blue Funnel ship to come to grief on the Coast this week. The transpacific liner Protesilaus is now at the Burrard drydock in North Vancouver having her stem straightened after she struck at Kellett's Bluff on her way to Vancouver Tuesday morning from Victoria, inbound from the Orient. Damages to the Protesilaus amount to $10,000.

The Machaon was built in 1920 at the Caledonia Shipbuilding and Engineering Plant at Dundee. She is registered at 7,806 tons, with a length of 459 feet, a breadth of fifty-six feet, and a depth of thirty-two feet. She is registered in Liverpool.

PRINCE OF WALES IN PARIS TO-DAY

The Prince decided not to fly to London to-day owing to fog over the channel. He ordered his plane to remain at Le Bourget until tomorrow.

SALARY CUTS ABOLISHED IN FILM COLONY

Increased Sales and New Confidence Prompts Action of Universal Pictures

New York, Sept. 18. — Increasing sales and a "general feeling of confidence in the future" has prompted Carl Laemmle, president, to abolish salary cuts of employees of Universal Pictures Corporation.

Laemmle, in announcing the return to previous standards, said he no longer saw the necessity to continue the wage reductions initated last May.

In a letter to employees Laemmle said: "After a careful study of the general business situation and Universal's expanding business, I have decided to abolish our former salary reduction and to pay you, beginning the next pay day, on the basis of your former salary.

"I know this will be joyous news to you and I assure you it takes a load off my mind."

Laemmle warned the employees, however, that everything possible must continue to be done to "maintain all possible economies."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE LAID TO DRIVER OF CAR

Robert D. Hall Arraigned After Death of Lloyd Edgelow on Tuesday

Robert D. Hall, Trail, B.C., driver of the car involved in the accident which caused the death of three and one-half-year-old Lloyd Edgelow last Tuesday, was charged in the City Police Court this morning with manslaughter.

A coroner's jury yesterday brought in a verdict of accidental death but police instituted court action against the driver this morning.

After the formal charge was read, the case was remanded until to-morrow, giving the accused an opportunity to secure counsel. He was held at police headquarters after his appearance, but bail, set at $2,000, was being arranged this afternoon.

Mr. Hall, a young man, is employed with the Consolidated Mining and Smelters Ltd. at Trail and was holidaying here when the accident happened.

Clash Between Chinese And Japanese Troops On Manchurian Border

Tokio, Sept. 18.—A clash took place on the outskirts of Mukden between Chinese and Japanese troops after the Chinese attempted to destroy the south Manchurian railway bridge, The Japanese captured the Chinese garrison at Peitaying.

EXECUTIONS PENDING

Tokio, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Mukden, Manchuria, to the Rengo News Agency here to-day said a Chinese general and eleven soldiers probably would be executed for having caused the shooting of a Japanese captain and three companions.

Gen. Jung Chun, chief of staff of the Manchurian army, said the dispatch, informed Japanese Consul Morioka proof had been obtained Capt. Shintaro Nakamura, another Japanese, a Mongolian and a Russian were shot as spies by regular troops under Gen. Kwan Yu-heng.

The Nakamura party held certificates from Chinese authorities permitting them to travel in Manchuria and Mongolia to make maps. They were arrested July 26 and shot the next day.

Gen. Jung Chun has sent fifty cavalrymen to arrest Gen. Kwan Yu-heng and eleven others and bring them to Mukden, where it is expected they will be executed.

DOMINION-WIDE INQUIRY INTO CANCER CAUSE

Canadian Press

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 18.—A Dominion-wide investigation into the causes of cancer was urged in a resolution adopted yesterday evening by the Alberta Medical Association at its convention here. The convention asked that the probe be sponsored by the Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. T. W. E. Henry, Fort Saskatchewan, was elected president, succeeding Dr. T. R. Ross, Drumheller. Dr. H. A. Gibson, Calgary, was elected first vice-president; D. Mooney, Edmonton, second vice-president; Dr. G. R. Johnson, Calgary, secretary, and Dr. J. S. McEachern, Calgary, treasurer.

BORROWING FOR DOLE FUND WILL NOW BE STOPPED

Deficit Will Be Met By Grant From Current National Revenues

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

London, Sept. 18.—There is to be no more borrowing for the dole fund. Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Conservative, who is Minister of Health in the new cabinet, was emphatic on this point when he detailed the unemployment insurance plans of the National Government in the House of Commons to-day. Formerly the dole fund was borrowing $5,000,000 a week from the treasury.

The government proposed to increase its ordinary payments to the dole fund, along with increased contributions from employed workers and employers, Rt. Hon. Mr. Chamberlain said. The benefits to unemployed would be reduced. But on the basis of three million unemployed, a figure which it is expected will be reached this winter, the unemployment fund would still show a deficiency next year, between revenue and expenditure, of $110,000,000.

This expected deficit, the minister stated, would be met by grant from current national revenues instead of continuing the practice of borrowing.

LABOR ATTITUDE

From the opposition benches, F. W. Pethick-Lawrence, former financial secretary to the treasury, announced labor's uncompromising hostility to the proposals. He asserted the National Government's economy scheme was "panic legislation of incomprehensible illogicality." By reducing purchasing power it would only increase unemployment, he added.

VOTE 64 MAJORITY

The government received a majority of sixty-four votes this afternoon on its proposals to reform the "dole."

The vote was on the financial resolutions which necessarily precede the bill cutting unemployment benefits by about 10 per cent, and calling for increased contributions to the fund by workers, employers and the state. The bill itself will be considered on Monday.

LIQUOR CONTROL TO BE STUDIED BY PHILLIPS

Former U.S. Minister to Ottawa Will Tour Canada Investigating Methods

Canadian Press

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 18—Canadian methods of liquor control and regulation will be studied by Hon. William Phillips, former United States Minister to Canada, who arrived in Halifax yesterday from Yarmouth on his first visit to Nova Scotia since 1929.

After spending a few days here he will leave for Saint John, N.B., afterwards visiting Quebec and Ontario, and probably inclding also the prairie provinces and British Columbia in his tour of investigation of governmental control, as practised in Canada.

Navy Men Are Satisfied In New Zealand

Canadian Press

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 18.—The admiralty reductions in naval pay were accepted philosophically by 200 officers and men on the British sloops Laburnam and Veronica, now stationed here.

The crews of the cruisers Dunedin and Diomede are not affected, because they are paid by the New Zealand government. It is expected, however, their pay will soon be subjected to a ten per cent cut, which would be in line with the salary reductions effected throughout the New Zealand civil service.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—No official statement was available to-day on the dispatch from New York respecting the Canadian dollar. Officials of the Department of Finance had no statement to make.

GREEK BONDS FALL

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Continued fall of Greek bonds on the London exchange and a proportionate fall on the Athens exchange to-day caused Premier Venizelos to call a meeting of ministers and bankers to study the situation and suggest remedies. He said the drop was due to American and English markets selling for the purpose of obtaining cash and that Greek finances were in a very strong position with a budget surplus of 250,000,000 drachmae (about $2,500,000.)

Hongkong, Sept. 18.—Canton bank notes slumped on the exchange market to-day, allegedly due to speculation, but simultaneously with the receipt of reports from Nanking saying Canton's insurgent forces had been defeated by the Nationalists at Hengchow, Hunan.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A shipment of gold, approximating $1,000,000, which was to have reached New York to-day failed to get farther than Montreal, according to information obtained here. It will probably reach New York tomorrow.

LINDBERGHS TO FLY TO EUROPE

Tokio, Sept. 18.—A Rengo News Agency dispatch from Fukuoka, Japan, said to-day Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had announced he was going to Europe but did not name the route he might follow after completing his air tour of China, upon which he expects to start from Fukuoka to-morrow.

Rengo also quoted the Colonel as saying he would fly as far as Europe but would not attempt a flight to America.

MACDONALD MAY GET CHANCE TO PROVE CABINET

London, Sept. 18. — Premier Ramsay MacDonald's National Government was confronted today with a divergence of opinion about the dissolution of Parliament and a general election this fall.

Liberal members of the House of Commons in a meeting yesterday evening voted unanimous opposition to the recall of the present ministry. Sir Herbert Samuel, home secretary, said it should not resign until it had executed its programme to restore confidence in the pound sterling and stabilize the nation's finances.

Sir Musgrave Harvey, deputy governor of the Bank of England, and several associates visited the Premier while this meeting was in progress. It was reported they discussed what they considered to be the danger of an appeal to the people at this time.

The Daily Mail, strong opponent of an early election, says that the bankers told Mr. MacDonald the emergency government must remain in office at least two years in order to avert a disastrous drop in the exchange and asked him to issue a statement spiking rumors of an election.

"The affairs of the nation reached a position of extreme gravity Thursday," the paper said. It would appear on reports thus conveyed to the government that the recent unrest in the navy had had a profound effect on British credit and that the time has come when all other considerations save those of national existence must be put aside."

NATIONAL POLICY

Discussion in Parliament lobbies and in the press showed an increasing conviction that a national policy on tariffs and other matters must be formulated and submitted to the electorate. Conservatives were of the opinion that Mr. MacDonald was better fitted to make an appeal to the country than the parties, but many Liberals and Laborites were opposed to such a view.

It was generally believed the Cabinet committee appointed to consider the question of the balance of trade and how to restore it had reported, or was about to report, and that its findings would materially influence the Prime Minister in his decision.

DOUKHOBOR SCHOOL BURNED

Nelson, Sept. 18—A school at Krestova, a Doukhobor village in the Slocan valley, was burned early this morning. An attempt was also made against a Doughobor school two miles south of Castlegar on the Trail road.

Another supposedly incendiary fire on Goose Creek, in the Slocan valley, was reported.

FEWER STUDENTS AT OPENING OF B.C. UNIVERSITY

Increased Fees Partly Responsible For Reduction in Attendance

Policy of Economy Being Followed; Standard Courses Are Dropped

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—The seventeenth session of University of British Columbia will open Monday, when new students of all years will meet in the auditorium at 2 p.m., to hear an address by President L. S. Klinck. Following this, groups of newcomers will be conducted on a tour of the campus by senior students.

Official welcome by Chancellor R. E. McKechnie to returning and new students will be given Tuesday afternoon. Lectures will commence Wednesday morning.

Registration closes to-day, but no official figures are available. It is understood, however, that the number in attendance will be considerably less than former years, due in a measure to increased fees. University officials doubt whether it will be necessary to enforce the rule limiting the freshman class to 500.

The calendar, recently issued, gives evidences of the policy of economy. Fewer professors and assistants are on the staff as a result, and a considerable number of standard courses have been dropped. It is reported there will be a smaller appropriation for laboratory equipment and research work.

CHICAGO POLICE ARE ORDERED TO CLEAN UP CITY

Ultimatum Issued By Mayor Cermak To-day; Drastic Shake-up Alternative

Chicago, Sept. 18. — Chicago police to-day were given ten days to make a complete clean-up of vice and gambling conditions.

An ultimatum was issued to them by Mayor Anton J. Cermak who indicated that if there was not a satisfactory response to his demands within the period he would bring about a drastic shake-up of the force, affecting every one, from patrolman to captains.

Meanwhile alleged graft conditions described in a letter supposedly dictated by Mike "De Pike" Heitler, underworld character believed to have been slain near Barrington, Ill., last April, received official recognition. Alderman George Willistoon said he would ask the police committee of the city council to investigate.

SYNOD SHELVES MEMORIALS ON CHURCH UNION

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 18. — Memorials from the diocese of Toronto and the diocese of Algoma, one demanding conference to explore the possibility of church union in Canada, the other depreciating union with any body not accepting all Anglican fundamentals, were both shelved by the general synod of the Church of England in Canada to-day. Both memorials were referred to the executive council of the committee on reunion which was appointed some years ago, and to the committee on faith and order.

Rev. Canon W. B. Henney of Winnipeg made an outspoken appeal for "immediate action." Members of the Church of England had waited too long for their leaders to show the way in church union, he declared. This was no time to sidestep the issue. The proper place for such memorials was in the committee on reunion, said Rev. Principal C. G. Waller of London, Ont.

Speaking for the memorial from the diocese of Toronto, Canon H. P. Plumptre, of this city, declared the whole question had been held in abeyance for ten years, but the Lambeth Conference of 1930 had reopened it by making such statements as: "It is a paramount duty to seek unity among Christians in every direction."

The convention began yesterday with representatives from practically every country bordering on the Pacific in North and South America, as well as Hawaii.

A. F. Haines, Seattle, president of the council, opened the meeting with an attack on pessimism, decrying the depression as "the headache of the morning after."

Haines and other speakers attacked high tariffs as barriers to trade.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

General David P. Barrows urged delegates to bear in mind that in development of South American trade, permanent benefits must be based on mutual advantage.

Ernest W. Sawyer acting assistant secretary of the interior, forecast impressive developments of Alaska's mineral lands with the building of the Pacific highway connecting Alaska with the United States, and finally, with every country from Mexico to the Argentine.

bia Government immediately. Although the final distribution of expenses has not been passed upon, they know definitely, he says, that 75 per cent of labor costs will be borne by the two governments.

TERMS ANNOUNCED

The basis on which British Columbia is prepared to enter into agreements with municipalities immediately, subject to Ottawa approval, is as follows:

The Dominion Government will pay one-half the cost of work on the Transcanada Highway; one-half the cost of the provincial highway undertakings; one-half the labor cost on approved municipal works employing men with dependents; one-half the cost of transients; one-half the cost for men without dependents, and one-third the cost of direct relief in municipalities.

The provincial government will pay one-half the cost of the Transcanada Highway; one-half the costs of provincial highways and works; one-quarter the labor cost of approved municipal undertakings; one-half the cost of transients; one-half the cost of men without dependents; one-half the cost of provincial direct relief, and one-third the cost of municipal direct relief.

Municipalities are asked to pay one-quarter the labor costs of approved municipal undertakings and all material costs; and one-third the cost of municipal direct relief. No charge is to be made on the municipalities for transients and none for men without dependents.

SEEK AID ON MATERIALS

Opinions voiced at the Union of British Columbia Municipalities' convention in New Westminster led to a decision being made to send a delegation to Victoria to see the government requesting better terms for some municipalities in the province in such financial straits that they are unable to stand the heavy cost of material necessary to take advantage of the offer. Some delegates suggested the 50-25-25 basis should apply to materials also. Another suggestion was that the government pay all labor costs and the municipalities stand the cost of materials. One delegate suggested the governments should pay a proportion of material costs or all labor costs.

On Monday, all students will assemble at the Craigdarroch institution at 9 o'clock for the official opening ceremonies. Prof. P. H. Elliott, principal, will preside and will introduce the different professors, who will tell the students briefly of their courses.

After being told which books they will require, the students will be dismissed and will start actual classes on Tuesday morning.

No changes have been made in the staff this year and for the first time in several years no additional courses have been added to the curriculum.

Night classes for teachers and others wishing to secure partial credits in the first and second year arts courses will commence a week after the opening of the school. Circulars have been sent to those interested in them and classes will take up subjects in which the majority show interest.

This year many old students who have been teaching will return to college to secure higher credits for more advanced certificates.

The various organizations of the school will be formed within the next week or two. These will include the Literary Society, Scientific Society, Players' Club and various athletic groups.

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 18.—American Bar Association to-day reaffirmed its position urging the participation of the United States in the World Court.

Pays Penalty For Murder Of Father

Canadian Press

Fort Francis, Ont., Sept. 18.—Paying the supreme penalty of the law for the murder of his father, Laurie Neill was hanged at the local jail at twelve minutes past midnight to-day. The physician pronounced him dead twenty-two minutes later. Neill walked to the scaffold without a falter and showed no emotion during the preliminary proceedings of placing the noose about his neck and the black cap on his head.

The crime for which Neill paid with his life was committed nearly a year ago, December 30, 1930. According to the evidence at his trial he beat his father to death with an iron poker. Neill was twenty-five years old and was a lumber worker.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Atanasy Usciki was to have been hanged at the same time as Neill for killing a woman and two children in Sutherland township. He was given a reprieve until January 15, and in the meantime will have a new trial.

MAY FLY TO SEATTLE B WAY OF NOME

The article, signed by Moyle a Allen, said they had been forced turn back toward Siberia by a stor after they had circled over the Ale tian Islands for about twenty hours.

The fliers, who transmitted the story from their rescue ship, t Russian steamer Buriat, to Tokio v the Ochiishi wireless station at Ner uro, Japan, recounted their exper ences after leaving the Japanese mai land at Cape Erimo, 110 miles fro Samushiro, their take-off point.

They were last sighted at Ca Erimo seventy minutes after taking o on September 7. Their story to Asa said weather conditions had be favorable until they neared t Aleutian Islands, where they encour ered a gale.

TOSSED LIKE A LEAF

Asami quoted the flyers as sayi their plane was tossed "up, down a aside like a leaf" by the Aleuti storm.

"For nearly twenty hours," th said, "we kept the plane up only almost superhuman efforts."

The dispatch said Moyle and All flew for thirty-four hours after lea ing Samushiro Beach (they had a fo supply which they had estimat would last them about forty-sev hours), and managed to land on uninhabited Aleutian Island witho damaging the plane.

The storm, they said, continued rage and for seven days they were u able to continue their flight. On t eighth day, they related, the weat improved and they took off from t Aleutian Island, flying in a nor westerly direction and finally land near Miano Pilgino, Siberia.

They said they planned to start Seattle Saturday, but did not ment where they got gasoline to contin their projected flight.

Moyle and Allen did not ment how they existed for seven days more on the uninhabited island. H ever, they had a food supply u leaving Samushiro Beach which cluded five roast chickens, h thickly-buttered sandwiches, a vacu bottle of coffee and some tea drinking water.

TO GET PRIZE

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 18.—Asahi, pancse newspaper which offered $ 000 to the first airmen to span Pacific Ocean in non-stop flight, offered to give Don Moyle and Cecil Allen 5,000 yen ($2,000) for their co age and bravery.

A telegram containing the offer received yesterday evening by J Buffelin, owner of the Clasina Ma the plane in which the flyers took ten days ago from Samushiro Be Japan, on a projected flight to Pu Sound.

NET EARNINGS OF B.C. POWER SHOW INCREASE

Absence of Water Problems Aids Financial Situation, Report States

Increased Earnings in Electric and Gas; Fewer Passengers on Street Cars

The annual statement of the British Columbia Power Corporation for the fiscal year to June 30, 1931, makes a most satisfactory showing. In face of rapidly changing industrial conditions shareholders will be pleased to find gross earnings only slightly down from the year 1930, but well ahead of those made in 1929. Close attention to operating expenses, however, has permitted of a substantial increase in net earnings with the results that the total net earnings were equivalent to $2.22 a share on the "A" stock as compared with $2.09 a share for the preceding year.

The decline in gross revenue during the last year is due entirely to the falling off in street railway traffic, which has been almost general throughout the continent during the period under review; net earnings, however, benefitted by the absence of water problems which constituted a serious factor in operating results of the corporation in the previous year.

The balance sheet reflects the major extensions undertaken during the fiscal year, net working capital showing a drop of almost $3,500,000, while fixed assets have been increased by more than $5,000,000. It is a notable fact that, notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions prevailing during the year, the largest increase in the last five years was shown in power consumers of the company.

Profits and loss accounts shows gross revenue of $15,119,946, down from $15,434,341, and, after operating expenses, depreciation and taxes, net income of $5,022,558, up from $4,289,907. Payment of bond interest and dividends on the "A" stock left surplus earnings of $436,816, equivalent to an additional 22 cents on the class "A" and 22 cents on the 1,000,000 shares of "B" stock outstanding.

Net working capital shows a decline from $8,604,124 to $5,167,080, current assets being down at $8,890,321, from $12,968,944, and current liabilities lower at $3,723,241, as compared with $4,364,820.

TOTAL ASSETS UP

In the balance sheet total assets are shown at $144,425,070 as compared with $143,107,372 at the end of the preceding year. Cash is down at $3,151,931 from $7,306,638; investments up at $1,308,723 from $551,425; receivables stand at $1,487,100 as compared with $1,892,420; stores, materials, etc., at $2,124,357, as compared with $2,501,160; fixed assets up at $134,840,466 from $129,824,517; and there is an item of $355,862 for bond discount, which did not appear on previous balance sheets. Among the liabilities payables are lower at $2,469,083 as compared with $2,927,559; accruals are down at $1,254,159 from $1,437,261; depreciation up at $21,220,423 from $19,733,995; and general reserve at $1,504,942, as compared with $1,723,126. Capital and surplus is shown on the balance sheet at $66,828,538.

In submitting the report to shareholders, President W. G. Murrin says in part:

"Notwithstanding the general depression in business, it is satisfactory to record increased earnings in the electric and gas departments. This increase has been brought about by the addition during the year of 4,900 electric consumers and 2,400 gas consumers, and by increased sales of appliances consuming gas and electricity.

"Due to the reduced number of passengers carried and the smaller quantity of freight hauled, the earnings of the transportation department show a reduction compared with last year. This is a condition prevailing in all transportation systems, affecting both passenger and freight traffic throughout the country.

"It will be remembered that during the financial year, 1930, the expenses of operation were substantially increased as a result of the serious water shortage. The absence of water shortage expenses this year, together with other economies in operation which we have been able to effect, have enabled us to decrease the operating expenses by $1,047,046.

"The expenditure during the year on additional electric plant, together with the extension of electric and gas services and improvements and additions to other sections of the company's business amounted to $5,015,963.

"The changing over of the distribution system from 2,000 to 4,000 volts has continued during the year, and the enlargement of the Burnaby substation to accommodate the additional equipment incidental to the bringing in of Ruskin power, has been completed.

BUSSES AS FEEDERS

"Transportation system—With the growth in population in the suburban areas, additional facilities in the form of busses acting as feeders to the railway system have been provided.

"Arrangements were made for the extension of one-man operation on additional lines, and structural alterations were carried out on a number of street cars to provide for this method of operation.

"Gas system—Thirty-three miles of gas mains were installed during the year. To meet the increased demand for gas service and to provide for future growth, plans have already been made for the construction during the coming year of an additional coal gas generating plant with a capacity of 3,000,000 cubic feet per day. It is anticipated that with the completion of this plant the consumption of British Columbia coal will amount to 100,000 tons per annum, which should be of considerable benefit to the coal industry in offsetting to some extent the competition of imported fuel oil.

"Light and power system—While there has been a considerable reduction in the use of industrial power in consequence of the business depression, the total consumption of energy, due to intensive sales effort, has resulted in an increase over previous years.

"Gas system—The winter of 1930-31 was extremely mild, and as a result the demand for gas for heating purposes was below normal. In spite of this, with the greater number of heating installations completed during the year and the increased consumption of domestic gas, the total quantity of gas sold shows an increase.

"Railway system—In common with all other transportation concerns, the general decline in business activity has been most keenly felt in our railway business. The slowing up in the building trade, and the condition of the lumber business on which so many industries are dependent, are largely responsible for the decline in the number of passengers carried. Notwithstanding the reduction in passengers carried, the railway service have been kept up to the highest standards of efficiency. The number of car miles operated over the railway system shows an increase over the previous year of 561,000 miles, as the result of the increased number of cars in service, particularly during the rush hours.

	Passengers Carried	Freight Tonnage
1931	74,249,659	343,320
1930	76,113,550	454,111
1929	77,694,731	533,391
1928	77,063,656	487,896
1927	75,113,022	481,690

TAXATION BURDEN HEAVY

"The burden of taxation on the company continues increasingly heavy, and with the 25 per cent increase in taxes to be imposed by the Dominion and provincial governments, together with the increases in municipal taxes, will constitute a very serious charge against the company's revenues.

"While there can be no possible objection to contributing a fair and just amount towards the cost of administering the affairs of the country, it must be recognized that any amount in excess of this is an unfair burden on the industry and can only be collected by the company through the medium of rates and charges for the services performed.

"At a time when we are passing through an unprecedented world-wide business depression, the accounts submitted herewith show that the company is in a sound financial position. The programme of construction and development which has brought many additional facilities to completion has placed the company in a position to adequately take care of its responsibilities in furnishing the important services connected with the power, transportation and gas business, together with the growth which may be anticipated in the demand for these services with the return of more normal business conditions.

"The large sum of money which the company has expended on labor and materials, in connection with the maintenance of its properties and in the construction and extension of its facilities, is a material factor in the welfare of the districts in which we operate.

"A very large part of the material used is purchased in British Columbia and almost entirely in Canada, and the expenditure on wages, amounting to $6,750,000 for the year, assures steady and remunerative employment to a large number of men and women."

New Light Shed On Death of Collings

Huntington Station, N.Y., Sept. 18.—Assistant District Attorney Fred J. Munder of Suffolk County announced to-day that the autopsy on the body of Benjamin Collings, murdered yachtsman, had furnished important information which would not be made public pending investigation.

Munder said the autopsy showed Collings's skull was cracked in eight places. Medical Examiner Otto Schultz, who performed the autopsy, later took some of the organs to New York city for analysis.

BEARS ROAMING ABOUT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Sept. 18—Their food made scarce by the prolonged drought of last summer, scores of hungry bears have emerged from their usual haunts deep in the tangled bush of the Gatineau Hills, and are harrying flocks of sheep and poultry between Wakefield and Maniwaki, from twenty-five to eighty miles north of Ottawa.

Claims for the bounty of $15 a head are being sent to Quebec city every day by farmers who have shot one or more of the lumbering marauders.

Egg Production In Alberta Good

Edmonton, Sept. 18—On 70,000 Alberta farms with an average of eighty hens there were produced last year 31,000,000 dozen eggs and exports 122 carloads, stated H. A. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, during an address at the opening meeting of the season of the Edmonton Poultry and Pet Stock Association.

Mr. Craig stated that figures showed that poultry provided a very good part of Canadian farm revenues, for in 1930 eggs alone reached the grand total of $81,000,000.

TOO BIG A JOB FOR POLITICS

REGARDING THE PROPOSAL OF A highway commission, we are told by the morning paper that "the government which earns the most respect, in these and any other times, for its strength of purpose and honesty of conviction is that which resists the pressure brought to bear from prejudiced quarters and pursues its task in the best interests of the people as a whole." This really ought to be an argument in favor of a highway commission.

As The Times already has pointed out, one of the chief duties of such a body as that which was advocated by the Good Roads League would be to take the business of highway construction and maintenance completely out of politics, so that pressure from prejudiced quarters could not be brought to bear upon the government, that the government would not be compelled to listen to appeals for wasteful political roads for vote-catching purposes. That system is not in the best interests of the public, and it is one the taxpayers obviously want changed.

Mr. S. S. McDiarmid, city engineer of Trail, in presenting the proposal for a highway commission in his address to the Good Roads League the other day, put the case squarely in the following observations:

> Recent years have brought many changes, which in the methods of transportation, have been revolutionary. The result has been that those in charge of public works under different governments have been unable to keep pace. This has been true especially in matters of financial preparedness and the drafting of programmes of construction based upon sound policies. Continuity of thought and purpose are just as essential in administering a highway department as in other transportation systems, and it is open to question whether such is possible unless those responsible are entirely removed from political influence. Candidates for the legislature win seats as a result of popular vote and the elector is swayed by pandering to selfish motives rather than by more honorable means. As a vote catcher, it is hard to beat a promise to do something for the local roads.
> Pause for a moment to picture the highway systems to-day. There are two classes of traffic, just as on the railways; the fast-moving passenger traffic in high-powered cars and the somewhat slower heavily-loaded trucks carrying freight. The first class covers great distances in a short time, causing a terrific abrasion of the road surface while the latter finds and breaks down all the weak spots. The traffic which formerly was handled on steel rails laid on road beds designed to carry the load is now throwing its tremendous burden upon the highways with the result that the state is faced with a problem much too big for politics. It must be a nightmare to the Minister of Public Works.

It is not difficult to believe that the Minister of Public Works would not be averse to a system of highway control which would relieve him of the difficult job of having to decide between legitimate public requirements and political expediency.

While the government has not made any announcement on the resolution passed by the Good Roads League, it is expected that it will consider the proposal at an early date, since there is a good deal of sympathy with the commission plan in ministerial circles. The government has an opportunity to do a big statesmanlike thing in connection with this important question.

NO TIME FOR AN ELECTION

ALTHOUGH A SECTION OF THE British Conservative party would like an election at once, there seems to be an overwhelming body of public opinion, led by many newspapers and influenced by the attitude of the governors of the Bank of England and financiers generally, which considers the present National government should remain in office until it shall have completely achieved the object for which it was formed.

Events of the last few days indicate that the government's task is going to be a more difficult and longer one than is generally recognized by those who are not permitted to know what is going on behind the scenes. It was all very well for the leaders of the three parties from which representatives entered the new administration to declare that they had not renounced their political faiths, that they had merely put them on one side in the interests of their country, that just as soon as the budget had been balanced and the country's financial house put in order they would part company and present their own particular programmes before the people for their consideration. The impression left on the public mind was that this would not take very long; but, as The Times pointed out at the time, events were changing conditions so rapidly that it would be difficult to set a time limit for the political truce if, as all three parties in the cabinet professed, the temporary government intended to see the whole business through first.

It is difficult to foresee from one day to another what may develop as the government unfolds its policy. The incident of the navy's protest against cuts in pay was perhaps not as serious as dispatches made it appear; it nevertheless was another shock to a people that have been getting a shock a day for some time past. To hold an election at this time, therefore, would unquestionably produce a condition of affairs from which almost anything might emerge. At no time since the days of the Great War has it been more necessary than it is now to give political controversy a holiday.

BUTTING IN

A DISPATCH FROM NEW YORK INforms us that the local officers of the "International Labor Defence" organization intend to stage a public demonstration in Union Square to-morrow in sympathy with the lower ratings of the British Atlantic Fleet who recently protested against naval pay reductions.

What "International Labor Defence" does, of course, is its own business. But it occurs to us that its officers and members might be much better employed than giving Great Britain's economic problem absent treatment of this kind. The British Admiralty already has promised to investigate the whole matter and meet cases of threatened hardship with appropriate action.

Between now and to-morrow perhaps the local officers of the New York organization may be advised that their demonstration will not kindle any special enthusiasm in the breasts of the British tars who think they have been unfairly treated.

A PRACTICAL CONSERVATIONIST

MR. FRANK J. D. BARNJUM, OF NOVA Scotia, well known throughout Canada for his active interest in forest conservation, has recently acquired two tracts of virgin timber in the Cowichan Lake district. He hopes that his action will stimulate others to concern themselves in a similarly practical way in the preservation of timber, especially in sections of the island noted for their scenic attractions and along the main highways, and that it will emphasize the imperative need of an effective comprehensive policy of timber conservation in the province.

In British Columbia is to be found the last great stand of Canada's rapidly-dwindling timber resources, and unless public and private interests concern themselves now in preserving considerable areas of it, within the lifetime of the present generation one of the finest natural assets of this Dominion will have been reduced to negligible proportions. Only a superficial visit to Campbell River and Cowichan Lake is needed to make this prospect abundantly clear.

Down the Pacific Coast they are doing more than making speeches and passing resolutions to preserve timber contiguous to the main highways. Along what is known as the Redwood Highway there is an area of a hundred square miles which was acquired by private interests and dedicated by them to perpetual preservation from exploitation for commercial purposes. Similar protection has been guaranteed a large section of the splendid timber in the Olympic Peninsula in the adjoining State of Washington. What is being done there can be done, and should be done, in British Columbia. Mr. Barnjum's public-spirited action in acquiring timber tracts in the Cowichan Lake district is a practical step in that direction.

NOT MUCH VALUE

JUST AS PRACTICALLY ALL HOPE had been abandoned, news came of the finding of the two aviators, Don Moyle and Cecil Allen, who had embarked upon a non-stop flight from Japan to the United States. They had landed on a lonely island in the Pacific, much nearer Tokio than Seattle, their objective.

There is no use suggesting that stunts of this kind should be discouraged, even though they are attended by more splendid sacrifices than triumphs; but the fact remains that there is very little good in it. Only under the most favorable conditions, from the point of view of weather and mechanical performance, could an airplane be flown without a stop from Japan to Seattle. Complete success of the venture, moreover, demonstrates nothing particularly useful. On the other hand, failure tends to weaken public belief that ordinary commercial flying over the well-traveled airways of the world is safe.

The morning paper excels itself to-day in its bitter antagonism to the Canadian National Railways in charging that system with responsibility for the C.P.R. closing down its car shops in various parts of Canada, thereby throwing more than 8,000 men out of employment. The absurdity of that contention is so plain and its implication so unfortunate that well may the Canadian Pacific Railway Company pray to high heaven for protection from some of its friends. Incidentally, it is also evident that if the situation were reversed and it was the Canadian National Railway Company that was closing down its works our morning contemporary would not blame the C.P.R. for it.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

GANGSTERS AND GUN-TOTING
The New York World-Telegram

Gun-toting has become so mixed up with gang activities that it can no longer be ranked along with other misdemeanors. The courts and the prosecutors can strike at the gangster through the gun-toter. But they can do this only by measuring the penalty of unlicensed gun-toting in terms of the murderous violence guns produce in the hands of gangs.

TOMATOES, B.C. BRAND
The Ottawa Journal

Our esteemed, if distant, contemporary, The Vancouver Sun, like a small boy at the exhibition, has the delightful faculty of working itself into a state of tremendous enthusiasm over pretty nearly anything. Whether it be the tariff, a sunset over English Bay, disarmament, the economic situation or the state of the bathing beaches, The Sun tackles the problem with horse, foot and artillery. Perhaps it is the invigorating climate of the Pacific Coast which sets alight this keen desire that the world should be set right on its grave issues, or it may be merely the natural vigor of a youthful mind with many facets. At any rate The Sun has the gay spirit which prods dragons and upsets hornets' nests and lectures the people for their own good.

To-day The Sun is enthusiastic over tomatoes, the great, luscious tomatoes which it credits to the fields of British Columbia. The editor grows almost lyrical as he goes into the subject:

"Go up into the Kamloops and the Ashcroft districts, and to Lillooet and beyond, and into the Okanagan and the fertile valleys of the Kootenays, and everywhere you are in the home of these glorious creatures. They speak of tomatoes up there in terms of tons, and nowhere in the world will you find a finer tomato than these, with the sun of British Columbia in them and a matchless flavor from the skin to the heart of them."

There, probably, are the finest words ever put in type to describe a tomato. We doubt whether ever before since English was written was a tomato called a "glorious creature." But even to consideration of such delightful objects of nature there is a practical side:

"One of those big fellows will make a pound itself. Two average ones will make a pound easily. There are 600,000 people in British Columbia, at least 400,000 of them able to eat tomatoes. Let every one of them eat a tomato every day during the next month and you will have a home market for 6,000,000 pounds of tomatoes, 3,000 tons!"

"Eat a tomato every day," directs The Sun sternly, concluding an editorial headed, modestly, "A Miracle of August." This much being said for tomatoes we should like to read what The Sun has to say about strawberries or a fresh cherry pie.

A THOUGHT

And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them.—Matthew xviii 2.

Loose Ends

We finance in a jolly fashion, which our descendants will appreciate—A sergeant of police gives me the facts—And the little girl next door comes home.

By H. B. W.

I SEE BY the papers that it is proposed to finance all unemployment relief expenditures in British Columbia by means of a loan repayable in twenty years. Which shows that the old system of passing the buck and burying the public head in the sand, ostrich-like, is as popular as ever. Just consider the facts of this charming arrangement for a moment. We propose to unload the cost of this depression on our children, for that is what it amounts to, since government loans in this country are almost invariably refunded at maturity, sinking funds being insufficient to meet them. We propose to hand the job of paying for this depression on to our children; but by the time the present loans mature, in twenty years, three more depressions will have occurred, according to the seven-year business cycle, which has seldom failed. Thus our children, twenty years from now, will be carrying the cost of three depressions at the very moment when they are in the middle of the fourth. Not only that, but they will be carrying all the other huge debts which we have already piled up for such things as the P.G.E. All they will be able to do is to hand their four depressions on to their children, who will have to hand the cost of eight depressions to theirs, and so on.

* * *

OBVIOUSLY the only way to prevent the accumulation of a debt which no generation can carry is to pay for the present depression as soon as it is over, when times are good. Then, perhaps, we may be in shape to meet the next one and avoid it. If we had paid our debts in the past, when we were well able to do so, if we had spent only what we could afford as we went along, we would have full treasuries, unused revenues now, and we could come through these hard times without serious hardship. If the Province of British Columbia, for example, had not passed on the cost of government to our children, to the amount of nearly a hundred millions, if almost a third of our total revenue didn't have to go towards interest on these borrowings, we should have plenty of money to keep everybody going without borrowing another cent. No individual could finance in the fashion of nations and provinces and cities. No one would continue to lend to him, knowing that his children eventually would refuse to repay because they wouldn't be able to. But nations, provinces and cities do it and every individual citizen eventually suffers, whether he is a party to the arrangement or not. And there is no prospect of the debts ever being paid off.

* * *

SINCE I was fined for speeding last year I have always tried to keep on the most friendly terms with the police and my behavior as a driver has been exemplary. As a reward for this virtue, a burly sergeant of police gave me his confidence to-day concerning automobile drivers, and his information, I think, is important to the public. "Do you know," said he, "who are the most dangerous drivers in this here city? The professional men, they're the most dangerous. Why? Well, I figger it this way. A doctor goes along thinking about how he is goin' to cure somebody at the other side of town. A lawyer goes along thinkin' what he is goin' to say to the judge. Their minds ain't on their drivin', that's all. Even though some of them drives slow, still, they're dangerous because they're apt to be in a daze like.

* * *

"WIMMIN'," said the sergeant, "is dangerous, too, most of 'em. There isn't a woman in a hundred who can drive a car properly. They haven't got the temperment for it. They can't make up their minds; leastways, they are always changing them just at the wrong time and you don't know what they're goin' to do. It ain't lack of intelligence, mind you. In a way you might say they are too intelligent and their brains work too fast for the rest of us. No, sir, the safest driver ain't the clever man. He's the ordinary fellow, who doesn't do much thinkin', but just drives. Now I'd take you for a good driver. You might almost say, sir, that the less brains, the better the drivin'. Speakin' generally, our drivin' in Victoria is pretty good." This is indeed comforting.

* * *

APPARENTLY I am not the only one who has been away for holidays lately. The little girl from next door has just come over here to tell me, while standing on her head in my arm chair to emphasize the point, that she was up to our lake for a long, long time—"seben years maybe." As I was talking to her a bare three weeks ago, I fancy her estimate is a little high. Anyway, she has been up to the lake and seems to have witnessed divers wonders. She tells me that a great big squirrel used to run across the roof of the cottage every morning just when the sun was coming up and often sat on a tree shelling pine cones industriously. "He takes 'em home to his little tiny babies," she says, "so they won't be hungry in the winter time. He has ninety-twelve babies with pink eyes and long tails. They eats lots of pine combs but they doesn't like nice cream combs a-tall. 'Cause when I tried to make the daddy squirrel eat my nice cream comb he runned up a tree and made bad faces at me."

* * *

ALSO, I learn, there was an ancient toad on the path up at the lake and whenever the little girl came along that way he waddled off into the bushes, very annoyed at being disturbed. As she had been warned that touching toads gives little girls warts (which is probably quite absurd) she used to poke him very gently with a stick in his well-filled vest front, and then he would walk off, annoyed, without a word. "'Twas lots of fun 'cause his tummy was so fattish," she said. It reminded her of that distinguished statesman, our own Councillor Wriggledown.

* * *

BUT THE most important feature of the visit to the lake, as she demonstrates to me by lying on her front and kicking her hands and feet wildly in the air, was her mastery of the art of swimming, or almost. She could swim quite well if someone held the back of her bathing suit a little. And not any of your ordinary swimming, your breast stroke, or dog paddle either. "What I can swim," she says, swimming on my carpet, "is the real and truly Strangers' Shawl." Which, after patient inquiry next door, I find to mean the Australian crawl. On the whole, therefore, the summer has been a success.

Victoria, Sept. 17.

HON. LOOSE ENDS:

Many times have I suffered in "silence" when trying to unravel your er interesting caligraphy which, like time and tide, comes regularly to the top floor of The Times Building. Perhaps at some of these times your ears have burned (they should have done). I have both agreed and disagreed with many of your remarks, but the tail-end of the first paragraph in the spasm of yesterday was one in which many of the denizens of this "jungle" are in hearty sympathy with you.

If them there cigars keep you away from the top floor, or at least hurry your departure therefrom, can you imagine the sufferings of some of us (not always in silence).

Personally, I excuse such things as the many "peculiarities" of the fourth floor "brainworkers" and composing room foremen's cigars, as due to the strain of producing a modern newspaper, and being but one of the cogs therein I sit back and get used to the "peculiarities"—even look for them—but get used to those cigars? Never! And one doesn't need to look for them!

So thanks for bringing the matter to the attention of the public. I am sure something will now be done by the government. Or failing the government, that the visitors from the fourth floor will buy the foreman some good cigars.

DISCRIMINATION

To the Editor:—There appears to be a great deal of dissatisfaction with the work going on at the Normal School. There are carpenters working there on the relief programme at $2.80 a day, while there are carpenters that have been employed for years at the union scale of wages, and are still receiving it. There are men at work there with a pick and shovel with good war records and with families who get $2.80 a day.

Surely this is not the way to treat men on government work, more especially returned men with families and no pensions. Trusting you will draw the attention of the Public Works Department thorugh the columns of your paper to this discrimination.

FAIR PLAY.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 15, 1931.

FAIR PLAY NEEDED

To the Editor:—In answer to a letter signed by "Victoria Born," as to why an architect from Vancouver should have been employed to design the new wing of the Y.W.C.A. building, I should like to inform "Victoria Born" that the same thing is happening every little while in our city. People come in from other places in British Columbia and from other provinces, such as Alberta, Saskatchewan and, of course, the Old Country. They are given the positions that rightly belong to Victorians, or people who have been here some time. How would certain business men like it if we Victorians decided to deal out of the city? Much of the present unemployment in this city is due to the fact that Old Country people have been coming to this city and taking the positions that rightly belong to British Columbia born.

There are numerous people from Alberta and Saskatchewan, etc., who hold positions that should never have been given them. British Columbia has been the dumping ground far too long, and as only a few British Columbia citizens have exerted themselves regarding this serious question, we are now at this late date waking up to the consequences.

Everybody flocks to British Columbia, even the Chinese, but the Chinese do not take a great many of the positions that the others I have mentioned do. We are told to purchase British Columbia goods. Good citizens do not have to be told that. What we citizens should demand for our families is British Columbia treatment for British Columbians, and our politicians should see that a drive is made to not only buy British Columbia goods, but should see that British Columbia born, or the parents of British Columbia born are employed first. Fair play is needed.

Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R., arrived in the city last evening. Accompanying him are Senator Forget, R. G. Angus and W. Never did Victoria present a prettier picture at night than it did last evening. The illuminations of the streets and of the Parliament Buildings in honor of the visit of His Excellency the Governor-General Earl Grey could not well have been surpassed. With strings of i ncandescent lights across the streets, the arches brilliantly lit up the route to the Parliament Buildings.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. McFarlane Drug Store and Vancouver Drug Company says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back. (Advt.)

GYPROC

Millions of feet are used annually—for building, repairing or remodeling. It can be applied over old cracked and fallen plaster, and turn a dilapidated eyesore into a charming, cosy room. Approved by fire chiefs. Approved by building inspectors. Approved by architects.

Old Favorite To Play Shortly At Royal Victoria

Billie Burke, who comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, September 28 and 29, in the New York comedy hit "The Vinegar Tree," began her illustrious career in England, although she was born in the United States.

She first rose to fame in musical comedies in London under the management of the famous old producer George Edwardes of the Gayety Theatre. She chose the name Billie since she wished to perpetuate the name of her father, although her given name was Ethel. Imagine if you can, the name "Ethel Burke" on the electric signs and you will see the wisdom of the star's choice of the stripping, alliterative, cognomen, Billie Burke.

Her parents sent her to England when she was twelve years old to improve her voice. Then she was taken to France so that she could acquire that language to add to her list of accomplishments.

WON BRITISH PUBLIC

George Edwardes first engaged her in London for "The School Girl" and the English public took her to its heart so that he starred her successively in "The Duchess of Dantzic," "The Blue Moon" and "The Belle of Mayfair."

Then along came the astute Charles Frohman, who saw in this dainty singing and dancing star far greater possibilities than were offered in musical shows. He took her to the United States as leading woman for John Drew in "My Wife." The instantaneous hit she made in that play, proved that Mr. Frohman was right and the next year he elevated her to stardom in "Love Watches." Hit followed hit, and each more firmly established the blue-eyed red-haired Irish girl as the idol of theatregoers from coast to coast.

Melodies of Straus In Chevalier Film Coming to Dominion

The gay lilting songs which Maurice Chevalier sings in his new starring picture, "The Smiling Lieutenant," are the work of the noted Viennese composer, Oscar Straus. Especially commissioned by Paramount to write melodies for "The Smiling Lieutenant," Oscar Straus has supplied Chevalier with some of the best songs he has yet sung from the screen. Audiences attending showings of "The Smiling Lieutenant" in other cities have found these melodies, refreshing, intimate and somewhat different form the usual run of popular songs. And what is more important, they are particularly suited to Chevalier's talent for making tunes well nigh irresistible.

Ernst Lubitsch, maker of "The Love Parade" and "Monte Carlo," directed "The Smiling Lieutenant," which opens an engagement at the Dominion Theatre on Saturday for one entire week.

AT DOMINION

To Richard Arlen fell the happy lot of playing the role of leading man opposite Peggy Shannon, Hollywood's latest "Lucky Girl."

Miss Shannon was thrust into film-fame when she was cast in the principal romantic part of "The Secret Call" after the part was vacated by the sudden illness of Clara Bow.

The story deals with the events which take place in a big city during the progress of an electioneering campaign. Miss Shannon, whose political father dies a victim of the persecution of the "big boss" of the political machine which runs the city, gets a job as a telephone operator in a big hotel. As such she learns many of the secrets of the politicians, and is in a position to damage the "big boss" so much with scandal that he will lose his grip on the voters. But she learns that Arlen, her sweetheart, is the son of the "big boss."

AT COLISEUM

The important part played by a boat, now famous, in the Great War is depicted in the stirring British film "Tell England," which is being presented at the Coliseum Theatre.

Ss. River Clyde, a troopship skippered by Commander Edwin Unwin, V.C., was responsible for the landing of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force during the disastrous attempt to establish an Eastern Front at Gallipoli in 1915.

Subjected first to camouflage and then gun fire both from ashore and enemy craft above and below water, the River Clyde suffered serious damage while performing her duty. At the conclusion of the War, however, the holes in her hull were patched up and she was sold to the Spanish government beneath whose flag she now plies between Bilbao and Santander as a coaler.

AT CAPITOL

Many things are likely to happen when one starts playing with matches in a powder factory—or when one introduces a "hard-boiled" young lady from the East Side to wealthy and conceited society people.

This latter situation supplies the explosive effect to "The Brat," Fox Films' delightful screen version of Maude Fulton's play, which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. Most of the picture is devoted to hilarious results of the combination.

The young lady's introduction occurs when a wealthy author, attending a night court session for "material," brings one of the culprits home with him to study her primitive reactions. The reactions come rather unexpectedly. She champions the family black sheep, drives away the author's girl friends, defies the entire family and all in a manner that keeps the spectators in constant gales of laughter.

Sally O'Neil in the title role gives a performance that is nothing short of perfection.

AT COLUMBIA

Dorothy Revier, who plays the feminine lead in "The Avenger," the Columbia offering now at the Columbia Theatre, has never been known to have an attack of temperament. She explains her amiability by saying that she loves acting—even its ups and downs.

It is her steady calm, mental poise which makes her easy to direct and results in a well balanced performance. Evidence of this is found in "The Avenger."

AT PLAYHOUSE

Bobby Agnew's pet dislike is actors who take themselves seriously. Consequently, getting Bobby to talk about himself is next to impossible—that is, to talk seriously. If he does use himself as the subject of conversation he indulges in a sarcastic humor that is merciless.

Agnew is being seen and heard at the Playhouse Theatre in "Extravagance," a Tiffany super-feature in which an all-star cast comprises June Collyer, Lloyd Hughes, Owen Moore, Dorothy Christy, Gwen Lee, Joan Standing and others.

COMING TO PLAYHOUSE

A series of rare musical treats is in store for Victoria lovers of music this season, for, commencing Monday evening, September 28, G. Donald Gray, whose fine tenor voice has been heard over the radio and on the stage here, will start a season in stock at the Playhouse Theatre. He will have with him a group of talented players and entertainers and together they will be seen in light musical offerings, musical comedies and other plays that should prove enjoyable.

Mr. Gray has a repertoire that ranges from the light and popular numbers to heavier songs that touch the grand opera class. He has been heard in all these over the radio and will doubtless give plenty of variety during his season here. The first offering will be "The Isle of Dreams," that tuneful operatta that Chauncy Olcott, famous Irish tenor, toured North America in several seasons ago. The delightful numbers from the show are still running through the heads of the many Victorians who saw it then, and who will heartily welcome its return.

MAURICE CHEVALIER in "THE SMILING LIEUTENANT"

With CLAUDETTE COLBERT, CHARLIE RUGGLES, MIRIAM HOPKINS. Music by OSCAR STRAUS

THINK of all the things you'd like to have gay Maurice say and do and there you have "The Smiling Lieutenant." New York went crazy over it for weeks and weeks and you will too. It's refreshing as a breeze—light, gay, maybe a bit daring and certainly full of surprises. The cast couldn't be improved on and you know you can always expect something different in a picture directed by Lubitsch. By all means, see it.

You'll go out of the theatre feeling happy as a lark, a sparkle in your eyes, a song in your heart. "If it's a Paramount Picture it's the best show in town!"

HOPE TO OPEN WORKROOM FOR WOMEN SOON

First Donations Received For Plan to Aid Needy, Jobless Women

October 5 Tentative Date Set; Committees Chosen at Meeting Yesterday

The proposed workroom for the assistance of destitute, unemployed women will be launched at the Y.W.C.A., on October 5, if plans made at the meeting yesterday evening of the Women's Workroom Committee come to fruition. The meeting was held in the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Arthur Walsh presiding and a good representation of the various women's organizations being in attendance. Emphasis was laid upon the fact that the undertaking is a community venture and the active co-operation and support of all the women's organizations in Greater Victoria will be welcomed.

Encouraging promises of practical assistance were received from a number of organizations, representatives reporting that donations of $10 had been voted by the Local Council of Women, which was also sponsoring a tea to be held in Spencer's on Tuesday, September 29 in aid of the cause; the Business and Professional Women's Club had contributed $15; members of the Social Service League had made private contributions amounting to $20; the Catholic Women's League had voted $10. This total was supplemented by two cheques from friends, one for $50 and the other for $5, all of the donors being cordially thanked for their interest and support.

PROPOSED PLAN

The workroom scheme is based upon the one organized and carried out with much success in Vancouver last winter. The proposal is to provide sewing, either making, mending or alterations, for a number of women in reduced circumstances. These women will meet at the Y.W.C.A., where a workroom is being provided free of charge by the board of directors, for four hours each afternoon, and sew or do other work under the direction of a competent seamstress. The pay will, of necessity, be small, but it is hoped it will assist in at least keeping a roof over the head of the women thus employed. The mornings will be left free so that they may have an opportunity to seek other and more remunerative employment as it offers.

COMMITTEES

Committees appointed at the meeting to undertake the various arrangements were as follows: Administration, Miss Gene McLeod, Miss Ethel Thornley, and Mrs. Arthur Walsh; ways and means, Miss M. A. Wigley, Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah and Mrs. Maude Hammond; publicity, Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Miss Bruce; work and materials, Mrs. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, Miss Checkley and Mrs. Denton Holmes; distribution of finished products, Mrs. J. A. Scott and Mrs. W. McManus. These committees have power to add to their numbers.

MRS. W. G. WILSON IS NEW PRESIDENT

All offices of the Women's Canadian Club were automatically filled for the coming year yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. R. R. Taylor, convener for the nominating committee made her report. Mrs. W. G. Wilson will be the new president; Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, first vice-president; Mrs. S. J. Willis, second vice-president; Mrs. D. B. McConnan, secretary, and Mrs. E. M. Brown, treasurer. Nominations for the executive include the following, of whom seven will be elected at the annual meeting on Tuesday, October 6: Mesdames Harold Campbell, G. D. Christie, A. S. Christie, A. Dowell, J. W. Gibson, Charles Hudson, Fred McGregor, E. H. Mitchell, C. E. Sonley, F. E. Winslow and Miss M. Pollard.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jones of Pasadena, Calif., who have been spending a couple of months in Victoria as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Bechtel, Rockland Avenue, will leave to-morrow for their home in California.

* * *

Local friends of the bride-elect, whose parents formerly resided in Victoria, will be interested in the following announcement: "Mr. and Mrs. H. J. S. Muskett, of Vancouver, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Jessie, to Mr. Leonard Thornycroft Bellhouse of Galiano Island. The wedding will take place at St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale, on October 22."

* * *

Following the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, the speaker, Miss G. Bowden-Smith, late of Pekin, China, was the guest of honor at afternoon tea, served in the lounge. Other club guests were Miss M. Bowden-Smith, Miss W. Bowden-Smith, Mrs. Scott-Burritt, Miss A. Ravenhill and Miss N. Ravenhill; and visitors included Mrs. H. Archibald, Mrs. Eayrs, Toronto; Mrs. H. B. Darnell, Mrs. H. Chisholm, Havana; Mrs. P. McNaughton, Miss M. Pollard and Dr. MacGeorge. Members of the executive who were present included the president, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. D. B. McConnan, Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. H. J. Pendray, Mrs. A. Dowell and Mrs. Alfred Carmichael.

Mrs. W. E. Wasson of Nelson, who has been visiting in Victoria as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Lennox, Rockland Avenue, has left for Vancouver, where she will spend a few days prior to returning to her home in the interior.

* * *

The Women's Canadian Club of Vancouver will hold a tea and reception on Friday afternoon next in the ballroom of Hotel Vancouver in compliment to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson. A group of piano solos will be given by Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Greene, and an orchestra will be in attendance.

* * *

Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown was hostess at a luncheon party to-day at her home at Work Point Barracks, when her guests of honor were Mrs. Hugh Niven and Mrs. P. Hennessy, who will leave shortly to join her husband, Major P. Hennessy, in Toronto. The other guests included Mrs. C. P. Hill, Miss Agnew, Mrs. Lorne Campbell, Mrs. Russell Ker, Mrs. R. O. G. Morton, Mrs. H. M. Reynolds, Mrs. Nelson Gibson, Mrs. C. M. C. Fleming and Mrs. R. E. S. Bidwell.

* * *

Mrs. William Russell entertained at a very enjoyable silver tea yesterday afternoon at her home on Fernwood Road, under the auspices of the Central W.C.T.U. Mrs. Russell and Mrs. R. E. Collis, the president, received the guests. The tea table was centred with a silver basket of mauve and pink asters and pink candles in silver candlesticks. Mrs. C. C. Spofford and Mrs. Williams poured tea. During the afternoon the guests enjoyed musical selections by Miss Frances Farquhar, a young violinist, who played "Romance" (Reiding), and "Londonderry Air" (Granger), accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. S. Foote. Miss Maquinna Daniels contributed pianoforte solos, "Rhapsody in G Minor" (Brahms), and "Sonata in G Major" (Scarlatti). Miss Dorothy Parsons sang "Irish Lullaby" (Needhame), and "Where Go the Boats."

* * *

In honor of Miss Grace Renouf, a popular bride-elect, Miss Doris Benwell gave a miscellaneous shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. G. Benwell, 1616 Fernwood Road, on Wednesday evening. A color scheme of rose and white was used throughout the rooms. Little Miss Wilma Renouf, niece of the bride-elect, daintily dressed in pink, presented a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and the numerous gifts, drawn in a miniature bungalow. During the evening bridge was enjoyed by all, prizes being awarded to Miss Anne Warburton and Mrs. S. Holmes. Supper was served from a table centred with a shower cake, which was adorned with a miniature bride and groom. Pink candles in silver sconces and pink chrysanthemums and dahlias completed the table decorations. Assisting the hostess in entertaining were Miss Jo Marshall, Miss Doreen Campbell and Miss Irene Whitfield. The invited guests included Miss Grace Renouf, Mrs. W. Renouf Sr., Mrs. W. N. PRETTY AUTUMN WEDDING JOINS POPULAR COUPLE

Big Reception Follows Evening Ceremony at St. Mary's Church

One of the prettiest weddings of the early autumn season drew a large congregation to St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, at 8.30 o'clock yesterday evening when Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunns united in marriage Florence Edna, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Luney, 1566 Hampshire Road, and Mr. William Robert Clark, elder son of the late J. R. Clark and of Mrs. Clark of Empress Avenue, Victoria. Additional interest was added to the happy occasion by its coincidence with the twenty-ninth anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents.

A LOVELY BRIDE

Under the direction of Miss Una Robertson and a bevy of girl friends of the bride, the church had been beautifully decorated with flowers. Tall standard baskets of yellow golden-rod, Michaelmas daisies and pink dahlias flanked the chancel, while the guest pews were designated with small bouquets of flowers in similar shades.

Entering the church with her father to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, the church organist, the auburn-haired bride made a lovely picture in her imported Alfandri model of ivory Brussels point lace. Of exquisite simplicity, the gown was sleeveless, a narrow belt of the material defining the natural waistline, while the circular skirt fitted closely to the hips then fell to the ground in a wide flare. A Juliet cap of the Brussels point lace confined the tulle veil to the hair, the soft folds falling gracefully into a deep flare of the lace which formed the train. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, bouvardia and white heather.

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

There were two attendants. Mrs. George R. Ford was matron of honor in a frock of pale ecru silk net, with a fitted bodice and frilled skirt and a matching jacket. With this she wore a green mohair hat and green shoes. Miss Byrd Luney, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid in a lovely gown of seaside green satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and flared skirt and a shoulder cape. She wore an ecru mohair hat. Both held colonial bouquets of pale yellow chrysanthemums, pale mauve violas and pale pink carnations.

Mr. Elmore Clark supported his brother and the ushers were Mr. G. R. Ford and Mr. Neil McNeill. During the service Mr. F. W. Francis sang "O Father, All Creating."

BIG RECEPTION

Nearly three hundred guests attended the reception which was held at the home of the bride's parents. Masses of early autumn flowers had transformed the house into a floral bower for the occasion. Pink dahlias and gladioli with Michaelmas daisies were arranged in the entrance hall. An elaborate scheme of decoration was employed in the drawing room, where the bride and bridegroom received the felicitations of their many friends standing in the long window embrasure before a tall pedestal gracefully entwined with clematis and Virginia creeper, surmounted with an illuminated canopy of white, yellow and amber dahlias, from which was suspended a wedding bell of white dahlias. Streamers of white ribbon connected this central pedestal on either side with tall standard baskets filled with the white, yellow and amber blossoms and trailing creeper in lovely effect. The fireplace was banked with yellow chrysanthemums and similar flowers being used in the sunroom.

ASSIST IN RECEIVING

Mrs. Luney, in a robe of cornflower Chantilly lace, with a fitted bodice and pleated skirt and short coatee, and a black felt hat trimmed with cornflower blue, and Mrs. Clark Sr., wearing a dress of black figured chiffon over rose satin and matching jacket, and a black hat with black and white feathers, assisted in receiving the guests.

A handsome four-tier square bride cake centred the supper table, which was arranged with small vases of pink and mauve scabiosa and greenery and illuminated with four tall and four short pink tapers in silver holders. Assisting in serving were Mrs. C. B. Mess, Mrs. John Sinclair and Misses Grace Sluggett, Betty Shakespeare, Kathleen Bone, Una Robertson, Elvyne Forde, Claire Allan, Jean MacLachlan, Helen Eve and Ardena Maxom.

TOAST TO THE BRIDE

Mr. Cecil Eve proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded. The healths of the bride's parents were also honored and felicitations tendered them on their anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark left at midnight for Vancouver, whence they will leave by motor for a trip to Southern California, the bride traveling in a dress of dark green crepe de Chine, an imported tweed coat in hunter's green with a large collar of natural wolf and a green tricorn hat with a stiff feather mount. On their return they will make their home at 440 Linden Avenue.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Shakespeare and Miss Betty Shakespeare, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sewell, Mrs. A. Heathorn and Miss Jeannette Heathorn, Mrs. F. Stone, Mrs. C. Stone and Mr. C. Hill, all of Vancouver, and Mrs. W. Sparks of Seattle.

Among the very many beautiful wedding gifts were an electric clock from Gizeh Temple Shrine Band, of which the bride's father is president, and sterling silver candlesticks from the Daughters of the Nile, of which the bride is an officer.

YOUNG CHINA FIGHTING AGE-OLD SHACKLES

Conflict Between Old and New China Described By Club Speaker

Women's Canadian Club Hear Miss G. Bowden-Smith of Peking

Two outstanding characteristics of their national life differentiate the Chinese from other nationalities. First, whereas other nations have long ago discarded the past, in China the past stills lives on and wields a tremendous influence to-day; second, Chinese civilization owes nothing to the civilization of other peoples, and has no heroes, no literature, no culture of outside origin.

This was one of the many interesting observations made by Miss G. Bowden-Smith in an intensely interesting address on "Some Aspects of the New China" before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon. A graduate of Cambridge and Cornell Universities, Miss Bowden-Smith has for eighteen years been in charge of a high-class school for Chinese girls in Peking, and her long and intimate experience with Chinese customs and characteristics invested her remarks with authority.

PRIMITIVE CONDITIONS

In amplification of her point concerning the survival of the past in China, Miss Bowden-Smith recalled that in certain sections of inner Mongolia, in little primitive states and little primitive kingdoms the peasants, live in the same primitive conditions as existed centuries ago. She described the laborious pilgrimages made to the five sacred mountains, one of which, in the picturesque language of the Chinese, was named "The Way of Heaven." Up the mile of steps leading to the summit, daily toiled hundreds of pilgrims, including old women with bound feet, hobbling painfully to the summit where they offered incense before the great Jade emperor's image, knowing nothing of the emperor and expecting nothing but the very vaguest of blessings.

SHACKLES OF THE PAST

These pilgrimages are carried out, not from any moral sense, according to the speaker, but because it has been a custom from time immemorial and, as such, must be continued. The pilgrimage was one of the living tasks unquestioningly accepted by the Chinese of the old school as part of their religion. Young China in its efforts to free the old China from the shackles of the past hates all religions and even classes Christianity as a superstition, so conscious are they of the powerful hold which the age-old beliefs have upon the people.

YOUNG CHINA'S ANGER

China is still a land of man-power, both men and women doing the work of beasts of burden and toiling like slaves uncomplainingly and with wonderful patience and fortitude. This was another cause of Young China's anger towards the west, the modern Chinese maintaining the curious attitude thaat the Occident had in some way monopolized the control of all mechanical methods and left China to toil along in the old, primitive way.

The old family system was another relic of the old days. According to the speaker this system had its disadvantages as well as its advantages. While it was true that the Chinese made a fetish of family care, assuming the responsibility of orphans left by relatives and undertaking similar responsibilities, on the other hand a hardworking member of the family was often unfairly burdened with the support of the ne'er-do-well. Any raise in salary to a decent, hard - working man meant that hordes of impecunious relatives came to share in the increase.

DOCTRINES OF SAGES DEAD

While all these things still go on, one relic of the past which seems dead to-day, although it may live in the innermost hearts of the Chinese, is the doctrines of the sages. As an ethical standard of personal conduct the teaching of the sages is dead today, she declared. Once the standard of the "superior man" was the gauge of conduct, but to-day such ethics have been swept away by the rising tide of democracy, in the opinion of Miss Bowden-Smith.

Concerning her second point that Chinese civilization owes nothing to other civilizations, the speaker observed that while China had taken Buddhism from India, yet the real essence of Buddhism did not affect Chinese life or character. To this independence of other civilizations was largely attributable what Occidents often called "Chinese conceit." But this so-called conceit was really an innate inability to sympathize with, or even understood, what the principles and motives of other nations are.

Miss Bowden-Smith made a stirring appeal for help for the unfortunate victims of the recent devastating floods. "If you can say it of the dead that 'They rest from their labors and are blessed,' one can truly say it of the Chinese who perished in the recent disaster, for no other people on earth toil so ceaselessly, so patiently or so uncompalningly." It is an overwhelming thought that for the people in rural China there is nothing that makes life worth living. It only remains for us to do all we can to alleviate the mass of misery left behind, and to help rehabiliate them."

During her address, Miss Bowden-Smith gave some interesting vignettes of Chinese girls who had been students at her school achieving brilliant successes in the scholastic and scientific world.

Miss Alice Ravenhill gracefully thanked the speaker on behalf of the club, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, the president, supplementing the vote of thanks with a bouquet of autumn flowers.

A delightfully appropriate group of vocal numbers of Oriental flavor was given by Mrs. Scott-Burritt of Hollywood, Cal., who, seated at the piano, sang "The Prayer and Slumber Song of See Yin," two old Chinese poems set to music by Gertrude Ross; Liza Lehmann's setting of "As When The Tulip," from the Rubaiyat quatrain, and, as an encore, "Trees" (Rasbeck).

FATHER TOOK MISSING GIRL

Barrie, Ont., Sept. 18.—The mystery surrounding the kidnapping of Ruby Hamilton, thirteen-year-old schoolgirl of Torrance, Ont., has been solved. The mother of the child has informed the police she had received a letter from her husband, J. J. Hamilton, saying that he had taken the child.

A wide search was instituted by provincial police for the child after she had been picked up on the road at Torrance by two men and two women in a car on Tuesday.

GENERAL SYNOD HEARS WOMAN

For First Time in History W.A. President Addresses Anglican Session

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 18. — For the first time in the history of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada a woman's voice was heard yesterday from the platform at the deliberations of that body.

Mrs. M. Ferrabee, Montreal, president of the women's auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the church, was invited by Most Rev. C. L. Morrell, acting-primate and president of the general synod, to a seat on the platform. When the report of the Missionary Society was being presented, other members of the Dominion Board of the W.A. were honored with seats on the floor of the house.

Addressing the joint session of the upper and lower house, Mrs. Ferrabee declared the gauge of the spiritual and educational work of the W.A. was to be found in the finance department.

"We believe in prayer," she said. "We give as we pray and serve." She hoped there would be closer co-operation between the men and women of the church in the work of missions.

Pythian Sisters.—The Pythian Sisters of Island Temple met on Tuesday evening at Hatt's Hall, with Miss Lucy Bennallack, M.E.C., presiding, and a good attendance. Mrs. Dodd reported on the bazaar. Mrs. Mee resigned from the bazaar committee and Mrs. Haines was appointed to fill the vacancy. A series of progressive whist drives will be held during the winter months with scrip prizes. The first drive will be held on October 6. Mrs. Haines, 1209 Bazil Avenue, invited all Sisters to a social at her home next Wednesday evening. The holder of ticket 913 won the embroidered cloth.

YOUR BABY and MINE
by Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

TEETHING DISTURBANCES INCLUDE APPETITELESSNESS

When the teeth are about to be cut, most children show some disturbance. These take the form of appetitelessness, irritability, and excessive bowel activity. Some mothers complain that their babies have colds at teething time, and also a tendency toward rash.

Food should never be forced upon a child reluctant to accept it. Consequently, the mother has no choice except to offer less food and wait until the child's appetite is flourishing again and he demands more to eat.

LOST HIS APPETITE

Mrs. C.A.R. has a bouncing baby eight months old, weighing over twenty pounds. She writes: "Your articles have been most helpful to me ever since my boy arrived. He now weighs over twenty pounds and up until two weeks ago had a splendid appetite. His schedule is as follows:

"6 a.m.—Formula.

"9 a.m.—Cream of wheat and formula. Orange juice between 6 and 9 a.m.

"12 noon—Sieved carrots, spinach, beets, tomatoes, peas, or asparagus, plus a coddled egg yolk and his formula.

"3.30 p.m.—Formula.

"6 p.m.—Cream of wheat and formula.

"Then he has a sponge bath and clean clothes and sleeps until 6 a.m. the next morning. For the last two weeks he has been teething and he refuses his vegetables and egg. His stools are very loose. Outside of that, he feels fine. The first week he lost eight ounces and the doctor said this was caused by his failing to eat.

"What is your opinion, Mrs. Eldred? What shall I do about weaning him from the bottle? I gave him orange juice by cup, but he spilled more than he drank. Do you think five feedings a day too much? I feel that I have had so many valuable suggestions from your column. Please suggest any changes I can make now."

READY FOR FOUR MEALS

This big boy should be eating only four meals daily at 6-10-2-6. When the bowel disturbance is past, you may offer four bottles of whole milk without water or sugar. Right now continue the four bottles of formula. If he doesn't want egg or vegetables, do not force it. He'll enjoy it when his appetite returns and he won't have developed any antagonism toward the food or you by being urged to accept it when he doesn't want it.

If you offer only one tablespoon of liquid by cup until baby has learned to take that with ease and increase this amount slowly, you'll find the baby will learn this new way of drinking. Don't be discouraged if it is a slow process. If you would like my leaflets, "Diet for Child From Two to Twelve Months" and "Cup Feeding," you may have them if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Address your letter to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

To-morrow: "Every Object on Floor Fascinates Creeping Baby."

he of them is count Della Torre, or of Osservatore Romano, who has left the Vatican since the dispute started almost four months ago. An Italian detective stands outside the gate leading to his editorial offices night and day, presumably to arrest him as soon as he sets foot beyond the papal confines.

Della Tore, together with the Jesuit father, Rosa, is slated for dismissal by the Pope as a concession to the Italian Government's recognition of settlement of the controversy. The other voluntary prisoners are an officer of the Palatine Guards, who is said to have furnished the Pope with information for his speech against the head of the Fascist university group, and former heads of Catholic Action connected with the defunct Popular Party.

Winter Activities in Sport World Get Ready for Another Campaign

Lack of Competition Proving Serious Handicap to Tony Canzoneri

* * *

Baseball Magnates Will Slice Salaries of Their Stars Next Season

THE NEW winter sports season promises to be crowded with activities. Basketball, football, badminton and Canadian and English rugby squads are whipping into shape for another campaign. Good entry lists have been received by all the respective leagues and local fans are assured of plenty of keen competition during the next few months. One game that has proven exceedingly popular with Victorians is badminton. Introduced a couple of years ago as far as league competition is concerned, the sport has gone ahead in leaps and bounds and now every winter there are close to 100 clubs in operation in Victoria and district.

* * *

As a matter of fact badminton has become a major winter sport throughout Canada. The game is firmly established in every province and it is estimated expenditures for this sport will run into millions. Reports from the U.S. indicate that the game will be taken up seriously over there. Spaces in schools, halls, gymnasiums, churches, etc., will be rented in every part of every city for this game. In some of the larger cities spacious new and luxurious clubhouses are being built.

* * *

International matches, intercollegiate matches, interclub matches and interchurch matches will soon be under way, all of which will culminate in the late winter in one of Canada's largest sporting events, the Canadian badminton championships. This event attracts more entries than any other sporting activity. For the last two years the entry list has reached close to the 400 mark and this regardless of whether the event was held in Vancouver or Quebec. This game calls for special apparel, special equipment and varied accessories, but it has become very popular with everybody.

Tony Canzoneri's ranking as lightweight champion has proved the basis of a most tepid argument among boxing experts of to-day. Is he a fortunate young man who took on new life on stumbling into a division composed for the most part of washed-up fighters, or has the several pounds he has put on since his featherweight days given him strength and punch entitling him to classification with the greats who have led the lightweight parade in the past?

* * *

Little Jack Horner could have won the 135-pound title the evening Al Singer bowed out in one of the most disgraceful exhibitions in ring history, and since then Canzoneri has demonstrated nothing more than that he is champion of the British scrapper, Jack Berg. The debate leads nowhere, like a six-day bike race, for all agree there is no way for Tony to prove his real ability.

* * *

Experts see as his most dangerous threat Christopher Battalino, who has come ahead like a prairie fire during the last nine months. In that time the featherweight king has repelled three of his foremost challengers, Kid Chocolate, Fidel La Barba and Freddie Miller. Battalino is ambitious and growing, and already is shouting for a shot at his countryman. They may meet at New York this winter season. The lack of competition for Canzoneri is just another striking illustration of the shortage of good new talent in all classes. What makes this unusual is the fact that there are more working in gymnasiums to-day than ever before

One thing all baseball magnates have agreed on for 1932 is the reduction of payrolls by 25 per cent. This year they are paying out something like $3,000,000 in salaries. The big shots are due for a terrible slashing in the counting room. Fourteen well-known players in the majors this year are drawing a total amount of $405,000. Chances are that among these fourteen quite a saving will be accomplished.

* * *

The average salary of a big league ball players is about $7,500. That is the average, not the minimum. Quite a number are getting less than that amount. And these men will not be picked on by the owners. Following are a few of the fancy figures to be attacked:

Babe Ruth, Yankees	$80,000
Rogers Hornsby, Cubs	40,000
Hack Wilson, Cubs	35,000
Al Simmons, A's	30,000
Lefty Grove, A's	25,000
Mickey Cochrane, A's	25,000
George Earnshaw, A's	25,000
Lou Gehrig, Yankees	23,000
Dazzy Vance, Dodgers	23,000
Bill Terry, Giants	22,500
Jimmy Foxx, A's	20,000
Glen Wright, Dodgers	19,000
Wes Ferrell, Indians	18,000
Babe Herman, Dodgers	18,000

On the whole the baseball business has been good this season but the magnates are not taking any chances in the future.

Drought Period In Western Districts Has Worked Havoc

Federal Government Officials Announce Temporary Regulations With More Definite Solution to Come Following Negotiations Between Canada and United States; Stringent Laws Will Be Enforced to Protect Depleted Bird Life; New Seasons for Western Districts, Including B.C., Are Announced

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Sept. 18—Pending the completion of negotiations between Canada and United States for the protection of migratory bird life, temporary changes in the game regulations were announced here yesterday evening. Because of the prolonged drought period in the nesting areas of western Canada and United States, the situation, according to experts of the government, has become serious. Stringent regulations will be enforced to preserve bird life. The migratory habits of most of the birds will necessitate concerted action by Canada and United States to eventually reach a lasting solution. The regulations announced here yesterday evening are of a temporary nature and will lead to international action by the two countries.

Several provinces have agreed with the Dominion to reduce the hunting seasons and the bag limits in drastic fashion to conserve migratory bird life. The regulations set forth various open seasons for game birds in the different sections of the country. The shortest seasons will apply to western Canada but stringent regulations will apply from one end of the country to the other.

WESTERN CANADA SEASONS

Ducks, geese, brant, coots, British Columbia (eastern district, except the provincial electoral districts of Creston, Skeena, Atlin, Omineca and Fort George)—September 15 to December 31.

In the provincial electoral district of Creston, in the province of British Columbia—September 15 to November 30.

In the provincial electoral districts of Atlin, Omineca and Fort George, and that portion of the Skeena provincial electoral district situated and lying in the eastern district, in the Province of British Columbia—September 1 to December 15.

Black brant: In British Columbia (western district)—November 15 to February 28.

Band-tailed regions: In British Columbia—September 15 to October 15.

SCOTS' TEAM INTACT FOR RUGBY LOOP

Highlanders Will Use Almost Same Fifteen Which Won Title Last Year

Brian Hunnings Among New Players; Officers Elected For Season

Bob Travis's fighting Highlanders, winners of the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the senior city championship, and co-holders of British Columbia title honors, will be almost intact when they take the field in this year's senior rugby tussles, it was revealed at the 1931-32 season organization meeting in the Armories yesterday evening.

Travis was again elected manager and coach, with Fred Cabeldu, secretary of the local union, assistant coach. G. Warburton will be head linesman for the clan.

Jackie Bryden will again be the Scots' full-back, with Larry Kennedy acting as reserve for that position as well as being among the choices for wing three.

Jack Horne, Pete Turgoose, Bill Oliver and Bern Kinsman are other wings.

Reg Wenman, Larry Henderson and Brian Hunnings are inside three prospects, while the half and five-eighths division will be selected from Bill Pollard, Syd Normington and Harry Robson.

STRONG IN PACK

As usual the squad will be particularly strong in the pack. Bruce and Campbell Forbes, Ted May, Des Crofton, a new recruit, Cy Bernard, Bill Wharton, John Rowland, Pat Parr and Ted May are among the list of certain players during the year. If Godfrey Wenman returns to town he will be assured of a place. M. Lamb and Osman are other men who may hold down places in the scrum.

PLAYED TOGETHER

With these boys enjoying the advantage of having played together for the last two or three seasons, they are expected to have a big edge over other teams in the league. Last year the squad showed a better standard of combination play than it has ever done and before this season is well under way the militiamen are expected to be working like a well-oiled machine.

On paper they seem to be the strongest in the senior league, but they will no doubt have to show a high standard of rugby to overcome the challenge of other clubs.

R. H. LYONS IS PIN PRESIDENT

Veteran Bowler Elected Head of Senior City and Commercial Leagues

Delegates to the meeting of the Senior City and Commercial Tenpin Bowling Leagues at the Arcade Alleys yesterday evening, elected R. H. Lyons president of both loops. The complete slate of officers follows: Harry Maynard, honorary president; J. L. Tait, honorary vice-president; R. H. Lyons, president; H. Wollaston, vice-president; Frank Moore, secretary-treasurer.

Eight teams are expected to operate in the Commercial division and six in the Senior City section.

Plans for the season were discussed at the meeting, and arrangements were made for the opening of the two schedules.

ENTRIES CLOSE SEPTEMBER 30

All entries must be filed with the secretary before the end of the month, since league play will start on October 1.

It was suggested the local title winners should play-off with Nanaimo for the Island championship and then meet the Vancouver leaders in a provincial final. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the different leagues on the proposal.

8,000 On Hand To Welcome Brampton Excelsiors Home

Brampton, Ont., Sept. 18.—Vociferous congratulations were yesterday evening tended Brampton Excelsiors as they arrived home from their successful defence of the Mann Cup, Dominion lacrosse champions for another year.

Eight thousand ardent supporters, aided by seven bands, cheered themselves hoarse as the victors returned to their native town. A mile-long procession through the town ended in Cage Park, where Mayor George Akehurst congratulated the team and its officials, and extended a welcome. A street dance in which thousands participated ended the celebration.

LOS ANGELES NET TOURNEY DRAWS STARS

Ellsworth Vines and Mrs. Harper Top Seedings; Fred Perry Among Competitors

Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—Holders of twenty-three of the world's leading tennis titles gathered here to-day for the opening play of the fifth annual Pacific southwest tournament.

Four exhibition matches along with the first stages of the first round on the programme to be known as Pasadena Day, in honor of Ellsworth Vines, National men's singles champion, and Miss Ruby Bishop, national junior girls' singles champion.

Vines was seeded No. 1 among the American players in the men's singles, while Frederick Perry was accorded a similar position among the foreign entrants. Next to Vines stood George Lott, Chicago, the runner-up to the men's national championship with Johnny Van Ryn, East Orange, N.J., third, and Sidney Wood, New York and Pasadena, fourth.

MRS. HARPER FIRST

Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, No. 1 ranking player for 1930, was seeded No. 1 in the women's singles, with Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., second, and Mrs. John Van Ryn, nee Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Calif., third. Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco, Canadian singles, doubles and mixed doubles champion was listed fourth.

Other seedings announced were the junior boys' singles with Jack Lynch, Taft, Calif., first, and the junior girls' singles with Miss Boship No. 1.

Vines teams with Mrs. Van Ryn to play Perry and Mrs. Harper, and will play with Lott in a doubles match against Perry and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, for the feature attractions of the day.

Denny Shute Proves Too Good a 'Mudder' And Defeats Armour

Brilliant Young Golfer Glorifies in Rain to Eliminate Defending Champion From Professional Golfers' Association Tournament 3 and 1; Shute Cards Sensational 68 in Morning Round; Gene Sarazen Rallies to Triumph Over Horton Smith 5 and 4; Billy Burke Wins

Canadian Press

Providence, R.I., Sept. 18—It rained yesterday and Tommy Armour, this year's British open champion and defending titlist in the Professional Golfers' Association tournament, lost his thirty-six-hole quarter final match to Young Denny Shute of Hudson, Ohio.

Shute wants plenty of dampness when he is competing and the Wannamoisett course must have been just soggy enough to suit him, for he blazed along in such spectacular fashion that the "Black Scot" had to drop out at the thirty-fifth hole, where Denny had him topped by three holes.

Denny performed a similar feat two years ago, when he won the muddy Los Angeles open and moved south to capture the even sloppier Texas open.

Denny's ability as a mudder put him into a semi-final match with his Ryder Cup teammate, Billy Burke, this year's open champion, who handed Abe Espinosa a 5 and 3 setback.

SARAZEN RALLIES TO WIN

Gene Sarazen, twice a P.G.A. champion and runner-up to Armour last year, had to wage a stubborn, uphill fight against Horton Smith, Detroit, before he overcame the latter's early lead with a brilliant afternoon display of shot-making. Horton was 2 up when they quit for lunch, but Gene, with two wild streaks that gave him a total of eight of the second-round holes, was 5 up when the match ended on the thirty-second hole.

Sarazen will clash with the other successful youngster, Tom Creavy, Albany, N.Y., who put out Cyril Walker, Ridgewood, N.J., the 1924 open champion, by a 3 and 1 margin for a place in the semi-final bracket.

Shute's morning performance against Armour was the best round of golf played here this week. Denny clipped two off the outward nine's par of 35 and was 4 up on Tommy at the turn. The latter then spurted and played five of the next six holes in 3s, getting birdies on the tenth, thirteenth and fourteenth, but all this streak gave him was two holes, the thirteenth and fourteenth, where Denny was forced to use two putts for par 4s.

SCORES CARD OF 68

Denny galloped in for lunch with a 68, the lowest round of the week. Armour, with a par 70, was 2 down. Shute needed only a pair of par 4s for a 66, but he three-putted the seventeenth for a 6.

The course outward was much drier when Shute drove off to start the afternoon round. He used up thirty-eight blows going to the twenty-seventh, but managed to hold his lead.

There must have been a wet stretch coming back, for Denny started back with a 3 on the twenty-eighth, another on the thirtieth, where Armour snared a birdie 2, and a third on the next hole.

Fred Lenhart And Belanger to Meet

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 18.—After a week of dickering and hurling challenges, Charlie Belanger and Fred Lenhart, heavyweights, are signed up for a fifteen-round bout here September 25. Lenhart has agreed to stake the diamond-studded belt he holds as champion of the Pacific Coast, and local promoters have guaranteed a substantial purse.

Marvin Hart, Holder Of Heavyweight Title Back In 1905, Passes

Fighter Who Received Championship as a Gift Fro Jim Jeffries Dies After Lengthy Illness; He Crown for Eight Months and Benefited Only $10,0 by Honor; Was Beaten by Tommy Burns in 1906 Los Angeles; Refereed Bouts in Louisville Until H Health Failed Last Year

Canadian Press

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18—Marvin Hart, fifty-five, holder the heavyweight championship of the world in 1905, died at home at Fern Creek, a suburb, yesterday. High blood pressu and complications had left him almost helpless since last D cember.

After giving up boxing he had lived quietly with his wi at his Fern Creek home, coming to Louisville to referee week bouts until his health failed last year.

Hart was heavyweight champion of the world in the lean pugilistic days following the retirement of Jim Jeffries and just before the "white hope" era that finally produced Jesse Willard and Jack Dempsey.

He held the title eight months and estimated that it netted him only about $10,000.

"I was born twenty years too soon," he philosophized.

Hart won the crown aas a gift from Jeffries when the retiring champion refereed a bout at Reno, Nev., July 3, 1905. The contender was Jack Root, Chicago, who succumbed to a knockout in the twelfth round of a fight scheduled for twenty stanzas.

HART LOST TO BURNS

Root was small compared to Hart's six feet and 195 pounds, but he was bigger than Tommy Burns, who dethroned Hart on February 23, 1906, at Los Angeles. That fight went twenty rounds and Hart lost the decision.

"Imagine losing the heavyweight championship of the world on a decision," Hart exclaimed disgustedly as he left the ring.

He always claimed that he did not receive a square deal in this contest. Burns carried the title across the Pacific and lost it in Australia to Jack Johnson, the big negro, who defended it against Jeffries's attempted comeback and finally relinquished it in Havana to Willard.

Hart was born September 16, 1876, in a farming community near Fern Creek, Ky. His parents were of German stock. He attended the grade schools in Louisville and then learned the plumbing trade.

His ability as a fighter was frequently shown in school days, but it was something of an accident that made a prizefighter out of the young plumber. His interest in the game was aroused when he acted as second to a Louisville youth who engaged in a grudge fight with another young man.

Shortly afterwards Hart was elected to fight "Big Bill" Schiller, a local celebrity in Louisville, whom none of the other ring aspirants of the city would tackle. They were matched for a finish and Hart cut down "Big Bill" with a knockout in the sixth. Hart was twenty-one then and immediately became a hero in Louisville fight circles.

KNOCKED OUT ONCE

In his entire career Hart was knocked out only once and that happened when Billy Hanrahan landed a first-round haymaker in a fight at Milwaukee in 1901. Hanrahan's record before and after that bout was not impressive and Hart was generally believed when he said the knockout was an accident.

The Kentuckian won his way into the front rank of heavyweight contenders when he took a decision over Jack Johnson after twenty rounds at San Francisco on March 28, 1905. Johnson was three inches taller than Hart and he told friends of his opponent afterwards that "that little fellow Hart gave me the toughest fight of my life."

About three months later Hart was facing Root at Reno. The crowd numbered only about 6,000, but it was an enthusiastic bunch of fight fans and it gave Hart a big hand when he put over the finishing punch in the twelfth. When the victor entrained for home that night, a band led him to the station playing "My Old Kentucky Home" and another aggregation of drums and horns met him when he arrived at Louisville as king of the heavyweights.

Hart capitalized on his victory by touring the country with a road show. Then he took on Burns and was badly beaten.

"I could'nt have caught Burns with a bicycle after the first few rounds," he related afterwards and he made charges of unfair tactics which did not, however, command serious attention.

WAS EFFICIENT REFEREE

With his prestige gone, Hart retired to a small cottage near his birthplace where he farmed, hunted and fished His only connection with the prize ring was as a referee and he made a reputation as an efficient "third man" in the ring after the Perry-Bryson bill had legalized boxing in Kentucky in 1920.

The former champion had to give up refereeing in December, 1930, when he became ill after supervising a bout in Louisville. His physician ordered him to bed, pronouncing his ailments liver trouble and high blood pressure.

Hart married Miss Florence Ziegler of the Fern Creek community in September, 1902. There were no children.

Rich Belmont Futurity Will Be Run To-morrow

Classy Field Will Prance To Barrier In $125,000 Event

Forty-second Running of Classic Has Drawn Cream of Two-year-olds; C. V. Whitney's Top Flight, Unbeaten Filly, Will Go to Post Favorite; Twenty or More Colts and Fillies Will Face Starter George Cassidy; Tick On, Winner of Saratoga Hopeful, Rated Serious Threat

Canadian Press

New York, Sept. 18—Lured by one of the richest purses in the history, twenty or more of the country's leading two-year-olds are expected to start in the forty-second runing of the $125,000 Futurity at Belmont Park to-morrow.

When the late Harry Payne Whitney's Whichome outstepped a field of seventeen in 1929, $105,730 of the total purse of $130,000 went to the master of the Eton blue and brown capped silks. To-morrow's renewal may not be as rich as that record-breaking purse of two years ago but the owner of the colt or filly that leads the field down the widener straightaway is in line to receive more than $100,000.

Another Whitney youngster will face Starter George Cassidy as the favorite. Top Flight, an unbeaten fill racing for C. V. Whitney, stands out as the one to beat.

WON SIX STRAIGHT

She has won six consecutive races, all by wide margins, but faces no easy task to-morrow. In the field slated to get under way about 11.30 o'clock, Victoria time, are at least a half dozen colts of championship calibre. Should the Whitney ace fail, the stable will still have a speedy performer in Mad Frump.

Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman's Tick On, winner of the Hopeful at Saratoga, is almost sure to go to the post as one of the well played choices, while Victor Emanuel's Morfair apparently has returned to his early season form.

W. R. Coe probably will send the largest entry to the post. He has four colts and fillies eligible in Osculator, Polonaise, Pompeius and Masked Knight. The Greentree stable also rates high with Curacao and Semaphore.

YOUNG BOXER GIVES FIELDS A REAL BEATING

Young Terry Batters Former Middleweight Champ Around New York Ring

New York, Sept. 18. — Jackie Fields, Los Angeles, has run a serious setback right at the start of his projected campaign to add the middleweight championship to the welterweight title he once held, and Young Terry, the husky youngster from Trenton, N.J., is one step nearer title contenders hip in the same class.

Facing Terry in his first bout since he broken a hand last January, Fields put an artistic walloping for seven rounds at Madison Square Garden yesterday evening, and only a late rally saved him from being completely overwhelmed. Scaling 150 pounds, Fields outweighed 3½ pounds.

Another Trenton battler, Paulie Walker, showed about as much promise in the semi-final as Terry did in the main bout. It took Walker just one roundup to dispose of Vincent Hamilton, Cincinnati welterweight. After sent to the floor himself right at the bell, Walker got up, feinted Hamilton into position and knocked him out with a stinging left hook a minute and twenty-one seconds after the bell started.

FIELDS'S EYE

Terry, a bulldog youngster, broad, powerful and aggressive, slammed Fields all over the premises for two rounds, opening a cut over the former welterweight's left eye and shaking him up several times with left hooks and right rights to the jaw.

Fields managed to stave the rugged Terry off in the third round, but he came on again to hammer Fields through the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh rounds.

Fields with a decisive defeat just ahead rallied, sweeping in close to rip Terry's head with inside lefts and rights, to outbox and outpoint his powerful foeman through the next few rounds. Terry rallied in the end however, caught the former welterweight cornered in a corner and had him groggy and dizzy at the final bell.

Jack Dempsey Sets New Crowd Record For State of Idaho

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 18.—Jack Dempsey battled and carried five opponents through seven rounds of boxing yesterday evening to win the Idaho State championship for gathering crowds.

Dempsey laid away Jack Smith of Oklahoma in fifty-seven seconds. Lewis O'Teri, San Jose, Calif., stayed two rounds, as did Battling Lamoreau, Preston, Ida. Hank Potter, St. Anthony, lasted one round by virtue of Dempsey lifting him off his knees as the bell rang.

Mickey McAfferty, only 140 pounds, Pocatello, Idaho, came back into the ring for one round with the former world champion, after having disposed of Art Palmer of Salt Lake City, by a technical knockout in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Spend $250,000 On Erection of Arena

New York, Sept. 18.—A permanent arena for outdoor boxing, to be located in Jersey City, is planned by the Madison Square Garden Corporation. The arena would eliminate the use of unsatisfactory baseball parks for the big out door fights.

It is to be a wooden bowl, seating about 70,000. The estimated cost is $250,000. The Garden hopes to begin construction next spring.

Watching the Majors

Batting races got no tighter than the three-cornered fight now on between Billy Terry, Jim Bottomley and Chuck Klein for the National League title. The three sluggers were in a deadlock to-day, each with an average of .342, and Chick Hafey, Bottomley's teammate on the Cards, threatened to make it a foursome. He had a .340 mark. Terry held what he had yesterday by collecting two hits in five trips, while Bottomley lost two points and Klein one to make matters all square. Babe Ruth gained a point on Al Simmons in the American League by belting four hits, including his forty-first and forty-second home runs, against the Browns.

COLLEGE LOSES MANY OF STAR RUGBY PLAYERS

Will Have to Draw on Freshman Class to Fill Out Intermediate Team

Unless more of the old guard returns to Victoria College with late registrations, the Craigdarroch rugby team, holders of the city and provincial intermediate championships, may have considerable difficulty in lining up a squad equal to those which have held the British Columbia title in Victoria for the last three or four years.

In all probability Bill Crothall, Archie Miller, Bob Mabee and possibly "Chuck" Copeland will again don the blue and gold uniforms, but the squad will be without Roddy McInnis, captain and full-back last year; Ted Robinson, Paddy Walton, Jimmy Moyes and Ralph Seivers. It is not known yet whether or not Bill Boorman will put in another season with the collegians.

To offset this exodus, the students will depend largely on the recruits they secured from the grade schools.

OUTSTANDING RECRUIT

Lynn Patrick, outstanding athlete of Victoria High, will be among the best the school will draw from the freshman class. Patrick was considered one of the three best men on last year's Vic High fifteen and should doubtless prove a big acquisition to the blue and gold three-quarter line.

Wesley "Nelly" Nelson, who played for the school five years ago, is again registered and should gain a place in the backfield. Waldo Skillings, another man who is returning to the school after a few years in the teaching game, is another possibility.

OTHER PROSPECTS

Gordie Thorpe, George Fyke, George Dickson and Ken Luttrell are among the other lads coming up from Victoria High who may make the team.

Ridgeway Wilson and Bob Carey are two other boys who played on last year's Craigdarroch squad who might be on the line-up again.

Len Nicholls, sprinter and broad jumper, should be able to lend considerable speed to the team if he can be induced to take up the game.

In the other branches of sport, Eleanor Peden is expected to shine in the girls' division, particularly in the swimming and grass hockey lines. Alex. Marling should be able to select a fair golf team from the student body, and Cliff Margison may be able to assist in the formation of a tennis club.

Judging from the array of speedsters included in the rugby team prospects, the College should be able to form a track squad if it desires to.

As far as coaching is concerned, it is understood the institution will attempt to secure the services of Gil McIlmoyl, University of British Columbia leader in the game. "Mac" formerly played on the College fifteen and was one of the best five-eighths the school has known. His knowledge of the game should be of material value in building up this year's team, if he is able to take on the job of looking after the boys. Essen Young, husky College and U.B.C. forward, may also assist in the coaching duties.

Fighters Thrown Out of Ring For Stalling Tactics

San Rafael, Calif., Sept. 18.—Vernon Jackson, Los Angeles negro, and Sidney Keenan, Australia, were thrown out of the ring here yesterday evening in the main event of a fight programme when Referee Toby Irwin held they were stalling. They were scheduled for ten rounds and fought five. The management announced their purses would be held up. They are middle weights.

Earl Webb Breaks Major League Mark For Two-base Hits

Crack Right-fielder of Boston Sox Crashes Sixty-fifth Double to Shatter Former Record Set by George Burns in 1926; Sox Split Twin Bill With Cleveland; Yankees Climb on to Even Terms With Washington in second-berth Fight; Ruth Hits Pair of Homers

The Boston Red Sox are giving the home-town fans something to talk about in the waning days of the 1931 campaign. First, they pulled out of the American League cellar two days ago, and then, yesterday, one of their number set up a brand new record of two-baggers in a season.

When Earl Webb, crack right-fielder, hit his sixty-fifth double off Jablonoswski, Cleveland, in the second half of a doubleheader, he passed the all-time mark of sixty-four set in 1926 by George Burns, Cleveland first baseman. He had tied the former record in the first game.

In his successful effort to pass Burns's mark, Webb has been a two-base specialist in recent weeks, stretching every possible hit to the middle cushion and going past that bag for nothing less than a home run. He has made only three triples all season, but has fourteen home runs to his credit.

Webb's first double of the day helped the Sox beat Cleveland, 9 to 2, in the opener; but his record breaker could not avert a 2 to 1 defeat in the nightcap. Johnny Hodapp's single in the ninth with the bases full gave the Indians the winning run off Milt Gaston.

YANKS CLIMB INTO TIE

The New York Yankees and Washington Senators, meanwhile, became involved in a hot fight for second place in the American League, the Yanks climbing into a tie for the coveted position by beating St. Louis twice, while Washington was dropping its opener to Detroit.

Charlie Ruffing and Bill Dickey costarred to give the Yanks a 17 to 0 victory in their first game, Ruffing allowing nine well spaced hits and Dickey leading the offence with a pair of home runs that drove in seven. Vernon Gomez, rookie left hander, yielded only three hits in the nightcap, and this time Babe Ruth crashed a pair of homers, his forty-first and forty-second of the year, to give the Yankees a 6 to 1 victory.

Art Herring pitched Detroit to a 3 to 1 win over the Senators, blanking them until the ninth inning.

Chicago and Brooklyn locked horns in the day's feature bout in the National League, the Cubs finally pushing across the winning run in the last of the ninth after the Robins had scored twice to tie it in their half. The score was 4 to 3.

The veteran Tom Zachary allowed only five hits as the Boston Braves downed Pittsburgh, 1 to 0, in the first game of a twin bill, but the Pirates came back to take the second, 4 to 2, behind Glenn Spencer.

GIANTS BEAT CARDS

No less a star than Paul Derringer was knocked from the hill as the New York Giants inaugurated their final series at St. Louis with a 7 to 2 victory. Melott supplied the money punch in the fifth inning, his twenty-ninth home run of the year with two on base.

The Phils broke a ten-game losing streak when they beat Cincinnati, 8 to 3.

JURY FINDS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Traffic Mishap Which Took Life of Lloyd Edgelow Described

Car Driven By R. D. Hall Was Proceeding at Moderate Rate, Coroner's Jury Told

Little Lloyd Edgelow, three-and-one-half-year-old son of Vernon Edgelow, 1607 Collinson Street, dashed across the path of one car into that of another, meeting his death on Cook Street Tuesday afternoon. It was revealed at the coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon when a verdict of accidental death was brought in by the jury.

Running from one side of the street to the other, the lad unfortunately chose a moment when an automobile was approaching in each direction, one from the south and another from the north. The driver of the southbound car saw him but the one in the northbound car did not until a second before the accident.

Mrs. Catherine Fairbairn, driver of the southbound car on the west side of the street, related how the tot, traveling as fast as his little legs would carry him, passed barely twenty feet in front of her car, over the street car tracks, and directly in front of the northbound car on the east side, driven by Robert D. Hall of Trail, B.C. The lad was struck by the latter car and died within a few minutes.

NOT GOING FAST

Mrs. Fairbairn told the jury the car driven by Mr. Hall could not have been going more than twenty miles an hour. As the lad was struck he fell and the car body, but not the wheels, passed over him.

In the northbound auto, with Mr. Hall at the wheel, the youngster was unseen until a few seconds before he met his death. Mr. Hall described the occurrence as follows:

"I was traveling north on Cook Street about twenty miles an hour. As I approached the intersection of Collinson Street I looked in both directions and saw nothing. After passing the corner I looked straight ahead again and there was no one in sight.

FRIEND'S WARNING

"To my nearest recollections, I heard one of my friends in the car say, 'Look out,' and in that instant I saw a blue form just off the left front wheel. I applied the brakes and turned toward the curb, stopping immediately. When we got out we found the child lying behind the car."

Mr. Hall said his car was in perfect shape. It was a late model Ford sedan. He had five years of driving experience.

This story was corroborated by Norman and Geoffrey D'Arcy, 77 Moss Street, both of whom were sitting with him in the front seat.

"I noticed the boy start across the street as we got to the intersection I was going to speak, but thought the driver saw him and checked myself. Then as the child continued across the street I spoke to the driver at the same time as my brother," Geoffrey D'Arcy testified.

PICKED UP CHILD

He also told how he got out of the car, ran to the back and found the child lying a few feet from the rear of the car. He picked him up and took him to the home of Dr. J. L. Thompson, 601 Cook Street, where a doctor and the police were called. He estimated the speed of Mr. Hall's car at between fifteen and seventeen miles an hour.

"When I first saw Lloyd he was in the centre of the street and running as hard as he could go with his gaze toward the opposite side," he added.

Norman D'Arcy also said he had spoken to draw the driver's attention to the child but his warning came too late.

NORTH OF INTERSECTION

The place where the boy was struck was thirty feet ten inches north of the intersection of Collinson Street on the east side of Cook and ten feet out from the curb, Constable John Blackstock testified. The accident happened on a clear night, the road being dry and the light good at the time, just before 6 o'clock.

Dr. D. M. Baillie said the lad died of severe internal injuries, apparently from being crushed. He expired just as the doctor arrived at the home of Dr. Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson told how Norman and Geoffrey D'Arcy with Mr. Hall and Mrs. Fairbairn had brought the lad to her home and she bathed him until the doctor arrived and his mother was called. Her little girl knew the boy.

Identification evidence was tendered by Mr. Edgelow, the father.

CORONER'S CHARGE

The jury deliberated only a short while before returning its verdict. They were instructed by Coroner E. C. Hart of two possible verdicts, accidental death or manslaughter. It would be necessary to show carelessness on the part of the driver for a verdict of manslaughter, he said, stating the only unusual facts about the case were that three people were riding in the front seat of the car and the question of whether the driver kept a proper lookout on the street. Evidence had been given that he did exercise caution at the intersection and the accident happened after he had passed the intersection, when anyone would have considered it reasonably safe.

Denies He Said He Bought Drinks

In a statement to The Times to-day, Thomas Greenwell, witness in the case against Grace Davis in Provincial Police Court for alleged liquor sale at the Chanticleer Inn, denied he had testified on the stand that he purchased liquor at the place.

Mr. Greenwell said while he admitted having gone to the place and having had drinks, he did not say he paid for them or that he had seen any money pass, and to this extent did not corroborate the evidence of another witness in the case.

Announcements

DIED

ATKINSON—On Thursday, Sept. 17, at the family residence, 1001 Richardson Street, David William Atkinson, aged fifty-nine years. The late Mr. Atkinson was born in Ireland and had resided here for twenty years. He is mourned by Mrs. Atkinson and one daughter, Mrs. W. Lucas of Bremerton, Wash., and three sons, Dynes of Superior Street, Thomas of 194 Gorge Road West, and Ernest at home.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros.' Funeral Home. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

DARBYSHIRE—There passed away on September 17, at the family residence, 924 Selkirk Avenue, John Darbyshire, aged fifty-six years. Born in Lancashire, England, he had resided in this city for twenty years. There survive his widow, one son, Kenneth Darbyshire, at home, and two brothers and one sister in England. Mr. Darbyshire was a member of Camosun Lodge, No. 60, A.F. & A.M., under whose auspices the funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel. The remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

CARD OF THANKS

John Brown and Family of Cranwish to thank Dr. and Mrs. Rush and the staff of Lady Minto Hospital, Ganges, for their kindness, and also the many friends for their sympathy and floral tributes sent in their recent bereavement.

LACK OF VITAMINS AFFECTS REPRODUCTION PROCESS

* * * * * *

Vitamin E Found in Seeds of Vegetable Origin

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

One of the most complicated processes of which we have any knowledge is the process of reproduction. It is known that deficiencies of any of the vitamins act adversely toward this process. However, one substance has been shown by Evans and Bishop to exist in foods and to be specifically concerned with the promotion of fertility. This is fat soluble vitamin E, abundant in certain seeds of vegetable origin, such as the oil of wheat embryos.

A deficiency of vitamin A interferes seriously with reproduction, but the interference is not the type which results from a deficiency of vitamin E. A deficiency of vitamin A may prevent the formation of the female egg cell or prevent fertilization of that cell by the male cell on implantation of that cell in the uterus, but a deficiency of vitamin E results in destruction of the implanted cell, which is a specific type of interference with reproduction.

Vitamin E is found in many tissues of the body, such as the muscles, the fat, the pancreas, the spleen, the liver and the heart. It is less abundant in liver than in muscle. It is found in the seeds and green leaves of plants and in shellfish.

Deficiencies of vitamin E in the female result in interference with her function of reproduction, where as deficiency in the male seems to result in actual degenerative changes in the sex organ.

It has been thought possible that vitamin E is concerned with other functions of the body, perhaps particularly with certain blood building characteristics, but upon these subjects much investigation is going forward. It must be realized that the first announcement of the possibility of this vitamin came in 1923, and that much remains to be learned beyond what has been learned in these few years.

TOO MUCH GAS IN STOMACH

A Little Bisurated Magnesia After Meals Gives Instant Relief

People who have stomach trouble, who are always full of gas after eating and who suffer from bloating, sourness, heartburn and indigestion should try taking a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and note results.

Gas and wind in the stomach are almost certain indications of the presence of "too much acid" and Bisurated Magnesia will instantly neutralize or dissolve this acid, stop the sourness and fermentation and drive the gas and bloat right out of the body. Relief is almost immediate.

Bisurated Magnesia is obtainable from reliable druggists everywhere in sealed packages of either powder or tablets. Do not confuse with milk, citrate or lump Magnesia. Bisurated Magnesia is especially prepared for stomach troubles, is harmless and inexpensive, is not a laxative and is used regularly by thousands of people who enjoy their means with no more fear of indigestion. BACK PLAN FOR BEAUTIFICATION

Canadian Legion Local Council Favors Work on Memorial Avenue

Endorsation of the beautification scheme for Memorial Avenue was given by the District Council of the Canadian Legion at a special meeting in the Pro Patria Branch yesterday evening.

The Legion's support was couched in the following resolution:

"That the Memorial Avenue scheme be made part and parcel of a permanent plan for perpetual upkeep under Greater Victoria Beautification Commission, and that the whole of the avenue be officially named Memorial Avenue."

Earl Jellicoe expressed his regret at being unable to come to Victoria on his recent visit to Canada, in a letter from his aide-de-camp to the local council. He hoped to be able to come to Victoria next time, he said. Earl Jellicoe congratulated the Legion for the valuable work it was doing in the west and expressed the hope that when the present economic depression passed the branch would be able to extend its operations.

LETTERS OF THANKS

Letters of appreciation were read from the Governor-General of Canada in reply to the Legion's congratulations on the birth of a son, and from Lieutenant-Governor Johnson in answer to felicitations on his appointment to the office.

UNEMPLOYED VETERANS

W. G. Stone, zone representative on the Provincial Command, reported that the recommendations on unemployment submitted by Victoria, through the council, were endorsed by the Provincial Command and sent to Niagara Falls for consideration by the national committee.

Registrations of unemployed veterans fit for work in the city of Victoria amounted to 300, it was reported.

DIVIDEND REDUCED

ALL-CANADIAN CHOIR TO SING HERE THIS EVENING

Victorians will have an opportunity to hear "Les Voyageurs," all-Canadian choir organized in Vancouver, for the first time in the Shrine Auditorium this evening. The choral society, formed four years ago, has made rapid progress and has won high praise from General Victor Odlum, C. S. Maharg, superintendent of the C.P.R., and other well-known figures in British Columbia. It is financed by a number of Vancouver patrons who have watched it rise from its babyhood to its present place as an organization of unusual talent and merit.

THE MODERN MAN BURNS HIMSELF UP

Excepting trained athletes, we moderns are puny creatures compared with our forefathers. Even athletes soon burn out eating acid-forming foods, the great cause of modern physical inferiority. From 32 to 50 Dr. Jackson was one of the unfit. At 50 Dr. Osler gave him four months to live, dying from acid-forming foods. He then invented alkali-forming Roman Meal. Before that he had lived on the ground floor, unable to climb stairs. Four years afterwards he climbed the fifty storeys in Washington's Monument, up and down, solely due to the alkalinizing properties in Roman Meal. In September, 1928, when seventy, he ran five miles in forty-five minutes—was not even winded; again due to Roman Meal. Write for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofysub, the new alkaline beverage, to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 507 Vine Ave., Toronto 9, Ont. (Advt.)

CO-OPERATION BY BARBERS IS URGED

James C. Shanessy, Chief of Barbers, Speaks at Meeting; Catches Big Fish

Co-operation of all in the barbering and hairdressing profession to maintain standards, was urged by James C. Shanessy, Indianapolis, president of the International Journeyman Barbers' Union, before a general meeting of union and non-union operators at the Labor Hall yesterday evening.

"There was never a time when the clean officials of the country and organizations needed more co-operation than now," Mr. Shanessy said.

He paid tribute to the work of local barbering officials, naming James Green and George Turner, secretary and president respectively, and to C. E. Herrett, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver local and of the provincial organization.

Mr. Shanessy declared the hairdressing union has lost fewer members during the present period of depression than any other international union.

Mr. Herrett also spoke, urging all hairdressers to enter the union.

President Turner presided.

A feature of Mr. Shanessy's visit here this week was the fishing expedition for big salmon. On Thursday he went aboard the yacht Reliance under Capt. John Danes. They spent all day cruising the waters of Saanich Arm and hooked seven big fish before they returned to Brentwood.

Mr. Shanessy also during the visit was guest speaker before a meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

LONG BEACH IS CHOSEN BY TYPOS FOR CONVENTION

Union Refuses to Empower Executive Council to Abrogate Agreements

Boston, Sept. 18.—The International Typographical Union yesterday voted to hold its 1932 convention at Long Beach, Calif., choosing the Pacific city in a second vote after a three-cornered deadlock in which Washington, D.C., led Long Beach and Asheville, N.C., but lacked the necessary majority.

The convention delegates approved the resolution committee's adverse report on a resolution which woudl empower the executive council and president to abrogate union agreements on any or all newspapers of a chain which had a strike or lockout at any of its units.

In response to a charge no organization efforts are being made in many sections of the country, President Charles P. Howard said assistance of the general body never was refused any local union that was willing to initiate the organization work and willing to give assistance to the general officer sent to aid them.

Resolutions calling for an investigation into the funds invested by the union and the changing of investments from securities to real estate were rejected after much discussion.

Jimmy Britt Wins From Joe Cortez

Tacoma, Sept. 18.—Jimmy Britt, Tacoma, shaded Joe Cortes, Boise Indian, in the six-round main event of the ring programme here yesterday evening. The scrap was hard fought, fairly even with Britt pulling ahead in the final round.

Britt weighed 149¼ pounds and Cortez 150½.

Neil Kilbane, Tacoma middleweight, knocked out Frankie Jones, Seattle, in the second round, and Petie Miller, Tacoma lightweight, stopped Vern Butler, Minneapolis, in the second. Both bouts were scheduled for four.

Harold Haynes In Semi-finals Of Jasper Golf

Jasper Park Lodge, Sept. 18.—Elimination of Jack Starkey, Edmonton medalist, from the championship flight of the Silver Totem Pole golf tourney here yesterday morning, provided the feature of the day. Leslie Bell, Calgary, proved much too steady throughout the match and put the Edmonton star out of the running on the seventeenth green.

Phil Shaffer, Chicago, only remaining United States player, won from King, Vancouver, on the eighteenth green. In the lower bracket Ben Coole, Calgary, had the better of A. P. Foster, Vancouver, and won 3 and 2, and in a British Columbia battle, Harold Haynes, Victoria, won from Mac O'Neill, Vancouver, 2 up.

Championship results follow:

Kelly, Calgary, beat Starkey, Edmonton, 2-1; Shaffer, Chicago, beat King, Vancouver, 1 up; Coole, Calgary, beat Foster, Vancouver, 3-2; H. Haynes, Victoria, beat O'Neill, Vancouver, 2 up.

ALLEGED U.S. FARM BOARD PROCRASTINATES

Northwest Grain Men Resent Rejection of Plan to Ameliorate Wheat Growers' Plight

Washington, D.C., Sept. 18.—A charge that the Farm Board would wait indefinitely for a perfect solution of the wheat surplus problem while the wheat farmer perishes was made yesterday by a group of Pacific Northwest grain men.

The group, headed by Representatives Summers, Republican, Washington, yesterday was notified the board rejected their proposed "Walla Walla" plan for disposal of surplus wheat and the reduction of acreage next year.

"The board will wait indefinitely for the perfect plan while the wheat farmer perishes under surplus production," the group said in a statement before departing for home. "The board offers no concrete plan to accomplish the thing they say must be done."

The "Walla Walla" suggestion for increasing prices and reducing surpluses contemplated sale of wheat controlled by the board to farmers upon signing of contracts not to plant next year an amount equal to the purchases. Approximately 190,000,000 bushels remain in the board's wheat bin.

Acting Chairman Denman wrote Summers the plan was impractical and beyond the scope of the board's authority.

Borah Boom For President Falls Flat

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, D.C., Sept. 18.—A presidential boom for Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, recalcitrant Republican, lasted one day. Last week Mr. Borah, who is chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate and the best-known senator outside as well as in the United States, came out with a proposition for a five-year armament holiday.

Simultaneously Senator Smith Wildman Brookheart of Iowa, another Republican insurgent, much more insurgent than Senator Borah, sent up a little trial balloon suggesting Borah as the Republican candidate in place of a "stand pat" leader.

As with one voice the press disposed of the Borah boom, pointing out that in every campaign since he entered the Senate he has been looked upon as a possible candidate and has never been one.

In the last campaign Senator Borah did some stalwart work for Mr. Herbert Hoover. When the Progressives held their convention in Washington several months ago Senator Borah made an old-time speech, giving the "interests" a very low rating. However, it has usually been found the senator from Idaho at the last has rallied to party regularity and in the present situation, admittedly dangerous for the Republicans, there seems no reason to suppose he would seek almost certain defeat and break the solidarity of the Republicans by opposing Mr. Hoover.

Senator Borah's suggestion for a five-year armament holiday is looked upon by those who know him best as a sincere gesture not calculated with the possibility in mind of becoming a candidate for the presidency.

APPEALS FOR KIDDIES' SHOES

Emergency Cases Hold Attention of Unemployed Fund Committee

"The Victoria Citizens' Unemployed Fund committee wishes to express thanks to the citizens who have responded to the appeals for special cases. The sick child and shoeless tot have been provided for, the former has warm blankets and the latter is wearing real new shoes, a representative said to-day.

"But there are seven children in the family for whom blankets were asked, six are without proper covering, and six more pairs are urgently needed. There is a regiment of children without proper footwear and many cases of insufficient bedding are known.

"Two or three cheques earmarked for boots and blankets have been received, and we would welcome more for the immediate assistance of emergency cases. At the same time a fund for winter relief must be procured and we urge all citizens to accept their share of responsibility and send donations without delay.

"Contributions should be sent to campaign headquarters, View and Broad Streets, telephone G 1725 or to the city clerk, E. C. Smith, City Hall."

ISLAND MINES PRODUCED LESS

Coal Output Fell in August, Mines Department Reports

A reduction of over 10,000 tons marked the August production of the local mines of Vancouver Island, according to tabulations released by the Provincial Department of Mines. The August output for the province totaled 121,864 tons, or 5,559 tons below the total of 127,423 tons mined in August last year.

The Island mines only produced 56,250 tons, compared with 66,484 tons, although South Wellington No. 5 mine increased production from 5,240 tons to 7,425 tons.

The Nicola-Princeton total was 11,417 tons and the East Kootenay mines delivered 54,197 tons.

The Coal Creek and Michel collieries produced 5,761 tons of coke in August.

Court Orders Foreclosure For Alberni Hotel

Final stages in the long-protracted legal contest over the New Beaufort Hotel, Port Alberni, moved into its final stages to-day when Gordon A. Cameron, counsel for Mrs. Margaret Stewart, third in the line of vendors of the property, was granted a foreclosure order by Chief Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court.

The order was issued against Joseph Cranor and the Beaufort Hotel Company Ltd., and William Kirkwood.

Mr. Cameron told the court that Mrs. Stewart had an equity of $15,000 owing her.

After a number of legal moves during the summer, Mrs. Stewart succeeded in getting an order from the court to have the restaurant closed on the grounds that it was losing money and that persons were eating there without paying.

The Chief Justice said he would give the defendants a period of six weeks as a redemption period in case they could make good or raise the necessary money.

Opening Meeting Of St. Barnabas A.Y.P.A. Is Held

The first meeting of the year of the St. Barnabas A.Y.P.A. was held in the schoolroom Wednesday evening. Officers elected for the coming year were: President, Velda Holland; vice-president, Kathleen Abbott; secretary, Lepel Phipps; treasurer, Lydia Clarke; news reporters, Edna Lanigan and George Lanigan; local council representative, Edna Lanigan.

The club decided to hold its meetings every Tuesday at 8 o'clock, instead of the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month.

An opening social will be held on Wednesday, September 30, for members and their friends. The committee in charge is Edna Lanigan and Wilfred Willson.

A programme for the coming year will be drawn up at the meeting on Tuesday next. It is hoped that all members will be present.

Canada, All-important Link, Has Great Future In Air, Says MacBrien

Routes Between U.S. and Europe and Asia Are Through Dominion

Aviation League Head Tells Canadian Club of Prospects For Canada

Canada, as the all-important link between the United States and Europe on the east and the Orient on the west, was assured of a bright future in the air if the Dominion and Provincial governments, as well as the citizens, helped to develop aviation, Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and head of the Aviation League of Canada, told members of the Canadian Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel today.

Recent flights by the Lindberghs and the German aviators, who had blazed new air trails between the United States and Asia and Europe respectively, had shown the importance of having routes through the Dominion, he said.

He astounded the gathering with the announcement that a two-day air service between Winnipeg and England was feasible, and by means of a chart traced out other routes of particular value to the commercial world.

FORWARDS CIVILIZATION

"As you know, the progress of civilization rests upon the development of methods of transportation," Major-General MacBrien said before tracing the revolutionary effect on the world produced by the invention of the steam engine and the internal combustion principle in the automobile. It was well known that the development of speedy transportation by a nation put that country to the fore in the world of commerce, he continued.

Aviation in Canada, so far, had put more new wealth into the hands of the citizens than any other fact, the speaker said, pointing to its value in mineral surveys and forestry work.

It was a public service entitled to the support of both federal and provincial governments.

This was realized in many countries which subsidized aviation with grants.

In Canada air companies were forced to work for their benefits. In the United States aviation was aided by the granting of mail contracts to certain companies and the establishment of regular air routes.

The speaker traced the ideal air service with fine fields, flood lights, and radio direction services. He showed the value of the latter by means of which planes would be directed even in storms. On well-organized routes lights and beacons were liberally placed. Emergency fields every forty miles were other necessities of a good service.

CANADIAN COMMERCIAL SERVICE

Up to 1927 aviation was not linked with the civil life of Canada, General MacBrien said. But in that year a mail service had been established from Rimouski to Montreal and other big eastern cities. The following year this was extended to the prairies and later linked up with United States services. The financial crash had prevented its extension to Vancouver and Victoria. Had this been accomplished a three-day air-mail service would have been organized between the Pacific Coast and eastern Canadian business centres.

Certain links had been established in the Maritimes and others were projected, he added.

FAST MAIL SERVICE

Under present conditions a five-day service could be established between England and central Canada by means of fast ships and planes operating in the Straits of Belle Isle and the St. Lawrence Gulf. The link between Ottawa and Winnipeg would have to be formed before there was an all-Canadian trunk line, he continued. This would be fed by routes in the northwest. He stressed the importance of the Mackenzie River route recently followed by Lindbergh. This was the shortest way to Asia and had drawn the attention of the United States Government.

Five contracts had been secured by United States firms intending to operate between Seattle and Fairbanks. He asked if British Columbia was going to take part in the development of this service.

Eventually, he thought, the route would be placed in the interior. It was up to the province to work out this.

Dealing with the new route found by the German aviators, who recently flew from Germany to Chicago, via Iceland, Greenland and Canada, he said the establishment of bases along this route would be of immense value, since they could be used for a similar route between Canada and Great Britain.

The speaker pointed to the important geographic situation of Canada, between the United States and Europe on the east and the Orient on the west. When these routes became popular, as he was sure they would, Canadian airplanes would have the opportunity to carry much business.

Pointing out another northern route, he stated a two-day air service between Winnipeg and England was feasible.

If the people and the government of Canada got behind aviation then Canada's future in this respect was exceptionally bright, the speaker declared.

VALUE OF MODEL CLUBS

Major General MacBrien stressed the value of the model airplane league in teaching boys the fundamentals of flying.

He saw a good living and a fine opportunity to be of service to the Dominion for the Canadian youth who took up aviation.

He also stressed the value of aviation both in commercial and military fields, declaring that countries could not progress to their fullest extent in business without it, nor could they expect to be able to defend themselves from an enemy attack if they were not prepared in the air.

COMBAT PROPAGANDA

"I believe it is up to the citizens as well as the governments to combat the insidious propaganda in our midst," he said, in referring to his work with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, thanked the speaker for his address. He touched upon the rapid development of aviation and the importance of Canada securing new air routes.

Dr. S. J. Willis, vice-president, who occupied the chair, told of Major-General MacBrien's career, in the Boer War, and the Great War. His services in the latter had won for him great honors.

Teachers Will Give Monthly Towards Fund

Setting themselves an objective of monthly contributions of $125 towards the funds of the Saanich Welfare Association, the teachers of Saanich yesterday afternoon met at Cloverdale School and unanimously decided to collect graduated assessments from every member of the Saanich branch of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association and from the teachers attached to the three high schools, who have their own branch of the Teachers' Federation.

A Cullin, vice-principal of Cloverdale School, presided as chairman of the Saanich branch of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association, which sponsored the well-attended meeting.

It was decided that the contribution should be made monthly "for as long as may be necessary," the general understanding being that the monthly levy would be collected for at least the duration of the winter months.

ANSCOMB SAYS ALL SHOULD PAY SOCIAL LEVIES

Mayor Suggests Federal Tax on All Workers Would Solve Civic Burdens

Real Estate Board Hears Three Mills of Next Year's Tax Rate Being Spent

That a federal system of contributary insurance against sickness and unemployment and for pensions offered the only workable method of meeting modern conditions and lessening the taxation needs of municipalities and governments, was the statement made by Mayor Anscomb in an address before the Real Estate Board at a luncheon held this afternoon in Spencer's restaurant. Alfred Carmichael presided.

"It is high time you and I eliminate discussion of unemployment. It does no good," said His Worship when discussing the city's problems. Property worth $20,000 had last year been disposed of, and this year the total was the same, although no improved property was included in the list.

The mayor believed advance payments of taxes to be a good barometer of conditions. This year 230 more property owners had prepaid part or all of the charges on their lands and the city had received $114,000 more in advance payments than in 1930. The advance payments were over forty per cent of the total tax levy for the year.

The waterworks income was down somewhat, the Sooke system producing $8,000 below last year, and the income from Goldstream was $3,000 less than last year.

Mayor Anscomb said any suggestion that consolidation of the municipal debt, to reduce the charges, were impracticable except with the consent of the bond holders, residing in all parts of the world. Such consent would only be given if the city went through a receivership. He saw no parallel between Victoria and the states of Australia, some of which had admitted semi-bankruptcy. He protested that no such condition could be alleged against the city's finances.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

Unemployment relief of married men had cost the city $166,000 to the end of August, of which the city would get back $70,000. The additional cost of married men for the remainder of the year would bring the total up to $174,000, to which there must be added the cost of keeping single men employed. The aggregate expense to be met by the city would be not less than $200,000, although the provision in the budget had been only $80,000. At least three mills of next year's tax rate was already expended or earmarked for the next few months.

Mayor Anscomb described the city's proposed programme of roads, sewers and waterworks extension and parks improvement. Regarding beautification of the city, the mayor said any money so expended would require continuous maintenance charges. He was confident that persons now advocating improvements would later be found aligned in support of reduction in civic taxes.

LEVY FOR SERVICES

Mayor Anscomb advocated a national compulsory insurance system to provide for sickness, hospital service, employment insurance, mothers' pensions and old age pensions. He was confident all workers would support such a system, which could only be successful if federally organized, with contributions collected for five years before any payments were made. "That is where Great Britain fell down, as soon as the money was put in the pot it was sucked out again," he concluded.

James Forman moved the vote of thanks.

Complimentary letters regarding the recent rental survey were received from many organizations, cities and government, including the United States government at Washington, D.C.

CAR WAS SPUN RIGHT AROUND IN ACCIDENT

Court Hears Details of Crash Which Caused Injury to R. Stinson

Twelve Witnesses Testify To-day; Case to Proceed on Monday

Hearing opened before Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning of a charge of driving to the common danger against W. H. Maxam of Langford. The case arose out an accident at the intersection of Fernwood Road and Pandora Avenue just after midnight on August 5, when Rex Stinson, taxi-driver, sustained serious injuries.

Mr. Stinson was proceeding south along Fernwood Road to the city and Mr. Maxam west on Pandora Avenue on his way to Langford when the crash occurred. The Stinson car was swung completely around and the back crashed into a telephone pole, witnesses stated. The Maxam car also was turned round by the impact.

Stuart Henderson and R. Manzer are appearing for the defence and C. L. Harrison and R. C. Lowe for the prosecution. Twelve witnesses were heard before the hearing was adjourned at 1 o'clock until next Monday.

SEVERE INJURIES

Dr. C. A. Watson was the first witness, testifying regarding the injuries sustained by Mr. Stinson, who, he said, had a fractured skull and a fractured right shoulder blade, as well as abrasions and bruises on the face and shoulder.

Evidence on a plan of the locality where the accident took place was given by C. Jones of the city engineer's office.

Francis E. Dutot, 1546 Bank Street, who arrived on the scene shortly after the crash, said he saw one car approximately in the middle of the intersection and another on the side of Fernwood Road. Mr. Stinson was lying on a vacant piece of ground at the corner with another man bending over him, loosening his collar and trying to ease him. Mr. Dutot waited until the police patrol came and helped put the injured man into it.

AROUSED FROM BED

Herbert C. Shaw, corner Fernwood Road and Pandora Avenue, said he was aroused from bed by the noise of the impact between the two cars. There were two crashes, he said. He jumped up quickly and was in time to see broken glass sliding along the road. He only saw one car at first glance, this one being near the side of the road, facing the direction it had apparently come from.

After telephoning the police, Mr. Shaw went out to the street and saw the other car, also turned round, facing the direction in which it had come. This was the smaller of the two cars. He also saw Mr. Stinson lying at the side of Pandora Avenue, his feet about ten feet from the rear of the damaged car. He saw Mr. Maxam sitting in his own car, the lighter of the two. Witness said he picked up the bumper from Mr. Maxam's car and placed it on a stone coping nearby, drawing the attention of Mr. Maxam to it. Mr. Maxam thanked him but made no comment about the accident.

Mr. Shaw said he did not know who it was that called to him from the street and asked him to phone the police. In answer to a question from Mr. Henderson, he said Mr. Stinson could not have been thrown into the position he found him and must have been moved prior to the time he came out of his house.

SPOKE TO DRIVER

Michael W. Mann, 1904 Leighton Road, a passenger in the car driven by Mr. Dutot, said he saw the occupant of the lighter car make two attempts to get out, but apparently "could not make it." He also tried to start the car but it was damaged and would not start. Witness said he thought the man had been drinking. He identified the accused as the person in question. Mr. Maxam did not appear to be injured, the witness said.

George Elliott, 1734 Bay Street, also a passenger with Mr. Dutot, related similar circumstances. He said Mr. Maxam, sitting in the light car, appeared dazed and complained of his knee hurting him. Witness said the accused's speech appeared all right.

In reply to a question from Mr. Henderson, witness said he did not think the accused was intoxicated at the time.

H. P. Hooper, 2390 Cranmore Road, the fourth passenger in the Dutot car, also gave testimony regarding events after the accident.

Sergeant J. Ireland was the next witness, testifying regarding the condition of the accused, whose breath, he said, smelled of liquor when he was brought to the charge office.

ACTED STRANGELY

The accused had abused Constable Stevenson and himself, witness said, and had acted strangely while in the office. The accused was then instructed to write out an accident report and he did so. The report was tendered as an exhibit. The witness said Mr. Maxam did not complain of any injuries at that time and walked unaided.

George White, 322 Johnson Street, who was driving south on Fernwood Road, arrived on the scene just after the party in the Dutot car. He cut away Mr. Stinson's tie and loosened his collar, afterwards calling to Mr. Shaw to phone the police.

Walter R. Ayton, 1448 Denman Street, testified that Mr. Stinson had driven him home on the evening in question, just prior to the accident. His car was in good condition and he was perfectly normal, witness said.

Mr. Ayton said Mr. Stinson had driven him home on an average of five nights a week for the last four years and was a careful driver.

"COACHED HIM"

Constable Thomas Stevenson, who took the particulars of the accident, said he had heard "Mr. Elliott sitting in the car coaching Mr. Maxam what to say." Then he asked Mr. Maxam what had happened and he did not reply until questioned several times. Then the constable took him to the police station.

A plan of the accident drawn by the officer was produced, showing skidmarks of both cars. The marks left by Mr. Maxam's car were twenty-six feet in length. The marks left by Mr. Stinson's car were of a "jumpy" variety as if the tire had been pushed sideways. The back of Mr. Stinson's car was "wrapped" around a telephone pole. Shattered glass lay all around the intersection, he said.

HEADLIGHT IMPRINTS

On the left side of Mr. Stinson's car were imprints of two headlights. The door at the driver's seat was dented and hanging open.

The court adjourned for a short time to the yard of the police station to examine the two damaged cars, the accident being reconstructed.

Resuming the stand, Constable Stevenson said the concrete wall at the northeast corner of the intersection was five feet six inches in height.

Percy E. Bailey, Tattersall Drive, garage proprietor, testified regarding the position of Mr. Stinson's car when he removed it. The left front wheel was on the sidewalk and the rear was only a few feet away from the telephone pole. After seeing the two cars, Mr. Bailey said it was his opinion that Mr. Maxam's car had struck Mr. Stinson's car on the left rear side and spun it completely around. He said the smaller car (Mr. Maxam's) must have struck the other car at considerable speed.

Mr. Bailey was still on the stand when the hearing was adjourned until Monday.

PAIR WERE FOUND WITH BEER BARREL

Court Allows Suspended Sentence to L. Branch and R. Langster

Larry Branch and Robert Langster, who pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of stealing a barrel of beer from the Britannia branch, Canadian Legion, on Tuesday night, were released on suspended sentence by Magistrate George Jay.

The pair were arrested by Constable Thomas Stevenson, who found them at the rear of the premises on View Street struggling with a fifteen-gallon barrel of beer, he testified.

Henry Hall, K.C., defence counsel, who entered the plea, explained the actions of the accused. He said they had both come out of the Legion rooms a short time previously, and had been asked by two other men to help get the barrel of beer down to the street. Mr. Hall said they had done it more for a prank than any other reason. The two other men left to get a truck and when police arrived Branch and Langster were found in possession of the beer.

Mr. Hall stated both men had served overseas, both were married, Langster having three small children. He thought suspended sentence would meet the case.

WOMAN SEEKS CAR AS FORFEIT

Under the lottery forfeiture clause of the Criminal Code, Beatrice May Etheridge, 306 Edward Street, to-day started action in the Supreme Court, through her counsel, Gordon A. Cameron, against Harry Stanley, winner of the Ford sports roadster at the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's fair this week.

She claims that Stanley gained the automobile "by means of a lottery ticket, card or other mode of chance, depending upon or determined by chance or lot," and because of that his possession of the car should be voided under the law forfeited to her under the informer section, No. 236, subsection 3 of the Criminal Code.

SARAZEN AND BURKE BEATEN

Favorites in P.G.A. Golf Beaten By Creavy and Shute, Respectively

Providence, R.I., Sept. 18.—Denny Shute, Hudson, Ohio, to-day eliminated Billy Burke, United States open champion, by a 1 up margin after 36 holes of play to-day to gain the championship round of the Professional Golfers' Association classic. He will play Tom Creavy, Albany, N.Y., who upset Gene Sarazen, 5 and 3.

Sarazen, this year's medalist and the most decisive match player on the field in the previous days, bowed out because he could not control his tee and second shots. He repeatedly hooked drives into the deep rough that line most of the holes of this windswept course and trapped many of his seconds.

Creavy, hitting all shots straight and far, gained a 3 up lead with a par 70 morning round, which included three birdies. His second trip out, as did Sarazen's, resulted in a regulation 35, and he continued 3 up at the second turning point. Tom divided four of the inward holes with his rival and then ran out the match with winning pars on the thirty-second and thirty-third holes.

RUSSIAN WHEAT SHIPMENTS INFLUENCE GRAIN MARKET CAUSING FRACTIONAL DIPS

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Influenced by bearish foreign reports telling of heavy Russia wheat shipments through the Black Sea, the wheat market closed fractionally lower here to-day. Prices at the close eased ⅝c on all three futures. October closed at 52c, December at 52⅝c, while May finished at 56⅜c to ½c.

The market was a dull and featureless affair throughout. Opening ⅛ to ⅜ lower, it was content to idle along until the closing ended trading for the day.

Outside news was very mixed in character, and rather more bearish than it had been for the past few days. Broomhall drew attention to the fact that Russia, between August 1 and September 17, had exported nearly three times the amount of wheat exported in the same period last year, but stated that further offerings were now practically withdrawn and chartering of space from southern Russia and Danubian ports light. Offers of low-grade Danubians had been withdrawn.

Conditions in Australia were reported favorable with the government's announcement of sixpence per bushel bonus on the exportable portion of the crop. Colder weather in the Argentine is checking the locusts. Much of the wheat remaining for sale is inferior in quality and further rejections are reported.

In the cash section No. 3 northern traded at fractionally better spreads. Coarse grain interest was negligible.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Wheat: Trading in wheat was the lightest in many days. Prices held steady within a narrow range, but were mostly fractionally lower, reaching the extreme dip near the close. Local sentiment appeared to be somewhat bearish and the pit crowd were pressing the market.

The offerings were being absorbed by seaboard houses, and there were numerous bids in the market for October wheat at 52¼, but these were finally filled and the market sank, due to a little hedging pressure coming in near the close. Export business overnight was again small but it was reported that around 300,000 bushels had been worked.

Local cash market was quiet with a slow demand but offerings were light and spreads were all about unchanged. There was very little change in the general news. General showers were reported from Alberta but the rest of the Canadian west was dry and clear with rather cool temperatures. Winnipeg closed half to ⅝ lower.

Coarse grains: There was very little doing in these markets. No export sales were reported and the local demand was thin. There was very little pressure on the oats and barley markets but rye was weak, practically following wheat.

Oats closed unchanged, barley ¼ to ⅜ lower and rye ⅜ to 1⅛ lower.

Flax: This market was also weak and closed 2¼ to 2½ lower.

CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Wheat: Rallies in wheat were hard to hold to-day and the trend was downward, the continued weakness in stocks being principal factor. Liverpool closed ⅜ to ⅝ lower. Russian offerings were reported light. Argentine shipments were 1,170,000 bushels with 1,613,000 from Australia.

Winnipeg was a little lower following the trend of this market and Liverpool export trade of moderate proportions with prices at the Gulf steady. Primary receipts were 1,006,000 against 1,536,000 year ago. According to The Modern Miller the western half of Kansas needs rain to facilitate seeding operations. The spring wheat movement continues of small proportions.

Cash trade was of small extent here. Deliveries to-day 82,000 bushels. The stock market developments are discouraging, but with any steadiness in that quarter think wheat will respond rapidly to any good support. Australian reports generally were favorable in regard to the crop.

Irregular Declines Feature Bond Market; Decrease In Trading

Canadian Press

New York, Sept. 18.—Bonds declined irregularly to-day, and trading decreased. The latter trend was especially noticeable in the railroad and industrial groups.

Foreign and public utility obligations were the two most active groups. The downward trend was quite apparent in the former, but the latter divided their changes about evenly between gains and declines. Good gains were scored by such loans as Pacific Gas and Electric 5s of 1952. The uncertain trend of the market was indicated by declines in Western Union 5s of 1960, which reached a new low at 98⅞. International Telephone Debenture 5s and American and Foreign Power 5s of 1960.

Foreign issues led a general decline and a number of them touched further new levels. Austrian 7s of 1957 dropped about 8 points, one of the largest losses. German 7s and 5½s lost about 6 and 2 points, respectively. Australian 4½s, Berlin City Electric 6s, Brazilian 6½s of 1927-57, New South Wales 5s of 1957 and of 1958, Serbs, Croats, Slovenes 8s of 1962 and Prussian 6½s sagged sharply. All these bonds reached new low prices.

The slump was not confined to the more speculative obligation, however. French 7s of 1949 also sagged to a new bottom level.

Stock privilege obligations started the day at higher prices, but reversed their trend in the late morning.

LOWER TREND AT MONTREAL

Leading Issues Suffer Substantial Losses As Pressure Becomes General

Canadian Press

Montreal, Sept. 18.—After a temporary let-up liquidation of stocks was resumed with the opening of the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day, and continued through to the close. Substantial losses were suffered by a number of pivotal issues. The final prices were at the low points of the day.

The power group, as a whole, lost ground. Quebec Power yielded to general pressure in the final hour, easing ½ to 29½. Power Corporation dipped 1¼ to 35¾, a new low. Shawinigan dipped down to 32¾. Nickel, at 9⅞, was down ⅝.

Canadian Car broke into new low territory at 4⅞, but traders were bidding 6¼ before the close.

TORONTO STOCKS AT NEW LOW EBB

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 18.—A long list of new low prices were to be seen on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day as the market underwent one of the most drastic revisions of prices since the reaction of early last summer.

Stock broke fractions to as much as six points and volume became much heavier. Issues which had been purchased at the June lows were sold as holders became apprehensive of the future of prices.

Included among those stocks which made new lows were most of the Utilities. Brazilian slumped approximately 1½ points, selling under 12. International Utilities "A," Bell Telephone off more than two points, Montreal Power, Power Corporation, B.C. Power "A" reached record lows.

Steel of Canada, Distillers Seagram, Consolidated Smelters, were others to sell under their June lows. The latter dropped six points.

Such pivotal issues as Nickel, Noranda, the Oils, Dominion Stores, Loblaw "A," Walkers, were down fractions, most of them just scraping their old lows.

LORNE GOLD IS ACTIVE TRADER AT VANCOUVER

Announcement of Holding Company Stimulates Interest in Bridge River Property

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Chief announcement of importance in the mining world to-day was that the company controlling Lorne Gold mine, adjoining Pioneer, will place a 100-ton mill on the property.

Lorne was the most active of the local traders to-day, selling at 8½ and 9 cents and Pioneer, opening at $2.40, dropped back to $2.35.

Big Missouri recovered half a point to 14 and Cotton Belt sold at 21 cents, Grandview brought 4 and 4½ cents; Noble Five sold at 3½ cents and Premier weakened to a new low at 40 cents, after opening at 43 cents.

The oil division was lightly traded and prices were weak. Freehold came out at 2½ cents and Hargal at 2 cents, Nordon sold at 20 cents and Mercury stood at 9½ to 10 cents in bid and asked quotations. Royalite brought $6 in small sales.

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Morning sales on the Vancouver Stock Exchange were:
Oils—100 Hargal at 2.
Unlisted Oils—1,000 Freehold at 2½; 5 Imperial at 11.25; 200 Nordon Corp. at 20; 155 Royalite at 600.
Unlisted Mines—1,200 Big Missouri at 14; 1,000 Lorne Gold at 8, 2,500 at 8½, 1,000 at 8¾, 2,300 at 9; 1,000 Noble Five at 3½.
Industrials—8 C.P.R., xd., at 17.00; 10 Coast Breweries at 10.75.

NEW YORK SUGAR

New York, Sept. 18.—Raw sugar was steady and unchanged early to-day, at 3.40 for spots, with no sales reported.

The demand for refined sugar was again of fair proportions, but still limited to nearby requirements only. Prices were unchanged at 4.45 for fine granulated.

Pronounced Slump In Wall Street and New Lows Created

Canadian Press

New York, Sept. 18—The stock market went into another pronounced slump to-day, carrying price averages to new low levels for the bear movement.

Selling was in moderate volume, but prices gave way easily. Losses of $3 to $6 a share appeared in such issues as U.S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, DuPont, Consolidated Gas, Southern Pacific, Atchison, and Eastman. Losses of $1 or more appeared throughout the list.

Although weak during the morning and early afternoon, the market turned dull in the afternoon when prices steadied momentarily, only to break severely at the finish. One of the late features was a 20,000-share sale of General Motors at $30, off $2.12.

Rails were particularly weak. Union Pacific's loss was about $10 and Atchison dropped $6. Southern Pacific was down nearly $5 and New York Central $3.

American Telephone closed $7 lower. U.S. Steel lost in the neighborhood of $3.50 and American Can $5.

Prominent shares losing at least $3 net included National Biscuit, DuPont, American Smelting, Coca Cola and National Dairy. Macy, Western Union, American Tobacco B. Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak tumbled $4 to $6.

Selling of stocks was accompanied by sharp declines in foreign bonds, particularly Germans, and also by weakness of Canadian and British exchange. The Canadian dollar was quoted at the lowest in two years, or at a discount of about a cent and a half.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

FRIDAY, SEPT. 18

(By Logan & Bryan)

At the close of the market to-day the Dow Jones averages for thirty industrials stood at 115.08, off 6.68 points for the day; for twenty rails at 53.97, off 3.43; and for twenty utilities at 46.38, off 2.34.

TORONTO MINES REACT SHARPLY

Recessions in Almost Entire List Despite Another Late Upturn

Canadian Press

Toronto, Sept. 18.—Despite another late upturn similar to that experienced yesterday, price changes on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day practically all took the form of recessions.

Both Noranda and Nickel were soft spots, former closing off nearly a point and the latter down 20. Hudson Bay dropped another 20. Falconbridge was down 10.

Among the golds McIntyre fell 70, Dome 30, Lake Shore 15 and Eldorado, Wright-Hargreaves and Hollinger five apiece. Moss, a strong spot the past week, lost 10 in a sharp decline.

Oils were a quiet group, Chemical Research, off five, showing the only significant change.

Big Copper Plant To Be Closed Down

New York, Sept. 18—Montezuma Copper Company, subsidiary of Phelps Dodge, is to cease operations on September 21 and complete suspension of operations is to follow as soon as possible because of the lack of demand for copper, it is announced.

Receivers have been appointed for Seneca Copper Company as a result of inability to raise funds.

LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND CAN NOT BE IGNORED

N.Y. Stock Exchange Head Says Artificial Measures May Prolong Depression

Canadian Press

New York, Sept .18.—Attempts to tinker with the ancient law of supply and demand by injecting artificial measures to stimulate or depress its normal operation may well lengthen the business slump and retard recovery, said Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, in an address to the New York Merchants' Association yesterday.

"Before the flood-tide of prosperity can return," he said, "invisible undercurrents and the pull of unseen economic forces must exhaust themselves. It remains for us to heed the principle of supply and demand, to govern our actions in accordance with its dictates, and thereby hasten the return of a prosperity based upon the sound and lasting foundation of natural law."

Mr. Whitney made no attempt to predict when the return would come, although he did say that from the perspective of 1940, "the extreme optimism of 1929 and the unmitigated gloom of 1930 and 1931 will appear equally exaggerated and ridiculous."

WEEKLY REPORT BANK OF ENGLAND

Canadian Press

London, Sept. 18.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve increased, 1,987,000; circulation decreased, 2,313,000; bullion decreased, 326,000; other securities decreased, 1,925,000; public deposits decreased, 5,234,000; other deposits increased 3,517,000; notes reserve increased 1,922,000; government securities decreased, 1,755,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 48.02 per cent, compared with 45.81 last week.

Vancouver Wheat Shipments Drop

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Wheat exports from Vancouver for the current crop year to date total 4,689,245 bushels, or approximately 300,000 bushels less than shipments at the corresponding date last year.

Ships were in port to-day loading 446,400 bushels and bookings for the balance of September total 875,067 bushels.

Elevator stocks to-day were lower than for some months, the total being 7,948,827 bushels, with 183,100 bushels en route.

USUAL DIVIDEND DECLARED

Quebec, Sept. 18.—At a meeting of the directors of the Quebec Power Company held to-day it was announced that the company will pay the usual quarterly payment of 62 cents per share.

CUSTOMERS TAK[E] ACTION AGAINS[T] BROKERAGE FIR[M]

Montreal House Suspende[d] From Both Exchanges

Canadian Press

Montreal, Sept. 18. — A petition [in] bankruptcy has been filed by a gro[up] of customers against the stock br[ok]erage firm of C. B. Grier & Compa[ny] members of the Montreal Stock [Ex]change and the Montreal Curb Mark[et]. The firm's trading privileges on b[oth] exchanges were suspended to-day. [It] was understood that the compa[ny] would contest the petition and [the] matter was expected to come up [for] hearing in about two weeks.

Liabilities of the company were s[aid] to be in the neighborhood of $200,0[00]. An effort toward settlement will [be] made with the clients, which, if s[uc]cessful, will obviate the necessity [of] appointing a liquidator.

CLEAN-UP FROM BIG MISSOU[RI]

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Ninety ton[s of] concentrates, averaging $200 to [the] ton, have been sent from the Big [Mis]souri mine to the wharf at Ste[wart] for shipment to the Trail smelter. [It] will come south on one of the U[nion] Steamship Company's boats next w[eek].

The concentrates are the clea[n-up] from the operations of the Big [Mis]souri and do not represent reg[ular] production. The mill, according [to] Vancouver officials of the comp[any] will be closed for the present. [It is] understood, however, that general [min]ing development at the property [will] continue. The Big Missouri is u[nder] control of the Consolidated Mi[ning] and Smelting Company.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR MICHIGA[N] COPPER COMPA[NY]

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 18—[The] Seneca Copper Mining Company w[hose] mine here has not operated since December, was in the hands of [re]ceivers to-day as a result of a frie[ndly] suit brought by the People's Fuel C[om]pany, of Calumet.

The receivership action was bro[ught] by the Calumet firm on its own [be]half and on behalf of all credito[rs of] the mining company. The aggr[egate] value of the Seneca properties is [esti]mated at $8,000,000. Its total indel[bted]ness is said to be $1,680,000 of w[hich] $1,482,500 represents outstanding b[onds] at par value, secured by a first [mortgage] on the property and assets.

HIGH SCHOOLS SHOW INCREASE

Saanich Now Has Over 400 Students; Carey Road Ready Next February

Saanich now has 402 students attending at the three high schools and more are expected to seek enrolment, the Saanich School Board was yesterday evening informed by J. M. Paterson, Municipal Inspector of Schools. At Tolmie School, where W. Garner is principal, 261 students are now registered. The Cedar Hill High School opened classes on Monday with eighty-six students enrolled by A. Bailey, principal, and at Keating High School at least fifty-five high school students will next Monday commence studies under A. G. Smith, principal.

At Keating there will also be forty-one children taking courses in a newly-organized junior high school, composed of grades seven and eight drafted from the primary schools at Keating, Saanichton and West Saanich.

Hubert Savage, A.R.I.B.A., presented the board with contracts signed by the successful tenderers for the new Carey Road High School, A. McKinty for the general construction and McDowell and Mann for the plumbing and heating. Both documents included clauses permitting the board to require inclusion of work eliminated to pare down the cost, and to pay for such added work only the deducted allowance.

The date specified for completion of the building was February 1 next, but this will be subjected to a standard clause allowing the contractor time to offset unfavorable weather.

PREFERENCE FOR VETERANS SOUGHT

Army and Navy Veterans Ask Government to Look More Kindly on Returned Men

At the Dominion convention of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association held in Hamilton recently, resolutions had been drafted urging the government to show returned men a greater preference than they had been granted formerly, Victoria delegates to the meeting told the local branch yesterday evening at a special gathering here.

Moves had also been launched to try to secure for the returned men permanent positions in provincial and federal governments. Another resolution sought to institute unemployment insurance on a contributary basis, the men to set aside certain sums while employed for use when they were out of work.

NO PROFITS ON POPPIES

The veterans had moved against the exclusive rights of sale for poppies manufactured under the auspices of the Department of Pensions and National Health. They also urged that no middle-men's profit should be permitted in the sales. Any effort to commercialize the distribution of the poppies should be combatted, they felt, since all proceeds should go to those who made them.

Seven new members were admitted into the Victoria branch at the meeting.

T. Mayne was elected to fill a vacancy on the executive committee, and A. G. Harrison was appointed delegate to the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League.

It was announced that the annual memorial service will be held in St. Alban's Church on Sunday, September 27, at 7.30 p.m., when it is hoped that a large number of the members will attend.

DENMARK SENDS ENGLAND EGGS

The markets branch of the provincial Department of Agriculture reports the British egg market outlook to be obscured by the economic crisis, but that prices are expected to rise with the usual seasonal tendency.

The majority of imported eggs during the first week of this month arrived from the following sources. The figures represent "great hundreds": Denmark, 158,654; Holland, 75,638; Russia, 62,587.

Native Sons Surprised By Army Officer

Absolute confidence in the efficiency of the local police force was expressed by the Victoria Assembly of the Native Sons of Canada yesterday evening in refuting the allegation of a retired colonel of the Indian army in a letter to the press that Victoria streets were not safe for unescorted women at nights.

The resolution passed read in part as follows:

"Be it resolved that this Victoria Assembly No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, most emphatically is of the opinion that any portion of Victoria is safe for any unaccompanied woman at any time because of the efficiency of our Police Department and because of the high standard of our citizenry; and

"Be it further resolved that it expresses surprise that a retired officer of His Majesty's forces, whose rank is an evidence of his considerable schooling in the regulations having to do with law and order generally, should expect special consideration because of his first offence and take exception to the action of the police, which was only in conformity with the rules and regulations set down for their guidance; and

"Be it still further resolved that a retired colonel should expect that 'obedience,' which is the first law of soldiering should be the primary law of a policeman."

Other business included a vote of appreciation for Frank J. Barnjum in his efforts to preserve Canadian forests for posterity. R. Hayward, M.P.P., presided.

British Columbia Power Corporation, Limited

And Subsidiaries

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Directors to Be Submitted at the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders to Be Held on Monday, 5th October, 1931

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS:

Your Directors beg to submit the following Report and Financial Statements covering the operations of your Company and its Subsidiaries for the year ended 30th June, 1931.

INCOME AND EXPENSE STATEMENT

Gross Revenue		$15,119,945.62
EXPENSES:
Operating Expenses	$7,231,984.77
Taxes	994,438.00
Depreciation and Renewals Reserve	1,870,965.14
		10,097,387.91
Net Revenue		$ 5,022,557.71
Deduct—
Bond Interest, proportion of Bond Discount written off and Preference Dividends		2,585,741.82
		$ 2,436,815.89
Dividends on Class A Shares for the year		2,000,000.00
Surplus for the year		$ 436,815.89

REVENUE

Notwithstanding the general depression in business, it is satisfactory to record increased earnings in the Electric and Gas Departments. This increase has been brought about by the addition during the year of 4,900 electric consumers and 2,400 gas consumers, and by increased sales of appliances consuming gas and electricity.

Due to the reduced number of passengers carried and the smaller quantity of freight handled, the earnings of the Transportation Department show a reduction compared with last year. This is a condition prevailing in all transportation systems, affecting both passenger and freight traffic throughout the country.

EXPENSES

It will be remembered that during the financial year 1930 the expenses of operation were substantially increased as a result of the serious water shortage. The absence of water shortage expenses this year, together with other economies in operation which we have been able to effect, have enabled us to decrease the operating expenses by $1,047,406.00.

NET REVENUE AND SURPLUS

As a result of the economies referred to and the absence of water shortage expenses, there is a surplus of revenue amounting to $436,816.00, after providing depreciation and paying interest and fixed dividends, as well as the usual dividend of $2.00 per share on the Corporation's "A" Stock. This compares with a surplus of $188,194.00 last year.

PLANT ADDITIONS AND BETTERMENTS

The expenditures during the year on additional electric plant, together with the extension of electric and gas services and improvements and additions to other sections of the Company's business, amounted to $5,015,968.00.

Ruskin Development—The construction of the first unit of 47,000 h.p. at Ruskin was completed and brought into operation in November, 1930. The plant was opened and dedicated to the public service on November 18 by Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bruce and Premier Tolmie, representing the Province of British Columbia. There were also present on this occasion the Mayors and Aldermen of all the cities and municipalities on the Lower Mainland, together with representatives of all public bodies.

This plant with its two independent transmission lines was completed in record time. In view of its proximity to the power demand centres it constitutes a further assurance of additional and uninterrupted power supply, as well as being of great value for emergency purposes, for which it was particularly designed.

This is only the first stage in the construction of this plant, which is designed for the installation of three further units, giving an ultimate capacity of 188,000 h.p. These additional units can be readily installed to take advantage of any change in business conditions or to meet emergencies.

Bridge River Development—The concrete lining of the tunnel, 16 feet in diameter and 13,215 feet long, has been proceeded with and will be completed in October, 1931.

The survey work, acquisition and clearing of the main transmission line, have been practically completed and designs for the machinery and equipment to be installed have been prepared, so that this additional plant can be brought into service in accordance with the general scheme of power development prepared to meet the power demand in the districts served.

Jordan River Development—An additional generating unit of 18,000 h.p. was installed and completed in January, 1931. This installation, together withe pipeline and subsequent flume enlargement, insures to the territories served on Vancouver Island an ample supply of power to meet future requirements.

Campbell River Development—The preliminary plans for the development of this hydro-electric site on Vancouver Island have been prepared and submitted to the Provincial Water Board, so that construction work can proceed along with any definite plans for industrial development in this section, as well as providing for future power demands on the Island.

New Properties—Plant improvements and service extensions have been made in connection with the more recently acquired properties at Kamloops, and in the Alberni, Qualicum and Parksville districts on Vancouver Island.

The Agassiz District has been connected to our main transmission system by the construction of a new line, enabling us to dispense with the local plant, which was expensive and unreliable.

Distribution System—The extension of the distribution system in the suburban and rural districts, together with additions to substation equipment and machinery to meet future growth and demand, called for considerable capital outlay. The work of re-arranging and enlarging the Horne-Payne and North Vancouver substations brings these stations up to a high state of efficiency.

The changing over of the distribution system from 2,000 to 4,000 volts has continued during the year, and the enlargement of the Burnaby substation, to accommodate the additional equipment incidental to the bringing in of Ruskin power, has been completed.

Transportation System—With the growth in population in the suburban areas, additional facilities in the form of busses, acting as feeders to the railway system, have been provided.

Arrangements were made for the extension of one-man operation on additional lines, and structural alterations were carried out on a number of street cars to provide for this method of operation.

Gas System—Thirty-three miles of gas mains were installed during the year. To meet the increased demand for gas service, and to provide for future growth, plans have already been made for the construction during the coming year of an additional coal gas generating plant with a capacity of 3,000,000 cubic feet per day. It is anticipated that with the completion of this plant the consumption of British Columbia coal will amount to 100,000 tons per annum, which should be of considerable benefit to the coal industry in offsetting to some extent the completion of imported fuel oil.

GENERAL OPERATIONS

Light and Power System—While there has been a considerable reduction in the use of industrial power in consequence of the business depression, the total consumption of energy, due to intensive sales effort, has resulted in an increase over previous years as follows:

	K.W.H.	Consumers	Motor Load in H.P.
1930	351,047,572	110,436	151,244
1929	342,627,810	105,908	141,378
1927	263,720,953	94,611	121,747

Light and Power Rates — Further reductions in the Domestic and Commercial rates took place in the Fraser Valley Districts and in West Vancouver. These reductions in rates, averaging about twenty per cent, will result in a very considerable saving to the consumers in these areas.

It has been the policy of the Company to reduce rates whenever possible. The rates charged for light and power, both for domestic and commercial use, in the various districts served by the Company are among the lowest on the Pacific Coast, and bear very favorable comparison with any city in Canada or the United States with which they may reasonably be compared.

The consolidation of services, whereby all energy for lighting, cooking and heating purposes is measured through one meter, has enabled consumers to take advantage of the 2-cent rate for a substantial part of their energy requirements.

Gas System—The winter of 1930-31 was extremely mild, and as a result the demand for gas for heating purposes was below normal. In spite of this, with the greater number of heating installations completed during the year and the increased consumption of domestic gas, the total quantity of gas sold shows an increase, as will be seen from the following figures:

	Gas Sold Cubic Feet	Gas Consumers	Miles of Mains
1931	1,272,870,000	50,697	572.42
1930	1,263,048,000	48,307	539.02
1929	1,192,433,000	45,163	491.33

Railway System—In common with all other transportation concerns, the general decline in business activity has been most keenly felt in our railway business. The slowing up in the building trade, and the condition of the lumber business, on which so many industries are dependent, are largely responsible for the decline in the number of passengers carried. Notwithstanding the reduction in passengers carried, the railway services have been kept up to the highest standards of efficiency. The number of car miles operated over the railway system shows an increase over the previous year of 561,000 miles as the result of the increased number of cars in service, particularly during rush hours.

Our freight revenue is earned very largely through our participation in the movement of transcontinental freight in conjunction with the steam railroads with which our system is connected. In common with all steam railways, the freight department tonnage and receipts show a heavy decline owing to the reduced movement of lumber products and the smaller quantity of incoming transcontinental freight brought into the district served by our interurban freight lines.

	Passengers Carried	Freight Tonnage
1931	74,249,659	343,320
1930	76,113,550	454,111
1929	77,694,731	533,391
1928	77,063,656	487,896
1927	75,113,022	481,690

NEW FINANCING

To provide for the redemption of the £770,000 5% 1944 Debentures of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, which took place on 15th June, 1931, a further issue of $4,000,000.00 5% Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Bonds, Series "B," was made. This refinancing represents a saving in interest charges, as the Company, in addition to the interest rate of 5%, was obligated to pay British Income Tax at the rate of 4s 6d. in the pound sterling on the issue of 1944 Debentures, bringing the total annual charges on these debentures up to approximately 6¼%.

TAXATION

The burden of taxation on the Company continues increasingly heavy, and with the 25% increase in taxes to be imposed by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, together with increases in municipal taxes, will constitute a very serious charge against the Company's revenues.

1930	965,169.00
1929	934,985.00
1928	891,143.00
1927	831,550.00

The above taxes do not include indirect taxes, in the nature of sales tax on materials, stamp and other revenue taxes, which amount to a considerable sum.

While there can be no possible objection to contributing a fair and just amount towards the cost of administering the affairs of the country, it must be recognized that any amount in excess of this is an unfair burden on the industry and can only be collected by the Company through the medium of rates and charges for the services performed.

EMPLOYEES

The number of employees on the payroll at 30th June, 1931, was 4,000, and the Directors desire to express their appreciation to all members of the staff for their loyalty and efficiency, and to record the harmonious relationship existing in all branches of the service.

MAINTENANCE OF PROPERTY AND PLANT

The properties and plants of the various operating Companies have been maintained in the same high state of efficiency as heretofore, due regard being given to the comfort and needs of the Public whom we serve.

GENERAL

In the conduct of our business many interviews and discussions take place with Provincial, Civic and Municipal authorities, and it is a pleasure to be able to refer to the friendly and harmonious manner in which all our negotiations have been carried on.

A special committee of the Vancouver City Council was appointed to consult with the Company, particularly on transportation matters, and your Directors are appreciative of the assistance and co-operation of this Committee.

At a time when we are passing through an unprecedented world-wide depression, the Accounts submitted herewith show that the Company is in a sound financial position. The programme of construction and development, which has brought many additional facilities to completion, has placed the Company in a position to adequately take care of its responsibilities in furnishing the important services connected with the power, transportation and gas business, together with the growth which may be anticipated in the demand for these services with the return to more normal business conditions.

The large sum of money which the Company has expended on labor and materials, in connection with the maintenance of its properties and in the construction and extension of its facilities, is a material factor in the welfare of the districts in which we operate.

A very large part of the material used is purchased in British Columbia and almost entirely in Canada, and the expenditure on wages, amounting to $6,750,000.00 for the year, assures steady and remunerative employment to a large number of men and women.

AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS

The Balance Sheet and Accounts have been certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., Chartered Accountants, whose report is attached.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Shareholders of the British Columbia Power Corporation Limited:

We have examined the Books and Accounts of the British Columbia Power Corporation Limited, and its Subsidiary Companies, for the year ended June 30, 1931, and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required.

The charges to the Plant and Equipment Accounts during the year are in respect of actual additions, extension or permanent improvements. Adequate provision has been made for Depreciation and Accruing Renewals.

The valuations of the stocks of Stores, Materials and Supplies on hand, as shown by inventories certified by responsible officials, have been verified as made at actual cost.

Full provision has been made for Bad and Doubtful Accounts Receivable and for all ascertainable liabilities.

We have verified the cash and investments by actual count, or by certificates from the depositaries, and have satisfied ourselves that the investments are valued at market.

And we certify that, in our opinion, the attached Consolidated Balance Sheet at June 30, 1931, is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Corporation and its Subsidiary Companies, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the several Companies.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

Mrs. Cleespaugh bridled angrily. "I fear you are not thinking what you say, Tressa," she admonished.

Tressa bit her lip. "Sorry. I was just trying to cheer you," she said lightly. "Clive will find her. Don't worry."

Meantime Clive, after a frantic questioning of a sleepy footman or two, elicited the information than an unrecognized car had left the ranks a few moments before driving (the man thought) west. He was not positive of the direction.

"And it's a dry, clear night. Not a chance of ruts or tracks," muttered Clive. The prince's car was being brought around. With two men on the box, it was an imposing vehicle of slate grey and chromium plate. His Highness sprang within, becoming Chuck Desmond to follow.

"You chaps go along," Clive said. "I'm driving my own car." He felt he could not bear to be shut up with this stupid young man who had left Liane alone and unguarded at the mercy of the unseen enemy.

Clive sprang into his own car and wheeled it around. Picking up speed it soon passed the big motor with the London license plate.

"Though where I'm going exactly I don't know," the young man admitted to himself, setting his jaws ominously. "Only—well, there may be a few necks broken to-night in this business!"

"See anything of a dark blue sedan with Jersey plates?" he wanted to know. The club attendant noted that much about the ghost car.

The man in jeans shook his head slowly. "Been inside," he returned. "'S late. I was catching a nap. You in trouble?"

Chuck said shortly. "We're after some fellows. Heard they went this way."

CHAPTER XXVI

After Hugo, Crown Prince of Slavaria, had left her Liane stood quite still for a moment. The music from the ballroom came to her in little muted gasps. She thought, "I ought to run back to the box and see Clive for a moment. He'll wonder how the prince would find her wrap. She had not told him what it was like.

With one foot on the bottom stair she stood irresolute. As she turned a quiet, commanding voice said, "Don't move, girl. We've got you covered."

Lightning-like, she wheeled in time to get a dim flash of two grim men in evening cloths. One was armed. This she saw before the black silk scarf was slipped over her eyes.

"Grab her, Len," one of the men said gruffly. A hand clamped itself over her mouth. Strong, unkindly arms lifted her. She felt the night air on her face. She kicked violently. One silver pump fell off, unnoted. Struggling still, she was lifted up. Ah, a car seat. The smell of Russian leather, of cigarettes. The thrum of an expensive motor. Those iron hands still clamped her wrists. Her face was utterly veiled in that black silk. She heard the engine slide into second, into high. Smoothly the car glided over the ruts of the entrance—yes, that was a remembered bump! She knew they were skimming along the turnpike. But whether the road led east or west she could not say.

The man on the seat beside her released her hands. He said with ironic politeness, "Do you no good to scream now, miss. Better be quiet and make no trouble."

Liane bit her lips to keep from weeping. "If it's my pearls you want," she said tremulously, "you may as well have them now and let me go. I've nothing else of value."

The man's laugh grated. "We'll have them, too. But later."

"Where are you taking me?" the girl asked in terror. "What can you possibly want? You've mistaken me for someone else. I have no money to give you."

"Shut your trap now and don't bother me," the man said with engaging frankness. "You can have your say after a while."

* * *

They rode thereafter in silence broken only by the grunt of the man in the front seat. "Right here?" Liane heard the man beside her ask as the car slowed. A grunt from the front seat was the reply. The car seemed to turn.

For a few minutes they traveled under branches bending so low Liane could feel them scrape the tonneau. Then the car bumped over a deeply-rutted lane and came to a standstill.

"Out here," commanded the surly voice. Liane felt herself lifted, carried. No use, she thought, to cry out now. She was in the hands of the enemy.

The man carrying her went up three steps that creaked under him. A door swung on protesting hinges and the fetid air of an overheated, under-ventilated room assailed Liane's nostrils.

Clumsy fingers fumbled at the tight knot of the black silk scarf which bound her eyes. The girl gasped with relief as the fastenings gave way. She was shivering all over now. Even the hot air of that fusty room did not serve to warm her. Her teeth chattered as with ague as she glanced around. It was a boxlike room in a cheap house. Two mission chairs with collapsing springs stood in front of a gas grate. A bright green carpet of furious pattern adorned the floor. Everything was very dirty—windows, limp curtains, the floor itself. All this Liane took in in the split second before the man spoke.

Because her knees would no longer obey her the girl did as her captor commanded. An incongruous figure she was in that sordid place, with her frills, her bare shoulders.

She stared at the man who had carried her. The other one could be heard in the hall outside, shouting orders at some unseen henchmen.

The man returning Liane's stare was iron gray, loosely built. His mouth was a thin, cruel line. Hands in pockets, he lounged against the lintel, regarding the girl with a bitter sardonic gaze.

"You're the smart kid who bopped Ginny Weisman over the head down at the gold coast movies," he accused Liane. The girl's heart gave a wild leap. Did this explain the strange adventure in which she now found herself? Were these men friends of that captured bandit who had tried to hold up the box office at the Willow Stream Theatre?

But the man's next words belied this. "Don't get me wrong," he leered. "Ginny's no pal of mine. I just remembered seein' your picture in the paper at that time."

"You talk too much," growled a voice from the doorway. Liane glanced up to see the first man's partner glaring at them. "Get out," growled the newcomer. "Always falling for a new skirt. Shut your gab and beat it."

"Now, look here, girl," began the newcomer in an oily tone more distasteful to Liane than his growl had been. "You keep quiet and you won't get hurt but if I hear you starting any funny business—well, don't, that's all!"

"If you'd only tell me what it's all about," Liane began desperately.

* * *

The man grinned horribly, without mirth. "You'll find out what's it all about," he grunted. Taking up his station in the other broken-down leather chair he drew a pipe from the pocket of his coat and began leisurely to stuff it. Liane noted that his evening clothes were of good quality, his linen spotless. Doubtless he had managed to slide by as one of the guests of the club.

She began to shiver. All the wild stories she had ever read of kidnapping flashed through her mind. "Girl found murdered in lonely house on shore road." "Posse still searching for woman, missing since Tuesday." She thought of such grim headlines and moaned.

What was Clive thinking? What was he doing? Would any of the club attendants have noticed the number of the fleeing car? Would they have followed it, noted which way it went?

Liane beat her hands together softly. She looked across at the calmly smoking jailor and said again, "Please let me go. This can't do you any good, you know. Mr. Cleespaugh will have searching parties out."

"Maybe we hadn't thought of that, hey?"

He stamped out his pipe on the bilious yellow tile of the fireplace. He stood up, stretching himself like a big cat. His eyes were cat's eyes, emerald and baleful in the half light of the ugly room. Then he came toward the girl with a rolling gait, incongruous with those gentleman's clothes of his.

Instinctively she shrank from him He was so big, so formidable. But she kept her shoulders up, stared him in the eye without quailing. She set her teeth to keep from screaming.

Liane sprang back. Like lightning was her movement as she darted out of the big chair and away from the man's grasping fingers. But one foot was unshod and the other, in its high-heeled silver slipper, stumbled. She would have fallen if the man's hateful arm had not reached out to steady her.

"Keep away from me," Liane moaned faintly. And all at once everything went black before her. She felt herself falling—

* * *

When Liane opened her eyes the man was bending over her. She felt cold water, icy water, trickling down her neck. She put up her hand to her head. Her fingers came away red. "Blood," she moaned faintly.

"You fool," the iron gray man was saying. From her place on the floor Liane could see him dimly. He was in the doorway looking fiercely at the man with the cat's eyes.

"You fool, you!" he repeated. "Makin' passes at her and scarin' her to death so that she passes out and bumps her head on the corner of the table." He went into the hall and called in a raucous voice, "Molly!"

A fat woman in a dirty apron came She had a red face with creases in it and her hair was done in a pancake on the top of her head.

"Molly, get me some clean rags and a pan of water," said the man with the iron gray hair. The woman ambled away. Liane lay there, still half dazed, hating the fetid floor, the smell of blood and the icy water on her face and shoulders.

"I thought she was a goner," the man nearest her admitted. "I thought she had passed in her checks."

"You're a fool," said the iron gray man. The woman called Molly came waddling back with some torn strips of white cloth, and an earthenware bowl. She said not a word but watched the man as he lifted Liane to one of the sagging chairs.

"Leave me alone," the girl said bitterly. "You've done enough." She shrank from his fingers. The man said roughly, "Hold still, you. I'll fix this cut."

"Pretty," she said wonderingly. Liane looked at her with something like hope. The woman seemed stupid but not unkind. But presently she waddled away again, leaving Liane alone with the two men and the girl's heart sank. She began to feel desperately sick. Her head was giddy and a hot pain burned in one temple. Her teeth began to chatter as if with ague.

"Get her a shawl," commanded the iron gray man. The man with the cat's eyes went out, grumbling. Liane closed her eyes. The room whirled around her.

Horoscope

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1931

Benefic aspects are strong in the horoscope for this day, according to astrology. It is a time for definite plans and positive activities.

Women are subject to a sinister sway and for that reason will be wise to confine their attention to routine matters of business or domestic importance.

Physicians and surgeons have the prognostication of a busy autumn in which they demonstrate the progress of the healing art.

There is a sign of great good fortune for trade and commerce. The west coast will profit from the Orient, owing to an event of much moment, the seers prophesy.

Oil and oil products continue under a rule that forecasts good fortune and stable markets.

Russia, under the destructive rays of Saturn and Uranus, is believed to be in danger of warfare or revolution. A season of storms, earthquakes and tidal waves is prognosticated.

Marriages will increase in number as the autumn advances and the rate of divorce will show a slight falling off, despite the aid offered in certain parts of the country.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of average success, but warning is given that the heart may lead to costly experiences.

Children born on this day probably will be intelligent, energetic and far-seeing. Many subjects of this sign attain a place in the limelight.

William B. Astor, capitalist and founder of the Astor Library, was born on this day, 1792. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include William Robertson, 1721, noted Scottish historian.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Water Pail

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggily was riding along in his clothes basket airship, after the friendly Bat had caught all the nipping mosquitoes one evening. The reason the Bat caught the nipping mosquitoes was that the nipping chaps wanted to bite holes in the balloons of the rabbit's airship and that would have made it fall and smash.

"I certainly am having quite a few jolly old adventures," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he flew along through the air. "But it is getting dark now, so I think I had better steer down to the earth and spend the night under a tree. In the morning I will fly on again. Maybe, after a while," chuckled the rabbit gentleman, "I'll get to be a regular aviator bunny. Ha! Ha!"

Steering his airship gently to the ground, Uncle Wiggily quickly hopped out and tied it fast to a tree with a piece of clothes line. If he did not tie the airship it might fly off by itself in the night and then Mr. Longears would have had no way of getting back home. And that would not have been so good.

He sprinkled the burning house

"Well, I'll eat a little supper and then I'll make me a bed of leaves under this tree," said Uncle Wiggily. "When I awake it will be morning and I'll sail on."

Mr. Longears had brought with him on his adventure air trip some good things to eat that Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy gave him from her kitchen pantry in the hollow stump bungalow.

"Let me see, now, what I have," the bunny murmured as he took out the lunch basket. "Hum, a carrot sandwich, that's fine. And a piece of cabbage cake! That's good! and, bless my pink nose, here's a lettuce pie! Oh, I'm going to have a dandy supper."

Uncle Wiggily sat down on a log beneath the tree, to which he had tied his airship. It was getting quite dark, now, but some late September fireflies, or lightning bugs, flitted around and made light enough for Mr. Longears to see to eat the good things Nurse Jane had given him.

"Thank you, that's light enough," the bunny said to the bugs, when he had finished. "If you will kindly fly away now, I'll go to sleep."

"Away we go!" buzzed the fireflies, and off they flew.

But Uncle Wiggily could not go to sleep at once, even though he had made himself a bed of soft, green leaves. No sooner had the rabbit gentleman closed his eyes, after the fireflies had gone, than a voice began to call in the darkness:

"Katy did! Katy did! Katy did!"

And another voice answered:

"Katy didn't! Katy didn't! Katy didn't!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit. "If I didn't know, I would say that was some one talking about a little girl named Katy. But I know it is only two jolly green bugs, who make funny chirping sounds that sound like 'Katy did' and 'Katy didn't.' I hope they soon stop, though," said Uncle Wiggily out loud.

Then the Katy did and Katy didn't bugs heard what Mr. Longears said and, being kind and not wanting to keep him awake, they flew far off in the woods, where one kept saying, nearly all night, "Katy did!" and the other answered, "Katy didn't!"

After a fine sleep, Uncle Wiggily awakened to find the sun shining in his eyes and, it then being quite light, he looked around him and saw, what he had not seen before, a water pail on the ground near his airship tied fast to the tree.

"Oh, ho!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Some one has been here on a picnic and they have left their pail. Well, as no one seems to want it, I'll take it with me in my ship. I'll fill it with water at the spring I see over there, for I might get thirsty as I fly along."

Filling the pail with water, Uncle Wiggily put it in his airship, got in himself and sailed away. He was flying up near the clouds when he happened to look down and saw a blazing fire. It was not a harmless bonfire, but a house burning. Not a regular, big house, but the little home of some lady bugs. Then Uncle Wiggily remembered the old song about "Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home. Your house is on fire and your children may burn."

"But I'm not going to have anything like that happen," said Mr. Longears to himself. "I'm going to be a flying fireman. I'll put out the fire in the lady bugs' house." Flying down lower, Mr. Longears took some water from his water pail and sprinkled it on the little burning house. In a moment the fire was wet and out and the house did not burn. The lady bugs were very thankful to the rabbit.

Now if the tomatoes will stop twiddling long enough for the shoe horn to play a tune for the rubber boot, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's big wind.

EXTRA LIQUOR NOT STOCKED FOR CONVENTION

Toronto, Sept. 18. — Reports from Windsor, Ont., that the Ontario Liquor Control Board was laying in an extra stock of liquor at the border cities in preparation for the convention next week of the American Legion were denied by acting chairman Stewart McLenaghan of the board.

SALES

FROM the very first Philco leadership in Performance, Value and Appearance was so outstanding that leadership in sales followed as a natural result. On all four counts the new Philco Balanced Superheterodyne models have increased that lead so tremendously that they might be in a race by themselves.

Because of unexcelled engineering ability, the performance of the new Philco is amazingly superior. Because of production volume that exceeds by far that of any other radio manufacturer and unequalled factory efficiency, Philco prices are lower—far lower—than ever before.

And because of Philco's determination to outshine in beauty all other radios, Norman Bel Geddes, a designer whose fame is world wide was paid a king's ransom to design the new Philco cabinets.

RESULT — Philco Sales breaking all Previous records by thousands of sets—and increasing daily.

11-Tube Lowboy

This beautiful and graceful cabinet is by Norman Bel Geddes, foremost creator of fine furniture. It is executed in pin stripe American walnut and matched Butt walnut. Hand-rubbed finish; Instrument panel in figured black walnut, framed in V matched Oriental wood. Has 4-point Tone Control—Automatic Volume Control—oversize Electro-Dynamic Speaker—Station Recording Dial—Long Distance Switch. Indisputably the finest radio ever built. Price $210.00

COMPLETE WITH TUBES

9-Tube Highboy

A remarkably handsome set in American Black walnut, and Butt walnut, with Arch in "V" matched Oriental wood. Pilasters in pin stripe walnut and Quilted Maple decorations. Hand-rubbed finish. Has 4-point Tone Control. New Electro-Dynamic Speaker (25% more efficient). Illuminated Recording Dial. Price $169.50

COMPLETE WITH TUBES

7-Tube Highboy

One of the most popular sets ever produced with cabinet of figured American walnut and Quilted Maple. Has Tone Control. New and improved Electro-Dynamic Speaker. Illuminated Station Recording Dial. Will outperform many sets at twice the price. Price $105.00

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Scheming Mother Who Encourages Her Innocent Daughter to Take Money From Her Amorous Married Employer

DEAR MISS DIX.—I am a girl in my teens and am employed in a large concern. My boss is a married man and very much infatuated with me. He is old enough to be my father. I don't care a darn about him, but I have to accept his attentions to hold down my job. He just lives with his wife for the sake of his children and doesn't intend to stay with her forever, he says. He gives me a great deal of money and presents and takes me out a lot. Do you see any harm in my doing what I am doing? My mother says that if any harm comes he can always sue him. My mother and I both think his wife ought to appreciate that he is spending his money on a good girl, and that she ought to be glad he cares for me because I am good. There is a lot of talk around this office about me and my boy friend says he is going to give me up unless I quit going out with my boss and taking his presents. I love my boy friend, but I love my boss's money and can't see where he can hurt me, can you?

AN OLD MAN'S DARLING.

Answer: I print this letter, which is almost incredible in the utter lack of all sense of moral values it shows, because it so vividly paints the portrait of three of the most sinister figures of modern life.

First, the man. The middle-aged employer who uses the club of poverty and need to beat a young girl into submission to his evil desires. Here is a man who has a wife and children. Doubtless he has little daughters, but the thought of them awakens no compassion for this other girl in his heart, nor does it make him treat her as he would want some other man to treat his daughters if it was ever their fate to have to earn their living in some man's office.

The pursuit of a young and ignorant girl by an old and experienced man is always as unfair as that of a tiger after a rabbit, but, at least, it has some elements of sportsmanship in it if it is done in the open and the girl is free to reject his proposals if she chooses. But it is a dastardly thing when a man takes advantage of a girl's dependence upon him to force his attentions upon her; when he makes her acquiescence the price of her holding her job; when her very bread and butter, and perhaps the bread and butter of those she loves, has to be paid for with his kisses and caresses.

Of all created men, the very lowest is the office Lothario.

Next we have the portrait of the woman. The mother. The mother who is willing to sell her daughter to an old beast for a little money and a few good times. The mother who is willing to sell her daughter for a yard or two of chiffon and a handful of presents and a few theatre tickets. As cheap as that.

A scheming mother who is planning to blackmail a silly old fool who is infatuated with a pretty girl, and who is going to right whatever wrong he does her daughter by a lawsuit.

She does not talk to her daughter about right and wrong. She does not teach her modesty and purity. She does not urge her to keep herself unspotted from the world. On the contrary, she encourages her in a liaison with a married man. She aids and abets her in her sin and tells her how much money they will get out of him.

How horrible the mother who trades in the virtue of her daughter. How terrible that a girl should be taught such lessons at her mother's knee.

Then comes the picture of the girl herself. Very young. Only in her teens. With no fixed principles, as how could she have with such a mother to bring her up and set the pattern of her ideas? Greedy, too, and grasping, hungry for pleasure. Crazy about fine clothes and good times. Wanting all the things that money buys as only the poor girl, who has never had them, wants them. Trying to give as little as she can for the old man's money. Aware that she is breaking up a home and half-orphaning children, but justifying herself on the ground that if she does not do it some one else will.

Wanting love, too, and the sweetheart of her own age, but without the strength to choose poverty and decency and love. Playing crooked with the old man and the boy. A sad figure. A pitiful figure, that of this little ignorant, untaught girl, being ground to powder herself between the upper and nether millstone of her mother's greed and an old man's amorousness. Yet such an influence for evil! Doing so much harm in the world!

These three figures, the elderly rake with money, the avaricious mother, and the pretty, pleasure-loving young girl, are three familiar figures who form a human triangle oftener than we like to think. We have been taught to think of motherhood as something high and holy, and of a mother as teaching her little girl only what is good and noble, and to picture her as always trying to lead her daughter up to the heights.

But in real life the complacent mother, who turns a blind eye on the way her daughter gets money, just so long as she gets it, is only too common. She wants to live softly, and to have gayety and pleasure, and she does not question who pays the bills for the luxurious apartment or the fine car or the fur coats so long as they are forthcoming. That a girl on a small salary could not afford these things does not cause her to do any figuring or to question the disinterested attentions of a Sugar Papa.

To the girl who wrote this letter I can only say—and say in vain since her mother's voice will drown out mine—that she is selling her soul for a mess of pottage; that no good times are worth having that she has to pay for with her honor; that the job that she has to keep by submitting to her employer's familiarities is not worth holding, and that he will give it to some prettier girl when he gets tired of her; and that it is a thousand times better to be a young man's wife than an old man's darling.

So my advice to her is to hunt another situation and marry her decent

Swift-footed Antelopes

Africa is the home of many kinds of animals, but Nature failed to supply that continent with deer. Instead of deer, we find in Africa a grazing animal known as the "antelope." At first sight, an antelope might remind us of a deer, but study has proved that it does not belong to the deer family.

A Prong-horn Antelope.

Antelopes are close relatives of goats and sheep, and are also related to the deer. They are found on open plains as well as in forests.

Among Africa's antelopes are the reedbuck and the kudu. The reedbuck spends most of its time in marshy places, wading around and eating the roots which grow in the water. It is a good swimmer.

The kudu is one of the large members of the antelope family, standing five feet high at the shoulders. Contrast that with the pygmy antelope which has a height of only thirteen inches!

African antelopes must watch out for lions and leopards. They are no match for such animals in fighting, and must either conceal themselves or run away. They are fleet of foot, which helps them if they have enough warning. They are also protected by coats which match well with the landscape and make it hard for their enemies to see them.

In North America we have an animal known as the prong-horn antelope. It is closely related to Rocky Mountain goats but has different habits. Canada has set aside the great Maple Creek Reserve to save prong-horn antelopes from being destroyed by hunters.

Prong-horns received their names because the males have black horns, about a foot high, with prongs on the inner sides. The prong-horn has been called "the fleetest animal in North America."

Antelopes are also natives of India, Arabia and Switzerland. In the Alps lives the chamois antelope which provides the soft skin which has been popular for polishing glass, and for applying powder to the cheeks of women.

SHIP BRINGING MANY PRODUCTS FROM AUSTRALIA

Ss. Canadian Constructor Due Montreal October 21 With Display Cargo

Toronto, Sept. 18—Arriving in Montreal October 21, the Canadian-Australian goodwill ship, Canadian Constructor, will bring the largest cargo and the most varied list of Australian products ever shipped from the Commonwealth to this country, according to advices received from Brisbane by L. R. MacGregor, Australian trade commissioner to Canada.

Large shipments of wines feature the cargo. These are of a different type from Ontario native wines, and are expected to compete with European varieties. The types include sherry, port, claret and burgundy and there are red and white sparkling wines on the list. Tinned and dried fruits are another important item.

The largest shipment of canned Australian pineapples ever made abroad is included, as well as raisins, sultanas and currants. These fruits, together with oranges are expected to compete with the California product.

Australian hardwood, which many varieties are grown nowhere else, is particularly suited to use in veneering furniture, and several shipments for this purpose are included in the cargo. A wide variety of items concludes the list, including wool, gelatine, tallow, canary seed, millet, pawpaw and peanuts.

British Press Praises Canada's New Seaport

London Times Says It Is Bold Enterprise; Ss. Farnworth Left Churchill This Morning With First Cargo; Wheat Pouring Into Liverpool From All Parts of World

Canadian Press

Liverpool, Eng., Sept. 18.—Coincident with the first shipments of grain that start to-day from Canada's newest seaport, Churchill, large shipments of wheat from all parts of the world are pouring into Liverpool. Imports have been so large in recent weeks that special arrangements have been necessary to accommodate the enormous supplies on hand.

Since the beginning of September 5,612,000 bushels of wheat (Canadian measure) have been brought into Liverpool, and the consumption has been only 2,056,000 bushels.

The total world shipments of wheat during the last three weeks has amounted to more than 48,000,000 bushels. Russia and the Danubian basin have supplied nearly half the world exports in this period, more than 22,000,000 bushels— and most of the Russian wheat is coming to Great Britain.

Admiration is expressed in Great Britain for Canada's courage in completing the Churchill project and starting the export of grain from there. The Times characterizes it as a bold enterprise. Cautious optimism is justified, The Times says, concluding: "The building of the Hudson's Bay railway and the founding of the port of Churchill are achievements of which Canada may rightly be proud."

Churchill, Man., Sept. 18.—First load of prairie grain to traverse the Hudson Bay bound for overseas started its history-making journey to-day. Loaded with exactly 277,000 bushels of number two northern wheat, the steamer Farnworth left Churchill at high tide before mid-day.

The steamer, chartered by the Canadian government to handle half of a 640,000 bushel trial shipment by the Bay route, lay at the dock yesterday as grain trimmers filled thousands of bags with grain in bow and stern holds to prevent cargo shifting. Her sister ship, the Warkworth, to be loaded with the remainder of the test shipment, rode high ahead of the same dock.

No difficulty in navigating the newfound modern trade channel was anticipated by Captain W. Mouat, skipper of the Farnworth. He expects as easy a voyage as on the incoming thirteen-day trip from Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, when government radio stations aided in position-recording and virtually no ice was sighted.

Delay in arranging the sale of the second test cargo which will consist of three top grades, is the occasion for postponement of loading originally scheduled for completion this week.

However, word of the cargo's disposal is expected almost momentarily from John I. McFarland, head of the selling agency of the Canadian wheat pools who provided the test shipment.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Sept. 18—Becalmed in the Pacific Ocean since she passed through the Panama Canal July 22, the four-masted ship Tusitala yesterday was reported to be only 100 miles southwest of Balboa, and 4,585 miles from Honolulu—her destination. The Tusitala, one of the few remaining ships of her kind on the seas to-day, is owned by James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation. Effective October 1, the naval station time broadcast at noon and 10 p.m. from San Francisco, will be discontinued. No reason for discontinuance was given.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Sept. 18—One hundred and fifty reindeer, selected for Santa Claus teams in east and middle west cities, will spend several weeks "getting over sea legs" on Wilson Creek, sixty miles east of Wenatchee, Wash., after being discharged here by the Alaskan steamer Oduna early in October.

The reindeer, the pick of herds in the far north, were being loaded yesterday on the Oduna, at St. Michael, Alaska, the Alaska Steamship Company offices here were informed. They will be loaded in freight cars for the trip to Wilson Creek at the steamship company's pier here.

Twenty-six California passengers arrived at Vancouver yesterday on Ms. Europa of the Danish East Asiatic Company service.

BEOTHIC HAD LONG VOYAGE

Visits Many Settlements Along Arctic Shores Bringing Cheer to Settlers and Natives

North Sydney, N.S., Sept. 18.—Back from her yearly journey into the regions of berg and floe, the steamer Beothic is discharging her northern cargo to-day. Seven weeks had elapsed since the government's supply ship pointed northward with supplies and relief for the police posts, medical stations and scientific expeditions scattered throughout Canada's vast Arctic archipelago.

Seamen shipwrecked on barren coast and prospectors looking for a lift home came down the Beothic. Physicians who had spent part of their lives ministering in the archipelago, policemen who had kept the social order there, returned for a while to step ashore and matter-of-factly take up the business of existence in a less rigorous region.

After leaving North Sydney seven weeks ago, the Beothic, under Captain Robert Falk, with Major L. T. Burwash, veteran explorer, in charge of the expedition, sailed up around Labrador to Godhaven, whence she had taken Dr. Krueger northward two years before, then to Pond's Inlet on the northern side of Baffin Land, to deposit supplies for the detachment there, on to Pangnitrung and to Cape Hope Advance, in answer to a wireless message to care for a wounded native.

From there the ship sailed to Lake Harbor, another police post, and across Hudson Bay to Chesterfield, thence to Burwell on Ungava Bay, where Williams, the young Dalhousie graduate, and his three prospector companions were picked up. Leaving Burwell the Beothic sailed along Labrador and thence to North Sydney.

WILL INAUGURATE SPECIAL VICTORIA - VANCOUVER RUN

Morning Boat to Vancouver Every Saturday Commencing October 3, Is Announced

Ss. President Madison Due Saturday; Empress of Japan Prepares For Voyage Here

To make an interchange of visits between Victoria and Vancouver easier, a special boat will leave Victoria every Saturday morning at 10.30 o'clock for Vancouver, and will leave Vancouver for Victoria at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, it was announced yesterday afternoon by Capt. C. D. Neroutsos, manager of the B.C. Coast Service. This service will be maintained until further notice, and will commence Saturday, October 3.

The Princess Joan and the Princess Elizabeth will be operated on this special route. They will continue to operate on the night service between Victoria and Vancouver, the steamer arriving here at 7 o'clock in the morning, leaving again at 10.30 o'clock, arriving at Vancouver at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and leaving Vancouver again for Victoria at midnight. The other steamer will arrive in Vancouver at 7 o'clock in the morning from Victoria, leave at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, arrive here at 7 o'clock in the evening and leave for Vancouver again at midnight. In this way the night sailing will not be interefered with.

This new schedule should prove exceedingly popular and enable residents of both cities to spend a longer week-end with friends away from home.

Outbound to-morrow from this port will be the American Mail liner President Madison, which will sail from the Rithet piers at 6 o'clock in the evening for ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands. She will sail from Seattle at 11 o'clock in the morning and arrive here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon to pick up local passengers, light cargo and Canadian mails. There will be a good list of passengers in the first class, special class and steerage accommodation. Capt. R. J. Healy will be in command.

Bound direct to Victoria, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan will sail from Yokohama to-morrow afternoon, and is scheduled to arrive here Sunday morning, September 27. She has not made a voyage direct between Yokohama and Victoria since April, when she brought the King and Queen of Siam across, and made a new record for the 4,200-mile ocean voyage. It is not thought likely she will break her own record this trip.

LOCAL AIR MAIL

Leave Victoria, 12.15 p.m.; arrive Vancouver 1.05 p.m.

Leave Vancouver 3 p.m.; arrive Victoria 3.50 p.m.

Vancouver Shipping

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—Harrison Direct Line Ss. Custodian sailed at 5 p.m. yesterday for United Kingdom via Seattle. She loaded several thousand tons of grain, salmon, lumber, metal and general at British Columbia ports.

The South African Dispatch Line Ss. West Honaker arrived Wednesday afternoon to British Columbia Shipping Agency Limited, and is at Midland Pacific loading grain for South Africa. She will shift later to Balantyne pier to load salmon and general for the same destination.

Some of the passengers brought their motor cars and will return home by the highway, while others will make the return on the ship. A number of Californians who arrived here previously are joining the ship when she sails Monday next, to return home via Seattle.

Damaged bottom plates of Ss. Prince David have been repaired at Burrard Drydock Company plant at North Vancouver, and the ship was floated off yesterday afternoon to make room for Ss. Portesilaus. The balance of the repairs to the Canadian National ship can be carried out as she lies at the berth at the repair company's pier.

Divers' survey of the bottom of the Blue Funnel liner on Wednesday disclosed the fact that her stem was damaged. She will perhaps be delayed here a week for repairs.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.
